

FIRST DAY
GENERAL SESSION OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
FIFTY-NINTH STATE LEGISLATURE
JANUARY 9, 2007

House Chamber

At 12:00 p.m. the House Sergeant-at-Arms Darrell Moore, called the House to order. He introduced the following honored guests and their escorts.

The Honorable Pat Arp, Deputy Secretary of State, escorted by Representatives Gentile and Quarberg.

The honorable Max Maxfield, Secretary of State escorted by Representatives Diercks and Illoway.

Secretary of State, Max Maxfield called the House to order and introduced Ian Cohee. He is the nephew of the Speaker Elect and is here to share his talent with us. Ian was born in Wyoming but is currently a resident of Ft. Collins, Colorado. He graduated in 2005 from Loveland High School, attended CSU for one year and is currently taking a break. Ian has played the bagpipes for eight years and never practices. He has played with the youth symphony from Ft. Collins and the Ft. Collins Pipe Band with his grandfather, Tom Sutton. He also plays electric base, standup base and guitar. Please join me in welcoming Mr. Ian Cohee, bagpiper extraordinaire.

Secretary of state, Max Maxfield asked the body to join him in thanking Ian Cohee. Sergeant-of-Arms Darrell Moore announced the Honorable William Hill, Justice of the Wyoming Supreme Court escorted by Representatives Brown and Bagby.

The Central High School ROTC posted the colors, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance by the body.

The prayer was given by Father Gary Ruzicka, St. Mary's Cathedral.

Deputy Secretary of State Pat Arp called the roll of the elected House Members.

OPENING ADDRESS BY SECRETARY OF STATE
MAX MAXFIELD

Have you ever driven by this magnificent building at night? I hope seeing it lit up gives you a tremendous feeling of pride knowing you are a part of what it represents. It symbolizes Wyoming's past and Wyoming's future.

This is a place of pride. This is a time of pride. It is a time to be proud that the Wyoming citizens have honored us with this opportunity to work in this magnificent building, in this magnificent chamber.

I speak of being proud, but it is also humbling. It's humbling that our fellow citizens have given us their votes. People around the world are dying for the right to vote. We must appreciate the fact that a vote is a treasure given to us, a treasure that comes with great responsibility.

As state elected officials, and as Legislators, we share that responsibility, a trust given to us, a treasure that comes with great responsibility.

Meeting today's challenges is serious business. Planning and preparing for Wyoming's future is critical work. While I know you will take your legislative duties very seriously.

If you begin to worry that you are becoming too proud or too self important, look at the pictures on the walls, the pictures of the many legislators who have served before you and the space for the many who will serve after you.

When you leave here, and most of you will, it will be the friendships, the camaraderie, and the atmosphere of civility that will highlight your memories.

Over the years I've spent time talking with past legislators - Bob Frisby, Clarene Law, Peg Shreve, Frank Dusl and others. When they talked about what they missed, to a person, it was working with the friends they had made!

When you are sworn in today, you will join those who have influenced and shaped Wyoming's history, and you will play an important role in shaping Wyoming's future.

Be Proud. Be Humble. Be Serious . . but be friendly and be wise.

I join the other elected officials in wishing you a successful and productive session, and stand ready to support you in any way we can.

God Bless Wyoming . . .and God Bless you.

ELECTION OF TEMPORARY SPEAKER

Representative Semlek nominated Representative Anderson for Temporary Speaker. The motion carried on a voice vote, Representatives Steward and Warren escorted Temporary Speaker Anderson to the chair.

Representative Cohee nominated Patricia Benskin as Temporary Chief Clerk. The motion carried by voice vote.

CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE APPOINTMENT

Representative Anderson appointed Representative Harvey to serve as chairman of a credentials committee consisting of Representatives Alden, Goggles, Madden and Brechtel. The committee will convene in the office of the Majority Floor Leader. This committee shall report its finding as to the credentials of the membership of the House pursuant to Article 3, Section 10, of the Wyoming Constitution.

CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE REPORT

Your Credentials committee has received from the Secretary of State a certified copy of the duly elected members of the House of Representatives for the 59th Wyoming Legislature. We have reviewed the certificate and recommend that the persons listed thereon be recognized as the official membership of the House of Representatives, 59th Wyoming Legislature.

Representative Harvey moved the adoption of the report. The motion carried on a voice vote.

STATE OF WYOMING OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

I, Max Maxfield, Secretary of the State of Wyoming, do hereby certify that the attached is a full, true and correct list of the members of the Fifty-Ninth Legislature of the State of Wyoming, duly elected at the General Election held on the seventh day of November, 2006, according to the Certificates of the State Canvassing Board as filed in this office.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Wyoming. Done at Cheyenne, the Capital, this 4th day of January A.D., 2007.

Max Maxfield
Secretary of State

ADDRESS BY THE SPEAKER

Mr. Temporary Speaker, Secretary of State Maxfield, Deputy Secretary of State Arp, Justice Hill, Father Ruzicka, honored staff, guests, family and friends.

I cannot begin to express the sense of honor I feel internally by your consideration and selection of myself as your Speaker.

I feel it important to make mention of my family, friends and the people I work with that have sacrificed substantially to allow my presence in this setting over the past few years. Most of you have families and friends back home keeping the fires burning and the business operating and they have my respect for their contributions to this process. Much of my family is here with me today and I am honored to be in their shadows.

I ask your indulgence in sharing a couple of events over this last year, you may have some idea of how fortunate I truly feel at this moment.

Some of you may be aware of a large expenditure made by my family last summer, one that even made TIME magazine. Now, I will admit that the event was made in error and the story ended a lot better than its original status. Being the type to turn negative events into positives by learning from mistakes, I came to two conclusions. One being that it is always necessary to know what you are doing before fully participating; in this case to be sure one is buying by the piece or by the pound. The second valuable lesson being that I hope and pray that my experience proves that spending foolishly on pork, even at the Central Wyoming Fair, is not wise. I will strongly suggest that to this body over the next two months.

Recently, my family and I were to spend the holidays in Cancun, Mexico. Many people were affected by the devastating snowstorm that disabled the Denver area, including the Denver airport. In a sense of perfect or perhaps imperfect timing, the Cohee family spent two relaxing days in motel rooms in Wheatland and Cheyenne prior to learning of the true meaning of "cancelled flights."

Needless to say, the holidays were spent in the much colder if not more familiar environment of our hometown. The lessons learned were simple. There are many people worse off than the missing of a vacation, such as those in the horrible tsunami of two years ago or our country's armed forces in foreign lands and the separation of their own loved ones. There is also the lesson of taking vacations during the winter.

This anecdotal information and the lessons learned have a place in this message. In spite of minor inconveniences that seemed monumental at the time, it has all been minimized by this honor and opportunity you have just bestowed upon me, and I thank you for that.

I mentioned a sense of perfect timing. This legislature has been given great opportunities to do great things. The prospect of additional funds provided with very little personal effort or sacrifice is a little like manna from heaven. The problem being, we all know that the biblical manna was a one time event. I would suggest that as policy makers, our bounty be treated with the respect that it will be short lived and will most definitely not last forever.

On this floor, we have some interesting statistics. Contained among us is a pair of brothers, father and son, and a grandfather and grandson. To analogize my philosophy on the opportunities before us, imagine a generation from now one of your children or grandchildren sitting in your seat. How will they judge the actions and wisdom of the decision makers during Wyoming's Golden Age? It is my hope that they look back and agree that the legislative actions of the turn of the century were made with prudence, objectivity and consideration. I hope they never ask: "what were they thinking? Did they really mean to grow government simply because of excess wealth? Were they thinking more of their own needs of the time and too little thought about future generations?"

I admit to having the mind of a fiscal conservative locked up in the body of a social moderate. It seems the older I become that both of those traits become more evident and I believe that to be the case of most of Wyoming's residents. Our population asks more and more from its state and local governments but has very little will or desire to pay for those amenities.

Prior to each legislative session, I read the Constitution of the State of Wyoming, a truly amazing work.

The Wyoming Constitution spells out state responsibilities and provides ample direction for legislative consideration and judicial question of those actions. It has been my observation that we are to address the needs of the people, nothing more, nothing less. It is my humble opinion that often, due to public pressure, actions of the legislative branch of government exceed the constitutional provisions of addressing needs in lieu of providing for the wants. I would ask that if given the choice of doing the right things versus the popular ones, consider your constitutional pledge.

There are sixty strong hearts and great minds in this body. Only twenty percent or twelve members remain from the 55th legislative session. That is the last time that Wyoming was short of money, by nearly $170 million. That was only eight years ago. Since that time, Wyoming has been overly blessed with proceeds from extensive mineral development. Make no mistake, it will not last forever. Provisions must be made for generations that will inhabit this state when the mineral wealth has disappeared or diminished.

In order to develop the abilities to determine and enact what Wyoming economies will look like post minerals, action is required of us today. Investments must be made in our university, community colleges and training center systems. Our communities must have the tools to provide appropriate and responsible growth. Our library system must be enhanced and developed to meet the needs of a better educational population. Economic development must be a way of life and not simply a buzzword. It is my belief that the post minerals economies of this state have not yet been invented or developed. We must be prepared to be a part of those decisions and development, and the groundwork must be laid now, while the resources and the will are strong.

History can provide valuable lessons. During the mineral boom of the late 1970's and early 1980's we were told by hordes of experts that the oil boom would last indefinitely and that Wyoming would be key to the nation's providence. We know that nothing lasts forever. However, we must guard against pessimism of the future and set the stage for those that follow us by taking the initiatives necessary to promote their causes as well as our own.

Current needs of the state must also be met. Given our vast size and minimal population, we must develop and maintain an adequate roadway system for a mobile society and industries. Our main avenues of commerce are by highways, it is essential they be well maintained and improved to meet the business and safety needs of our public. Consideration must be given to eventually appeal to the users of that system to step to the plate and pay for it. The sooner that conversations begins, the better our economic future.

We cannot forget water development. I believe that the day will come that water in the west will become more valuable than some other minerals. It will be the key to the growth Wyoming is considering. Benjamin Franklin warned us all by saying "they will know the value of the water when the well runs dry." Without immediate consideration for long term water development, we will have short changed those that will wish we had.

If we are going to be a mineral producing state, then let's do the best job possible. The means to transport the bountiful mineral produce of this state must remain high, while providing reasonable protection to our citizens. Recent decisions of the United State Supreme Court should not effect Wyoming's ability to market its products. Wyoming's eminent domain status has worked fairly well for many years. Let us be careful when making decisions based upon the actions of a very few bad actors.

We will never eradicate abuses of alcohol and drugs, as much as we wish for it. We must stay vigilant in cleaning up the messes made by those souls that find their way in but cannot get out. Expensive as it may seem, the high price of treatment is nowhere near the costs of building and staffing jails, or simply doing nothing. I believe that treating the disease makes a lot more sense than caging the criminal. Keeping our children in school and providing supportive economies with jobs that benefit our citizens will always be the fundamental keys to a happier and productive society.

Wyoming has addressed education and the tools have been provided. Education funding is at levels that we must insist on outcomes. Why are our children leaving school early? Why does Wyoming have one of the lowest ratios of college graduates among its population when compared to other states? In the world of business, when substantial investments are made, results are expected. We should insist on nothing less than excellence. The investment in our kids has been made, now its time to ask for performance, and stop the nonsense of litigation.

For our children, we must get the sexual abusers off the streets and out of our home computers. Provide the means to our law enforcement and courts to put these people away where they belong.

Remember all of the stakeholders in Wyoming's progress. There are more people in Wyoming that choose to have little say in their government and simply want to live their lives with as little intrusion as possible. Upon hearing of the needs as presented by advocacies of one thing or another, please remind yourself of that silent majority back home. They are listening and paying attention and they do speak every two years.

It has been mentioned that saving substantial amounts of Wyoming's mineral wealth might be foolish, particularly in the face of so many needs. Remember, that parable of the man placing the gold in the ground in sackcloth was written long before the invention of compound interest. During the past several years, since enjoying surpluses of mineral wealth, this legislature has made additional statutory placements into the Wyoming Permanent Mineral Trust Fund amounting to $750 million. A 5% return on that investment is $37,500,000 per year, every year, forever. That is a great statement for taking the return from a finite mineral resource and turning it into an infinite financial resources for people of this state.

I have given my opinion on the direction of this legislative session. I recognize there are sixty different and distinct mentalities on this floor and I respect each and every one. I pledge an open door to each of you and an open mind to every idea and philosophy.

I expect there will be differences, I hope and pray there are. It is a healthy and necessary part of our process. I look forward to working closely with the leadership of the minority party. I promise an inclusive and appreciative attitude towards the goal of a seamless and bipartisan effort as possible that is expected by the citizens of our state.

Once again, it is a distinct honor to serve as your Speaker. I promise all my efforts to a successful session out of my heartfelt respect of your confidence in me.

May God bless each of you, all of the people we represent, and may God truly bless Wyoming.

ELECTION OF MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER

Representative Lubnau nominated Representative Colin Simpson for Majority Floor Leader for the Fifty-Ninth Legislature. Representative Buchanan seconded the nomination of Representative Simpson and moved that his election be made unanimous dispensing with the roll call.

The motion carried. Mr. Speaker appointed Representatives Jones and Childers to escort Representative Simpson to the rostrum. Justice Hill administered the oath of office.

REMARKS BY MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER

Mr. Speaker, Mr. Minority Leader, Mr. Speaker Pro Tem, Mr. Minority Caucus Leader, Mr. Majority Whip, Madam Minority Whip, Members of the House of Representatives of the 59th Wyoming Legislature, family members and guests. It is my great privilege to serve the 59th Wyoming Legislature as the House Majority Floor Leader. I pledge to you that I will do my level best to be fair and just to you all from both sides of the aisle. However, there may be days when you might question my definition of "fair and just"! Hopefully those days are very few.

The privilege of serving in the legislature is most directly and generously granted by our spouses and families. The sacrifices my wife Debbie, and our children, Mac and Nick, make to allow me to pursue my passion are appreciated beyond words and this public recognition is a small gesture of my love and thanks. Lucky for me my family likes to come to Cheyenne with me. It turns our world upside down but it is also a special bonding time for us all.

It is also a great privilege to serve with the Speaker Roy Cohee - an honest clear thinking man of solid convictions, courage and ethics. I value his leadership and his friendship.

I am also honored to serve with the other members of the house majority and minority leadership as they are all top-notch people who I respect and admire.

I also want to honor the service of those Wyoming men and women who have served in the armed forces protecting our country. The great sacrifices they and their families have all made are enormous - all so we can continue to enjoy the freedoms we hold dear and greatly cherish in this state.

We have so much to be proud of as citizens of this great state of Wyoming, honest, good and patriotic people; epic natural beauty and wildlife; unbelievable mineral resources; wonderful schools; a responsive government; great revenue flows and money in permanent and other savings.

Great gifts are accompanied by great responsibilities. We must be prudent and responsible stewards of our states present and future. It is our duty to strive to improve the lives of our constituents and insure that opportunities for a better life exist for as many as possible in the Equality State.

More and more people look to government to solve all problems and care for them but this was never governments intended function. We cannot be all things to all people and our job includes saying no.

We appreciate our gifts and can clearly identify those problems that have vexed the state for decades, if not generations: lack of a diversified economy; lack of diverse family wage jobs that ease the financial burdens of trying to keep up in today's economy; jobs and opportunities that entice the children Wyoming educates to stay in the state or come back to the state and raise families.

Many of our fellow citizens struggle mightily to feed their families and buy the basic necessities. Substance abuse tears at the fabric of our families and related crimes threaten our personal safety and our property. Affordable housing is in short supply or nonexistent. High paying jobs outside of the mineral industry are too few.

Identifying the problems is easy; solving them is complex. This legislature is pursuing initiatives to address these issues - some are new, some are long term and others will come to light in the next 20 days. I believe that targeted property tax relief must be a priority. The Wyoming Health Care Commission has contracted for a study to examine health insurance accessibility and affordability that will be reported to us in October of 2007 and this report may offer opportunities for improvement. We are making great strides in the delivery of mental health services to our citizens in every corner of the state that eases the suffering of so many families in Wyoming. We are leading the state to improved substance abuse education, prevention and treatment. We are continuing to fight against methamphetamine and we have the opportunity to model successful prevention and treatment programs to the rest of the country. We will not ignore the impacts drugs and alcohol leave in our communities and we will deliver resources to address these impacts. We will promote the health, safety and welfare of Wyoming's citizens.

We are trying mightily to address workforce and job training issues to allow those that wish to participate in our economy the opportunity to take part and to create new businesses, jobs and business opportunities. We are looking for acceptable ways for government to ease housing shortages. We are committed to holding the federal government accountable for actions that impact our economy and lives while at the same time protecting our citizens.

We will continue to pay attention to the infrastructure and predictable funding needs of our cities, towns and counties as they deliver the services closest to the people.

While it is not governments function to amass great wealth, it is our obligation to try and save enough money in good times that basic government functions may be delivered in lean times.

Because of historic mineral revenue flows over the last 5 years the legislature has been able to replenish savings, bring wage levels for many state employees and most teachers and school personnel back up to a respectable level while paying benefits that are the envy of many states. But if a rising tide floats all boats the inevitable segments of our economy will feel as if their boat has holes. When we appropriate more money to one sector inequities develop in those other sectors that have not been so fortunate and are less able to compete for and retain employees and resources. There are constant upward pressures for more dollars that are inevitable.

This 59th House of Representatives is a different breed of cat than Wyoming is traditionally used to. Many new faces - 2/3rds of the house has 5 years experience or less. However, our new members are well qualified to serve and new faces bring new ideas and vigor and I am pleased to be part of the team.

Wyoming's future is very bright and our opportunities are only limited by our vision. We now engage in the great exercise of government - a government set up to benefit, not burden, its populace. I am very proud to stand with you today and shape our futures and I look forward to a very productive session. God bless us all and the great state of Wyoming! Thank you!

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEM

Representative Buchanan nominated Representative Lubnau as Speaker Pro Tem for the Fifty-Ninth Legislature. Representative Mercer seconded the nomination and moved that his election be made unanimous dispensing with the roll call.

The motion Carried. The Speaker appointed Representatives Wallis and Hallinan to escort Representative Lubnau to the rostrum. Justice Hill administered the oath of office.

REMARKS BY SPEAKER PRO TEM

I am proud and humbled to be standing before you today, as Speaker Pro Tem of the Wyoming House. It is a rare honor to serve the people of Wyoming with such visionary folks as Mr. Speaker, Mr. Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Majority Whip, Mr. Minority Leader, Ms. Minority Whip and Mr. Minority Caucus Leader, Mom and members of the 59th Wyoming Legislature.

Fate has thrust upon the 59th a unique place in history. The choices we make over the next forty days will define the future of the state of Wyoming for years to come. We have been given the tools, the finances and the talent to guide this state into an amazing future. We are only limited by our vision.

I am proud to be a member of a body full of divergent views, intelligent analysis and a focus on doing what is right for the state of Wyoming. Our power is in our passion, our strength is in our diversity and our motivation is our future.

What is the course of success?

There was a bumper sticker. It is a bumper sticker you don't see so much anymore. It contained a prayer. The prayer began, "Dear Lord, please give me another energy boom. . . "

Our prayer was answered. Now, we have a promise to keep from the second half of that bumper sticker.

We don't need to look far for a strategy on how to keep our promise. You see, during the busts of the 1960's and 1980's, some companies thrived, and some faded away.

Those companies that thrived did so by a strategy of prudent savings and development of necessary infrastructure. Those companies that faded away did so on a course of spending on transitory luxuries and outrageous excesses. And now, this legislature has the same choices, between prudent savings and transitory luxuries, between development of necessary infrastructure and outrageous excesses. The challenge for this body, then, is to discern what is prudent from what is transitory, what is necessary from what is outrageous.

This legislature will be faced with challenging and sometimes emotional issues. We will be asked to decide whether to spend or save, to revise the eminent domain laws, to facilitate diversification of our economy, to strengthen the laws punishing those who would prey on our children, to make healthcare coverage more available and affordable and to take illegal drugs off our streets. The work will be difficult, the obstacles great, the hours long, but in the end, I'm confident Wyoming will be much the better for our eight weeks of service.

To the people of the state of Wyoming, I would like you to know two things: First, you can be proud of every member of the 59th Wyoming Legislature. You have elected a talented, wise, discerning and honest House of Representatives. You will see spirited debate amongst our members. That debate is not a sign of contentious weakness. The tension in ideas makes us stronger. We will debate, analyze and understand all sides of an issue. As a result of that debate, the quality of the legislation we pass is better.

Second, the people of Wyoming can be proud their legislature is not paralyzed with partisan bickering. While tension in ideas makes us stronger, interpersonal tension weakens us. It cripples our lines of communication and interferes with the legislative process. Wyoming can be proud of its true citizen legislature, filled with people motivated, solely, by what is best for Wyoming.

To the governor, I would like to thank you for your input, your guidance and your willingness to generally defer to the collective wisdom of the legislature. You are a leader who is in touch with the wants and needs of the people, and we look forward to working closely with you to develop a plan for the future of the state of Wyoming.

To my fellow members of the 59th legislature, I am humbled that you have shared with me the mantle of leadership. I will work daily to bear its weight responsibly. I am more proud than you know to be a member of this body, and I look forward to rolling up my sleeves and joining you to do the people's business. God bless the 59th legislature and the people of the state of Wyoming.

The chair recognized Minority Floor Leader Representative Martin and invited him to address the body. Representatives Thompson and Meyer escorted the Minority Floor Leader to the podium.

REMARKS BY THE MINORITY FLOOR LEADER

Mr. Speaker, Mr. Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Speaker Pro Tem, Mr. Majority Whip, Madame Minority Whip, Mr. Minority Caucus Leader, members of the House of Representatives of the 59th legislature and the many friends and family members gathered here with us in the gallery.

I am humbled and honored to have this opportunity to stand before you as the Minority Floor Leader of the Wyoming House of Representatives. I am excited about this session and the great things that we, as a citizen's legislature can and will do, for our fellow citizens of Wyoming.

Mr. Speaker, my comments will be brief, I know that we are all very anxious to begin our work. I would first like to welcome the new members to the House of Representatives. I look forward to serving and working with you for the next two years. I would ask that you now take a moment to look around this chamber. Look at the pictures on the walls of the legislators who served before you. Those legislators have admirably shown the way, and will look over you, as you now do the people's work. This institution has been built on a foundation of hard work, honor, and tradition. Please keep this in mind during the days to come. Enjoy every moment you have to work for the people of this state. It is an amazing process, and I hope that you come to love it as much as I do.

Mr. Speaker, as I took the oath of office today I once again had goose bumps and a chill that traveled up my spine. I thought of the enormity of the responsibility we have, to continue to build a future for the citizens of this state.

These are the same citizens which have recently elected us to represent them in the legislative process. These citizens expressed to us during the recent election season the issues that concern them the most. Issues such as: healthcare, property tax reform, local government funding, child care, education, affordable housing and many more. They also expressed their desire that we come to Cheyenne and work together to resolve these, and the many other issues, for the people of this state.

Yes, it is an enormous responsibility that we have taken on. A responsibility that I do not believe is taken lightly by any one of us. I am confident Mr. Speaker that we, the people elected to represent the needs of those families, friends and neighbors in this process, will meet every challenge, and issue, with the grace and dignity that the people of Wyoming deserve and expect. After all, it is all about the people of this state.

I'll close now, so let's roll up our sleeves, get to work and "get er" done.

Thank you.

Justice James Burke	Sen. Von Flatern	Rep Petersen & Craft
Justice Michael Golden	Sen. Aullman	Rep. Shepperson & Gentile
Justice William Hill	Sen. Meier	Rep. Miller & Ken Esquibel

President Schiffer invited Father Thomas Cronkleton to give the invocation.

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS
GOVERNOR DAVE FREUDENTHAL
CHEYENNE, WYOMING
JANUARY 10, 2007

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, fellow elected officials and members of the 59th Legislature, members of the judiciary and, most of all, the citizens of Wyoming, greetings, and I appreciate this opportunity to speak to you today.

Before I commence my remarks, there's just a few folks that I would like to recognize. We are graced today with the representatives of the Shoshone Business Council in their status as a quasi-independent governmental entity within our state. We are joined today by Ivan Posey and Arlen Shoyo.

Before I introduce some representatives of the Wyoming National Guard, I want to commend the class that just came in this session because one of the things that they asked to be briefed on out of a list of things that they were given was that they be briefed on the deployment status of Wyoming's men and women in the National Guard. I commend you for that. It is an incredibly important issue and I appreciate your interest.

I want to recognize a couple of folks from the fine group that represents Wyoming in the Wyoming National Guard. One is Senator Airman Berlinda White of the Air National Guard who has - just last weekend was named the 2006 Airman of the Year. And most of you know here because her husband is Kevin, and he is a member of this body.

Berlinda, a part of that is a recognition of your service to the country and the other is a recognitions of your patience for living with Representative White.

We're also joined by Specialist Jason Webb of the Army National Guard. He was chosen by the 960th Maintenance Company as Soldier of the Year.

As we recognize the Wyoming citizens currently serving in war zones, it is appropriate that we include in that list Sergeant Christopher Walsh who is the son of our own Representative Tom Walsh, and he is currently deployed with the Army National Guard in Iraq. Sergeant Walsh was selected as the 1st Platoon's NCO of the month and was described in the award as a mentor by his fellow soldiers.

On behalf of the people of Wyoming, I think we should express our appreciation to all of those who are deployed overseas.

Thank you.

I am delighted to be here today. This is a session that begins upon a note of goodwill and hope, and it is one that used to be referred to as the nonbudget session and hopefully we will address a number of nonbudget issues.

But in an effort to extend the bipartisan cooperation, the cooperation among the branches, an agreement can be reached I think very quickly, by the judiciary, executive and the legislative branch and nearly everyone else in this state that this is finally the year that we should modify the oath of office that each of us is required to take.

I spoke with the Chief Justice recently and I asked him how many of these he does. He says he doesn't keep track, he just keeps administering the oath until he's told to sit down. I think the judiciary would join us in that effort. There's been bills offered before this body before. While we are always perplexed by the oath, I think the issue with the oath is that it is not one that communicates what really goes on and it is not one that is contemporary with the times.

I noticed a number of folks after the inauguration of the five elected officials asked me what that oath was all about. I think if we are in the process of doing that crystal moment of democracy when we take that oath, then if it is a moment that is not understood by the citizens, then, in fact, we need to think about the words that we are asked to say and the commitments that we make in that oath. So, I hope that you will look at that.

The second comment as I begin my speech today is that it may appear to you that Hot Springs County has taken over the state. As you know, I'm from Thermopolis and that's Hot Springs County. We're also graced with a Chief Justice who comes from Hot Springs County. Representative Walsh traces his roots to Hot Springs County. If that isn't enough of a crucible of wisdom for all of you, I don't know what to add.

You know, I get the microphone. You can pitch your county some other day. I want to touch very quickly on a whole range of issues that are essentially nonbudget issues that I think need to be addressed in this session and ones that I think harkens back to our true purpose here, which is to recognize that this is a 40-day nonbudget session. There are clearly budget matters that are going to be in evidence and I will talk about those later. I would note that as we speak it is my understanding that the new "goldenrod" is coming out so we are free to discuss it.

There are three issues that I think are primarily federally issues that we're going to be called upon to address in some form or another this session. One of those is wolves. I would advise you that the current status of that is that we do not have a written proposal from the Department of Interior. We have a series of questions that have been submitted to them. We have kept the legislative leadership and the appropriate committee chair fully apprised of the developments, and we will continue to do that.

I'm not in a position today to say that there will be a bill recommended to you this session, but I would ask that as we move through the session that you keep some vehicles alive in the event that we are able to reach an agreement, that we are able to respond to a most vexatious issue for the state.

The issue of abandoned mine lands, I think that we owe the congressional delegation, particularly Senator Enzi, a great debt of thanks for what they have accomplished on the AML funding formula. But I would recommend, as I did in a memo which was bided to the body on Monday, that we delay any particular action with regard to the funding until next session. We don't have an immediate need to address that issue. There are a number of details that still need to be worked out from the federal level, and it might be an appropriate issue for you to consider for interim study, but there is no sort of urgency. There is delight that we're going to finally get some money out of the abandoned mine lands program, but I don't think that money is going to arrive that quickly.

There may be a need for some slight language to allow us to continue doing the current abandoned mine lands project, but the real money on this funding formula doesn't show up for a year, actually about 18 months, so I think it is appropriate for us to, as the carpenter would say, on this issue we can measure twice and cut once, and we have time to do that.

The third issue that I believe is largely a federal issue that has some impact on us is the question of immigration, and not so much that we are responsible for control of borders, but I think we need to review our system and establish a framework by which we would deny benefits to individuals that cannot demonstrate an appropriate status to be in this county.

I would alert you that the experience in Colorado is that states can take some steps but there are certain federal restrictions on our capacity to limit access to those benefits, and we will need to stay within those. But it is an entirely appropriate response from the state to a federal inability to perform their task. But I think that it is appropriate for us to look at the issue.

Now I'm just going to run through a list of state issues that I know will be before you.

First is eminent domain. Eminent domain is an issue that has attracted a great deal of attention. I would urge a degree of caution with regard to the extent to which you choose to modify that. I think it is appropriate to modify particularly the early portions of the eminent domain activities in a way similar to what we did with regard to split estate, and that is to require some form of good faith negotiations and notice.

I would be very cautious about extending those changes too deeply into the question of compensation. There may be some appropriate changes that should be made, but I think we need to be careful that eminent domain does not become a vehicle for selected individuals to dip into the revenue stream of the energy industry versus its proper function which is to make sure that people obtain fair market value for those rights, the property rights that they give up.

And I have some sympathy on this issue. In December, my oldest daughter who is getting married on the place where I grew up in Thermop. We went back to look for a place where - the new owners allowed us to do this - went back and looked for a place where they could have the ceremony.

The place that I grew up, we were crossed by a number of power lines, a number of pipelines. And they clearly have an effect. There clearly is -- even today there's a visual effect from the existence of those lines.

The question is what do you compensate for that? The world would be better, I expect, if we stuck somewhere close to the notion of fair market value. In the absence of relying on fair market value, we end up with a difficult task for both those who are negotiating those activities as well as those who might ultimately have to litigate it. I would encourage a bit of caution, but I would also encourage there are some places we can strengthen the hand of the landowner.

There will also be before you some legislation which would make permanent the Travel and Tourism Board that has been in existence in the Wyoming Business Council for several years, but it has been in existence as a footnote and not as a substantive part of the legislation.

I appreciate the prior legislative indulgence of allowing me to do it as a footnote. I think that it has, not by virtue of anything that I did but by virtue of the performance of that board, has demonstrated that it is, in fact, a viable part of our economic development program and we should memorialize that in the statutes going forward.

I hope that this body will make permanent - and I believe it will, there are bills there to do it - to make permanent the removal of the sales tax on food. That is an issue that enjoys broad public support. It is an issue that I think we could resolve in this session and resolve quickly, and I would comment that legislation for your consideration.

The other issue related to tax relief is one that has not enjoyed unanimous support, and that is this question of property tax relief. I think it is clear that given the change in the general fund and budget reserve account numbers that will be floated out to you today, that the drop in those two accounts happens to be, oddly enough - I was perplexed - turns out to be exactly 250 million, which is the amount that I had previously proposed for tax relief. I assume that is a coincidence on the part of the Legislative Service Office, and we will let it stand.

I had the sense that that proposal wasn't exactly going to take flight when I made it earlier, but I think there is still room for us to think about a targeted tax relief based on an expansion of what used to be called the old Homestead Exemption. The cost of that bill is probably between 30 and 38 million to provide some relief. It is not one that has - it is not an idea that has enjoyed great support in this body previously.

I would urge you to take a more serious view with regard to the impact that the increase in taxes are having on those with a fixed income.

It is also one of those bills that lawyers disagree about as to whether it is constitutional or unconstitutional. I believe that ultimately when you have a good disagreement between lawyers, the proper course is to go ahead and pass it and if somebody wants to challenge it, we will let the courts sort it out. I'm proud to be a lawyer, but lawyers each have an opinion and it seems to me that from time to time on the close calls we should go ahead and pass it.

I believe that this is a session where we ought to give some thought to extending the life of the Office of Consumer Affairs over at the Public Service Commission. When that was originally passed four years ago, it was passed with a sunset provision. That sunset provision does not trigger this year, but since next session is a budget session, it seems to me that it is an appropriate item for us to consider during this session.

The Office of Consumer Affairs - Office of Consumer Counsel has been an effective advocate over time. I know that it has not always been welcomed by the regulated utilities, but I think it is an advocacy that has been welcomed by the citizens of the state.

It is also my hope that this session we can finally pass an open container bill. I have watched this now die by one vote and then turn around and die by another vote. It passes one house and dies in the other. I think as a collective group that the leadership of this state needs to recognize that there is very real wisdom in saying you don't need an open liquor container in a vehicle. I hope that this is the year when we can all join together, pass that legislation and make a statement on behalf of this state that drinking and driving under any guise is not something that we're going to accept in the state. I hope that you will pass the bill and that we can have the grandest signing ceremony that we've been waiting five or six years to get done.

We have debated back and forth, both in committee and sometimes on the floor, the question of the appropriate response to sexual predators, particularly those who prey upon children. I am not entirely satisfied with the outcome of the committee. It's a two strikes and you're out bill. If I was doing it, I would do a one strike and you're out bill. But I've been around long enough to know if I can get half a loaf, I should take it.

I would commend that and some of other sexual predator bills that the Senate Judiciary Committee has worked on would hope that you would consider passing those and making those part of the legal framework in Wyoming.

One of things that campaigning does when you're out talking to people is you find an incredible number of people who in different ways have been victimized by pedophiles, who understand the nature of this issue in a most intimate and painful way.

I will tell you that in our life before I became U.S. Attorney, it was not an issue with which I was familiar. It was something that I would read about in the newspaper. During my time as U.S. Attorney, we prosecuted a significant number of those cases, particularly those cases on which you had Internet jurisdiction. It changed my entire view with regard to this. Instead of being an issue that is resolved or rests in, you know, Los Angeles and New York, it is an issue that exists in this state. Our citizens are entitled to every bit as much protection from the State of Wyoming as other states afford to their citizens.

So, please take a look at those bills. I believe it has been - it is not what I want, but please pass it because it is a start on protecting the citizens of this state.

Another issue that is under consideration relative to children and the status of our youngest citizens is this question of child care. Child care is an issue that was debated long and hard during the last legislative session, and it was debated over the summer and into the fall throughout the campaign.

I believe that it is appropriate to talk about it as a nonbudget matter because what is being discussed is in the context of funding which has already been set aside. Child care is an important issue to families. It is an important issue to children. It is an important issue as it relates to our investment in K through 12 education.

I learned over the summer and last year, it is an incredibly important issue to employers. It is a remarkable thing when you can have a group of employers gather, as they have in Riverton, and underwrite and participate in the creation of a child care facility, a facility that is built not simply as a civic contribution to the community, but a facility that is built in recognition that this state has the opportunity to improve and enhance its work force by getting more serious about child care.

I understand that it is a difficult issue. I think that the proposals as they have been reworked hopefully address some of the concerns that were expressed with regard to whether or not the state was, in fact, trying to raise people's kids. We're not out to raise people's kids as a matter of state policy. WE are out to create an environment which child care can be successfully delivered to the broadest number of citizens in this state.

It is good for the families. It is good for the children. It is good for the economy of this state. And I hope that you will follow through and implement that legislation into a programmatic meaning this year with the legislation that you passed in prior sessions.

I also want to talk a bit about a couple of constitutional amendments that are under consideration. One is the constitutional amendment to allow funding for tribal entities. I hope that you will consider placing that before the voters. We are in this peculiar position where part of the citizens of this state, namely the tribal members residing within the Wind River Indian Reservation, we are not able to provide the same assistance to their governmental entities that we are to cities and counties.

I think that it is appropriate for us to recognize that both of those tribal entities should be a participant in the allocation of state funds, and the only way we're going to do that is by amending the constitution.

The second is some constitutional amendments that are being considered with regard to allowing the state to put money into coal conversion facilities. I do support the development of coal conversion facilities in this state. I'm not prepared to support the state placing its funding into that process. Let me explain why.

Over the last year - and a year ago I didn't think it was too bad an idea. But over the last year in my office, I have spoken with any number of people who have the key idea for how do you convert coal and how do you do it in an environmentally rational fashion, and that means dealing with some of the pollution issues but also converting coal either to a form of synthetic natural gas or to diesel or a number of other liquids. Each of those discussions usually ends up with the individual saying, "And this will only work, Governor, if the state gives me a hundred million," or 300 million or whatever it is.

I'm convinced we as a state are not equipped to pick which technology is going to be the technology of the future in the sense of our investing equity dollars directly in the construction of a plant. So I do not support the constitutional changes that would allow that.

What I do support - because I believe that it is incredibly important that this state become a leader in this question of coal research and particularly into the technologies that will convert coal to synthetic natural gas or to diesel or some of the other options. What I do support is a proposal which hopefully will be offered to this body which would recommend that we enhance the budget at the School of Energy Resources to do research on these questions.

If you think about our position in coal, we benefit greatly from the national SO2 standards. That benefit that drives our market erodes depending on which way these coal conversion technologies go. If we do not do research and develop ways in which our coal, of which we have an abundant supply, can be used in the context of both liquids and in more what are called clean coal technologies, we will find that 20 and 25 years from now the market for our steam coal would have been significantly eroded.

I would argue that our proper role as a state is not to pick a plant manager or a company and underwrite it, but it is to do fundamental research on the two basic areas that restrict or could potentially restrict the development of those technologies in our state.

One is there are some characteristics of our sub-bituminous coal which are different from the areas where most of this research has been done, has to do with BTU content as well as the amount of moisture that's in the coal.

The second is that these technologies have been developed largely at lower elevations. You saw our congressional delegation successfully put authorization into the national energy policy to build a conversion plant over 4,000 feet. That is important. But it hasn't been funded.

So, what we need to do is to focus on what are the technological bottlenecks that apply to our coal research, and that includes not only surface plants with gasification underground and concentrate on research in those areas so that 20 and 30 years from now you don't confront what was confronted in Rock Springs and a variety of communities in this state, which is when the railroad shifted from coal to diesel, Union Pacific laid people off just before Christmas, and it had a serious effect on our economy. That is a transition that I don't want to see future generations have to deal with, so I would encourage you to fund some of that research.

There's one study effort that I want to talk about and then two that I'm going to request your assistance on. One is the results of the study with regard to the Livestock Board and brand inspectors.

I would encourage you to look seriously at their recommendations. Those of you who are new to the body, you can have a number of the other members explain to you the difficult history of that issue. They appear to have arrived at a compromise among the various interests which will be submitted to you.

It does one thing that I'm a bit nervous about but which I think we have to do which is for the first time we will actually general funds to the support of that entity and that agency which is for the first time we will actually commit general funds to the support of that entity and that agency which is not something we have done in the past. I did do it by essentially gubernatorial flex authority when it was broke. It is a significant step, but I think it is one that is appropriate to support the agricultural industry. There are two study efforts that I'm going to ask you to participate in going forward. One is a hard look at community colleges, both in terms of mission, governance and funding. It is an issue that I think is one that is appropriate for us as a state to step back and decide what we see as both the mission, how we're going to structure the governance, particularly the relationship between the colleges and the Community College Commission, and then I think the question of how you're going to fund them.

There are a number of bills that are being submitted to the body. I don't believe that any of the proposals are prepared to become - or as they say, they're not ready for prime time. I think we need to spend a year on an effort similar to what we did on the Hathaway Scholarship with a group of legislators and business people sitting down and saying, "Where do we want to go with this?"

Because it is an important decision. It is my belief that the community colleges have a great role in this state and a role that needs to be particularly expanded in the concept of work force training. They should be the primary delivery entity for that.

I don't support some conversation that has come out about maybe we should set up a series of technical schools around the state. I think that's illogical, inefficient and would turn out to be a burden for others going forward. So I hope that you will consider that legislation to create that study effort when it comes forward.

The second is a look at the long-term funding questions of transportation, particularly highways. There are two chunks of that. One is an effort to fund a particular study that relates to I-80. I-80 in terms of funding difficulty is sort of the 800 pound gorilla in this state.

But the second is a proposal which I have asked the chairman of the transportation committee to forward, that is to create a task force to look at the long-term funding options so that we can create something that is both stable and reliable, both for the state in terms of our keeping up with the current needs, but also for the industry in terms of their knowing that, in fact, there will be funding available.

Again, this is an area in which there are a multitude of ideas floating out there. We need an effort over the next year to organize those ideas and to begin to develop some consensus about which could be considered. It is appropriate that we do both of these efforts this year because ideally they would be significant input into the structuring of the budget which would be submitted to you at the next budget session.

You know, we now move to the part of the discussion which has to do with the budget, and I want to talk a minute about why I think the budget is such an important document. Ultimately a lot of the stuff we talk about is simply that, it is simply conversation until such time as we actually decide to pass either a substantive statute or to allocate funding in a particular direction.

So, at its core that budget is one of the most fundamental policy documents that we have in this state. It expresses both our concerns about the current welfare of our citizens and also is the form by which we give expression to our hopes for future generations. So we end up thinking about the budget not so much as a policy document, but we end up thinking about it as a document that is, all right, what is in it for my county, what is in it for my school district, what's in it for me, what's in it for my political party, when, in fact, the overall budget question is really what is in this budget both for current generations and future generations.

There is something to the biblical admonition that your heart is where your treasure is. If you follow those documents, you will know what is important to us.

To set up sort of the discussion, I would argue that there are about three ways that people, citizens, look at the budget and look at our funding circumstance.

One is a very interesting conversation which I've had with a number of people and had one yesterday in which the person suggested to me that, you know, what we do is if we put all of that money in the trust fund. Then we can become essentially trust fund babies and we won't have to pay any taxes. And we have created the impression in the public that somehow if we just save enough, they will never have to pay any taxes.

The discussion came up in the particular context of my suggestion that at some point in time we're going to have to think more seriously about whether or not we need to have an additional fuel tax in order to support highways. The particular person was complaining to me about the state of highways, so I thought, "I will try this idea." The response was no, if we put enough money into the trust fund, not only will we not have to pay highway taxes, we can do away with some the taxes we pay.

The hard facts are that the permanent mineral trust fund, the income from it today accounts for less than 15, sometimes less than 8 percent of the total general fund expenditures. The highest percentage that general fund dollars have ever accounted for in terms of the state budget has been about 23, 24 percent during some prior times in our history.

We need to understand that it is a view held by some in the citizenry that what we're really trying to do is to become a set of trust fund babies. I would argue to you that has two down sides. One is it puts people in a position they're not spending their own tax dollars. As a consequence, it is easy to make proposals.

The second is that it fails to account for the fact that if you're going to build this state, you're going to have to invest and just not save.

Then there's another set of folks. Friend of mine got into a discussion with my two daughters and I in which, because of their demographics my daughters are alarmed about what the future in Wyoming is going to be for them and what is their opportunity to come back here to live and to raise a family.

This friend of mine as the discussion goes on - he's of a more senior age, a bit like me, close to retirement - and his basic point to them was, "Well, that's all real good and I want to encourage you to build a future, but don't rock my boat. I've got my life planned out. Roughly I know what year I'm going to retire. I know where I'm going to live in Wyoming. I certainly want to encourage you to build a future but don't do it in any manner that distorts the pleasant life I've outlined for myself."

I would argue the problem with that theory is that it negates the fact that as we grow older, we are dependent upon the success of the next generation. If you're going to have an economy that will support me and support many of us in this room as we grow older and there will be key services available, we're going to have to have an economy that invites young people and young families to come to this state and that invite young people and young families we want to retain in this state.

For if we do not have a climate in which those who seek not just to hold onto the wealth they've got, but seek to create wealth - if we don't have that climate, we will simply become a retirement community with the vestiges of an energy industry that has moved on.

For young people or those who have a young view of the world - they have a much more let's invest, let's go out there and let's build these roads, let's build those schools, let's get this done because their perception is what is their future going to be like? Their future is one in which they hope to build both their own wealth as well as to emphasize the role of their families.

The third group that I encounter, both in this building and when I'm out around the state, are the folks who say, "Look, what we really need to do is figure out how do we spend every penny we've got and we need to spend it on operating expenses today."

Their argument is that, look, the healthcare system is broke and a state this rich ought to be able to take care of us. I don't believe there's any one of you as an elected official who has not had conversations with your constituents that start out, "You've got a billion dollars, why don't you" and then you can fill in the blank. I see some of you have had those discussions. Sometimes what they fill in the blank is really interesting.

But the point I want to make is that it is our job to strike a rational balance between all of those groups and all of those interests, that our job is to figure out how do we save some money, how do we invest some money and how do we spend part of it on operating the government in order to take care of the current needs.

I would argue that in a supplemental budget, that the emphasis should be on investing in one-time expenditures. If you will take a look at the budget we submitted, there's about, I don't know 78, $80 million out of all of the money allocated that is for operating expenses, that are for continuing expenses. The rest of it intended to do things like fund the state prison expansion that we're trying to do in Torrington, add money to highways, add money to airports, build water projects, talk about the Wildlife Trust Fund. I think that is the appropriate use of these supplemental dollars.

Now, as I came in today I checked, and even though the revenue figures have changed, the sky is not falling. It is still up there. It is still over our head. And I want to place these numbers in context.

If we had gathered here last year and in my closing comments I had said to you there will be half a billion dollars available for your expenditure next session, not a one of you would have believed it. Frankly, I wouldn't have believed it. We had been, I think, very generous in that budget session in terms of agencies and their operation. I think we all felt like we were probably looking at a relatively minimal amount available at this time.

Then things move along and as we were preparing our budget, our instincts was that there was probably going to be somewhere between 450 million and maybe 5 and a quarter. Then the revenue estimates came out from the Consensus Review Estimating Group, and the ouija board that the use is different than the one I use and they ended up saying there's $812 million. $812 million, a staggering number, one that did not seem supportable, but one to which we adhered in preparation of our budget.

We're now in a position where we say, "Oh, my heavens, we may only have half a billion dollars available for supplemental expenditures." Half a billion dollars. That is a phenomenal number. And it is a number that I think more than justifies the conclusion that the sky isn't falling. We have got some budget things that we need to address. We will have to trim our sails a bit from other expectations. But I don't think this is a time for us to become timid about an investment course that we have launched ourselves on in the last four years.

Hence, I would encourage you to continue and to consider seriously a funding level of $162 million for the highway department. We arrived at that number based on what they said they thought could be bid out and successfully deployed before the end of the biennium.

There's another 18 million that can go to airports, and it is well within the current budget figures.

Also, you will see there's a significant recommendation for capital construction at the community colleges. It is capital construction tied directly to the question of work force development. It is not capital construction that supports much of any other purpose.

I'm interested in the discussion that surrounds that. It is one of those discussions where people say, "Well, we ought to do that, but if we're not going to do it in my county, I'm not going to support it because, frankly, they ought to pay for it themselves."

I would argue to you that is an incredibly narrow view with regard to our circumstance with regard to work force. If you have, as I have, traveled the state or been around your own district, one of the most significant complaints you get from people - and I got some yesterday from folks that were in - there is no work force. The ultimate cap on our ability to grow this state is going to turn out to be the availability of people with skills to do the work that needs to be done.

I have companies who meet with me on a regular basis, talking about significant projects in the state, and they end up saying "Look Governor, what is the state doing for work force? If I can't build this project here because you don't have the work force, I will build it in Utah. I will build it in Colorado. I will build it someplace where I can bring it in at a price I can afford.

So I would encourage you not to think about work force development in the context of what is in it for me, what's in it for my district, what's in it for my county, but think about it in the context of what is in it for the state.

This simple illustration I think makes the point. Take a look at the city of Wheatland and think about Wheatland without the Basin Electric facility. Think about what those plants bring to the long-term stability of the state. Coal markets can vary, but people seldom shut down power plants. The same is going to be true with regard to coal conversion plants going forward. I would encourage you to think about the state's future and our ability to have those facilities in this state as you go forward.

If nothing else, think about the merchant or the construction guy or the driller in your own community who has said to you, "I can't find anybody to hire." If we don't find people to do the work that needs to be done to build this state, we're not going to succeed.

There's also an issue I think is related to that and that's this question of how much funding goes to the local governments. And that last has been an issue that this body has struggled with for many years. As most of you know, I do not like the State Loan and Investment Board process in that I think you're asking - now, I want to preface this. This is not a view shared by all of the elected officials.

But from my point of view, we're being asked to make decisions that are probably not within our proper purview. We are comparing the merits of a road in Lovell with one in Wamsutter with one in Gillette, and I'm not sure that we're the right people to do that.

I encourage you to look at greater direct funding to cities, towns and counties of this state. We have the resources available. We are not in a position where we can't do it. I think that it is appropriate for us to be cautious and to trigger that flow of funds based on some status that you could set up. I would use the revenues - or the actual assessed values that are being filed with the Department of Revenue, but something that gives you assurance that the money is going to be there. You can call it a soft cap or a secondary distribution, but either way, we need to address the fact that communities need money. Everybody agrees to that. We end up in this argument about what is the proper way to get to it.

If you are, as this state prides itself as largely a conservative Republican body, a conservative republican body would surely endorse the concept that the decision should be made by the government that is closest to the people. I think direct allocation is how you get that done. I've not had much success with that argument in the past, but I'm going to continue to make it because I believe there's a way to structure it that protects the fiscal integrity and your concern with regard to the available future revenue and at the same time recognizes that they should make that decision.

Housing is an additional issue that has been studied and it will continue to be studied. There's a proposal in front of you. I know that there is some concern about that proposal. I think that the issue deserves serious consideration as to whether or not there can be unanimity within this body on the bill. If not then I think you need to seriously consider placing it on your agenda for the next session and for the purposes of interim study.

You know, we talk about work force and we talk about its importance to the economy, but I want to tell you a wonderful story about what work force training really means to the individual. This is a story brought to me by a contractor up in Jackson recently at the contractors convention.

Contractor comes up to me and says, "I've got to tell you this story." It is a wonderful story about one of his employees. She was a single mom with two children living in Gillette. She got hooked up with Our Futures Our Family and the CDL training class, and she was in the spring class of 2004.

Now, this class was a partnership between Our Futures Our Family and the Wyoming Contractors Association. She graduated from the course. This employer hired her and last year, using her Grade A CDL permit, she cleared $48,000. We took somebody who was in incredibly difficult circumstances, provided the training, provided the work force development, and not only is this employer incredibly proud of his employee, but this particular employee has set about revising her life.

It has turned into a great win-win circumstance. A woman who was not previously able to provide for herself and her family makes $48,000. She pays her own way, bought a car, takes care of her own expenses, picks up her healthcare and has time to spend with her children. If that isn't the definition of win-win, I don't know what it is.

One of the issues that's important in this is that while we talk about a work force and we talk about it in its grandest terms, it is really about one person at a time being given the skills to take advantage of the remarkable opportunity that is presented by the work force in this state. Somebody making $48,000, we're not going to see them at the Department of Work Force Services - at the Department of Family Services. Somebody making $48,000 has time to take care of their kids, has the time that is so essential for the role of parenting that is important to us.

One of the interesting things that happens in that context is that this individual now has health insurance. Healthcare is an issue that all of us know, both from our campaigns and our own experiences, is an incredibly difficult issue. If you notice over the past month, if you're like Nancy and I, you got a whole slew of Christmas letters and you sent some out yourself. Think of how many of those Christmas letters contained discussion about the health issues of people that you know and love and you recognize how incredibly important healthcare and its availability in this state.

In the context of our role as elected officials, it is one of the most difficult issues we have because we have not found a silver bullet, in spite of the efforts of this body, in spite of the efforts of the Department of Health, and in spite of the efforts of the Healthcare Commission.

Our steps have been slow, but as Abraham Lincoln said, "I may not be walking real fast, but at least I'm not walking backwards," and I think that is what we're doing with regard to healthcare. If you think about where we started a few years ago, we started by expanding the care available to our most vulnerable citizens through Kid Care. We expanded that and provided healthcare for folks with children who didn't have any before. Last year we expanded it to include about a thousand people who were parents of people who qualified for Kid Care. Over the years we've expanded our availability of our services to the elderly, and there are another set of proposals that will be submitted to this body intended to help address the elderly and the citizens who have some of the toughest health problems that we deal with.

There's also a suggestion, and I think it is one that merits consideration that we look hard at this question of how to keep the elderly at home. I'm amazed as you travel the state, and particularly as you go through sort of the door-to-door campaigning process, how many people make it clear to you that one of their life plans is not to be in a nursing home. I don't know many people who are sitting around saying, "I can't wait until I get to a nursing home. We have some options.

There's some of you I would like to send there right away - just checking to see if you were awake.

You know, it strikes me that the Healthcare Commission has some pretty good recommendations about strategies to try to keep people in their homes, and I think it is incredibly important that we be a state that not only has wealth but has a heart and tries to make sure that that happens.

Another area that I think is going to require some attention is there's a proposal to be given to you to expand and put some money into our high-risk insurance pool. That's for those who just literally can't get insurance. If you've talked to any of them, you're discovering that even in the pool as structured, they're sometimes paying two and three times what the rates are. I think that it is entirely appropriate for us to invest some state money to try to keep those costs down.

It also makes financial sense. Bear in mind that if we don't make this high-risk insurance pool work, we sooner or later are going to pick these folks up on Medicaid or any other number of programs, but by the time we pick them up, we will have made them essentially impoverished.

These are people who are trying to work, trying to stay afloat, and we've set up a circumstance where they can't get private insurance because of a variety of things and yet if they continue to work and they continue to hold onto their house, they can't get Medicaid. What do you do? They end up not working. They end up selling their house, and the next thing you know we're picking them up on Medicaid.

So I would encourage you to think hard. It is not an inexpensive item. It is going to be $5 million to expand the coverage, make it a little cheaper for the folks who are already there and probably pick up another 5 to 700 individuals in that pool. But I would tell you now that it is a lot like the old Fram oil filter ad that we can either pay now or we're going to pay later, and if we pay later, we will pay at a much significantly increased rate. So I would encourage you to do that.

It seems to me that the other recommendation that's out there with regard to healthcare is to statutorily change the recording dates of the Healthcare Commission. You're in the same position I am. I get the Healthcare Commission recommendations, the bulk of them, right after you guys leave town. It is a little difficult to operate on that schedule because then the recommendations are essentially a year old. This year a number of those bills are being picked up by folks who have been working with the commission.

I would encourage you to restructure that underlying legislation to require that the reports arrive at the legislature and at the governor in a timely fashion so that we can deal with them as they come through.

I also want to ask for some support on this methamphetamine question. I know that you guys don't - I have yet to get any support, except for one or two, for my request for highway patrolmen. But I have every confidence that it enjoys bipartisan support since both your candidate for governor as well as myself endorsed this and I have every confidence that his year you're going to give me my 15 highway patrolmen. Maybe I'm not that confident.

Here's the problem that exists. Part of it has to do with methamphetamine, but part of it just has to do with the increased road traffic. Clearly they have trouble hiring and retaining people, and so you've got some issues that exist there which we're trying to address both through pay and equipment. But also we just need the bodies, and not just on I-80. We need some additional patrolmen all over the state.

I hope that sort of notwithstanding the aversion people seem to have to this issue that we will actually step up and give some additional resources so that there will be safer streets both in terms of - safer highways both in terms of regular traffic as well as more opportunity to do interdiction.

We're also presented with a remarkable opportunity in Casper related to methamphetamine which is you have through the City of Casper and some individuals the willingness to build a physical plant for a 100-bed treatment facility for methamphetamine. Now everybody says we've got to have more treatment, but for some reason this one did not enjoy support from the appropriations committee.

I would argue to you that it is a remarkable opportunity. We don't have to build the physical plant. What we have to do is to underwrite the operating costs of the treatment beds. And I don't know anyone in this state who doesn't believe that we need more treatment.

Now, it again falls prey to that old bugaboo we have in this state that we're not building one every place in the state where everybody else needs one. I remember when I was U.S. Attorney I made the mistake of suggesting that we should consolidate regional treatment facilities so each county didn't have juveniles in their jail, and I got my head handed to me. So I'm going to phrase this one differently.

That is, let's start with the one in Casper and then in future years we will look to add to it. Because if you have dealt with, as many of us have, with people who have become addicted to methamphetamine, this is not an easy road to recovery. We have the opportunity here through the generosity of the City of Casper and some other individuals to jumpstart our effort to have greater treatment in the state. I hope that you will consider taking advantage of that opportunity in the context of a knowledge that there are going to have to be more of these facilities built in the future. Some of the facilities that are going to be built in the future in other parts of the state we may have to underwrite, but we have the opportunity today to start with a 100-bed unit.

You will also find in our budget a recommendation with regard to additional funding for the Wildlife Trust Fund and for Water Account III. I have trouble getting you guys - guys and gals to put money into these accounts. Each time it comes down to, "Well, it would be a good thing to do, and we brag about it in our brochures when we talk about the Wildlife Trust Fund when we campaign, but, you know, Governor, it is not just that big a priority."

I would argue to you that wildlife in particular is an incredible priority for this state and it is an incredible priority for the average citizens. When I was campaigning I was in Campbell County going door to door. There was a young man and his father out getting their hunting trailer ready. We go over, you know, and go through - they're going elk hunting. They drew. We go through a discussion with them and then it was all great. We get through with that and I'm leaving. The older guy hollers at me and he says, "You know, Governor, you may get to be Governor, but you ain't going elk hunting this year." What it tells you is that I think he would rather go elk hunting than be governor, and he may be right.

But, I hope that we will combine funding with the words that we use. Every one of us has talked to citizens in our counties, our districts, our state about how much we value the sort of Wyoming experience, and big chunk of that is wildlife. But if, in fact, your budget recommends and reflects what your real opportunities are, then we need to recognize that wildlife is a priority in fact and not just in words.

It is difficult issue and it is one that people have said, "We're going to do a little. We want to do enough to say we did something, but we're not going to do enough to quite make it work." We have created a board that picked great projects that people seem to endorse, and I would encourage you to do that.

I have exactly the same sentiment with regard to Water Account III and, in fact, I've encouraged the legislative leadership to set a time for you to hear from the state meteorologist. Whether you call it global warming or you call it climate change or you call it the natural evolution of the historical pattern, he will demonstrate to you clearly we are heading into a period where the temperatures are warmer and snow melt is going to be harder to capture. There well may be less of it, there may well be more of it, but we need to get much more serious on behalf of future generations about setting aside money to build water projects.

I don't expect those projects to get built while I'm governor, but I know if I don't start the process of getting them underway and get money set aside, there will be future generations of this state who will discover that the most scarce resource in this state isn't available energy resources, it is going to be the availability of water.

Not only are we in the predicament where the climate is changing, but we are in a predicament where within the drainages that exist in Wyoming that flow downstream you have three of the fastest growing cities in the United States, notably the Southwest, and they are becoming much, much more comfortable utilizing the water that we are not capturing in Wyoming. We need to act to set money aside. We need to act aggressively through the Water Development Commission to find those projects. I would be surprised if many of us in this room today will be here when one of those projects is finally commissioned, but I will tell you those projects won't be commissioned if those of us who are here today don't act properly.

Now we're down to the part where they say in conclusion and that brings great hope to all those who are listening.

I want to tell you how much Nancy and I enjoy serving this state. This is a remarkable place. I give you a lot of grief about the legislature has the constitutional right to be wrong but you don't have to exercise it so much, and you give me grief about what it is that I'm doing.

I will tell you, one of the experiences of being governor that makes it clear to me why it is this matters is the support that we try to show on your behalf and on behalf of the citizens of the state for the men and women who are deployed from this state.

Whether it is at the deployment or the return, I will tell you that when they return from overseas, they're not really interested in either me or General Wright. I get a polite handshake and they're gone because they want to see their families.

The other thing is we attend all of the funerals for the soldiers from this state who have lost their lives, and we should.

One of the things that strikes me at each of these events is how incredibly lucky I am to be governor of this state. Thanks to what these young men and women do, some of them not so young, what they do, I have the opportunity to campaign. I have the opportunity to ask people for their votes. I have the opportunity to stand here before you.

So I would encourage us to think about that as we make these decisions. I don't think that these men and women gave up their time, their careers, their time with their families and, in some cases, their life for us to make a decision based on whether it is a rich or poor county, make a decision on whether or not it is good for my district or my party or myself.

When we talk to them, we talk about the highest ideals of democracy. We talk about what it is that they are doing to protect this remarkable freedom. But the best way for us to honor these young men and women, to honor those of both current deployment and historical deployment - the best way to honor them is to exercise our prerogatives as elected officials to the highest standards. We expect the highest standards from them when they protect this democracy. We should employ the highest standards we can when we exercise those rights and privileges that come with this democracy.

God bless you, God bless this country, and God bless Wyoming. Thank you very much.

President Schiffer thanked the Governor for his message and introduced Chief Justice Barton Voigt.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY
BARTON R. VOIGT, CHIEF JUSTICE
JANUARY 10, 2007

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, Governor and Mrs. Freudenthal, members of the 59th Legislature, elected officials, fellow judges and members of the public

It is my great honor and privilege to make this my first report to you as Chief Justice of the Wyoming Supreme Court. Many of you know, I am sure, of the Thermopolis connection that the Governor and I share. I graduated from Hot Springs County High School with the class of 1967; he was a member of the class of 1969. Back in those days, we talked about and looked forward to serving the people of Wyoming in positions like those we now hold. The reason I am the Chief Justice and he is only the Governor is that I was a senior, he was a sophomore so I got first choice.

I feel compelled at the outset of this talk to warn you that we share the misfortune of me following Chief Justice Lehman and Hill in this endeavor. I am neither a visionary, nor an orator, so my comments will suffer by comparison to theirs. It is not that I fear public speaking. It is just that I have heard myself do it before, so you have my sympathies. I will not tarry long here, and I will attempt merely to give you the meat and potatoes of the judiciary's current condition. If this sounds like I sat down and made up a list of things to tell you, that is because I sat down and made up a list of things to tell you.

Our most significant news, of course is that the Supreme Court no longer resides at 2301 Capital Avenue. We spent much of the past month moving all of our earthly goods across the street to the Hathaway Building, where we will be ensconced for the next couple of years during the much needed renovation of our building. The move did suffer few setbacks and delays. I don't want to sound overly dramatic, and I am not necessarily meaning to compare our tribulations to those of the Israelites as they fled Egypt, but I will note that our progress was stalled by waters of seemingly biblical proportions pouring out of the Hathaway Building. Unlike Moses, however, I was not able to part the waters and allow us to cross on dry land; we had to wait for plumbers to fix the leak, for the sheetrock to dry out, and for the mold to set in.

Speaking of the Hathaway building, I hope you will stop by and see our temporary courtroom. I was working with the construction management division to help coordinate both the remodeling and the temporary move. Then Chief Justice Hill told me to go lobby someone for a temporary courtroom, and I mistakenly thought he said to build one in the lobby. The result may be the smallest and least pretentious state Supreme Court room in America.

I began my service as Chief Justice on July 1 of this past year. In the next four months, five state judges left the bench. There is no cause and effect relationship between those events. Long-time Uinta County Circuit Court Judge Thomas E. Mealy retired in early summer, and was replaced by Michael Greear. Circuit Judge Sam Soule of Rock Springs decided not to seek retention after 25 years on the bench, leaving at the end of the year. Dan Forgey, who has been my law clerk for the past six years, replaced Judge Soule. Park County District Judge Hunter Patrick retired after 18 years in that position. Steve Cranfill, a Cody attorney, was appointed by Governor Freudenthal as his replacement. One side note on the appointment; the Governor and First Lady, and those of us on the court flying with them on the state plane, failed to attend Judge Cranfill's robing ceremony because the weather was such that we could not land in Cody or any place nearby. This unfortunate circumstance caused me much personal anguish, as it allowed Judge Cranfill free reign during the ceremony greatly to exaggerate how much better he was than I in high school running the half-mile, and to claim that I never once beat him. What he doesn't know is that I had two pair of track shoes along with me on that plane and I was going to challenge him to go across the street to Cody High's track and settle the matter once and for all.

Perhaps I digress. I was telling you about judges who retired this past year. Another long-term district judge, Sheridan's John Brackely, retired at the end of December. The robing ceremony for his replacement, Sheridan attorney John Fenn, will be in a couple of weeks. And finally, Pinedale's Circuit Court Judge, John Crow, also hung up his robe at the end of the year. Just before Christmas, Governor Freudenthal appointed Curt Haws of Jackson to fill that position.

We say a fond farewell to all of those judges who have served this state so well, and we welcome the newcomers. Whether through ignorance or courage, they have ignored the burgeoning calendars and have accepted the challenge of handling Wyoming's ever-increasing court dockets.

Finally, in mentioning these transitions, I would be remiss if I did not note the passing this year of Joseph Maier, for district judge here in the first judicial district. I tried to think of an adjective to describe the way Joe Maier practices the profession of judging. I decided that the work "ferociously" was too much, but not by far. Let's just say that he fervently believed in what he was doing and that he gave it his best every single day that he was on the bench. He is missed, and we want his family to know that.

Several other matters are noteworthy: last year, this body funded the installation of an electronic case-management system at the Supreme Court. We asked for this new system for three reasons: first, to give the court, itself, one centralized database in which all court personnel could preserve and access information; second, to expand the public's access to court information through web-based technology; and third, to serve as the basis for the electronic filing of documents. We are just now preparing to "go public" on the case management aspects of the system, and we look forward to an easy transition into electronic filing. We plan to experiment with e-filing first at the Supreme Court, where we have a smaller number of users, fewer different types of filings, and few cases than in the trial courts. As we see this system develop, we remember to be thankful to this body for the foresight it has shown in helping us make Wyoming's courts as accessible to its citizens as possible.

I don't see any of you actually sleeping yet, so I will mention a few other specific projects, several of which relate directly to past, present and future funding requests that we have made, or will make, of you.

Recent events across America have brought home once again the critical issue of courtroom and courthouse security. District Judge Jeffrey Donnell of Laramie is chairing a committee that has worked closely with local officials and with the joint judiciary interim committee to study the security needs of Wyoming's courthouses. The present plan, which exists in proposed legislation, is to develop pilot projects in counties of varying sizes to determine the likely costs of reasonable safety measures. Because our state courts operate out of county-owned buildings, and because the law enforcement personnel involved in courthouse security likely will come from sheriff's departments, this project will require close coordination and cooperation with local officials.

During the process of judicial reorganization that began almost ten years ago, it became apparent that we could not properly assess judicial needs without accurate information. The result was the weighted caseload study. That study, using 1998 figures, estimated judicial needs based upon the numbers and types of cases being heard. This tool has been invaluable to us, and we believe, to you, as Wyoming's changing demographics have caused us to re-evaluate judicial placements. Statistics in Sublette County, for instance, were reflective of the economic and social changes happening there, and left no doubt that Judge Crow should be replaced when he retired, rather than trying to rely upon Teton County and Fremont County judges to cover Sublette County. Similar statistics for circuit court clerk workloads enable our administrative staff to determine whether retiring deputy clerks should be replaced, or whether open positions should be shifted to other more needy courts. One of our budget requests this year is for the funding necessary to update and make more accurate the statistical basis of the study, to make sure judicial coverage corresponds with the demographic demands.

The children's justice project, which began seven years ago and continues with federal funding, is actively involved in several arenas. Perhaps of most importance is its participation in a guardian ad litem training program. Judges, prosecutors, guardians ad litem, case volunteers, social workers, attorneys and other professionals - about 530 of them, in fact - have obtained GAL specific education. Additional grants have been obtained to continue these training programs and to develop automated systems to collect and analyze court data pertaining to child abuse and neglect. There are also plans to develop an electronic case management system to track abuse and neglect cases, to better understand issues such as safety, permanency, timeliness and due process of law. Current studies of the juvenile court system will be continued to determine whether juvenile court case managers should be provided in the district courts.

In the circuit courts, outdated and frequently unreliable cassette tape recording systems are being replaced with digital recording equipment. Most of you are probably aware that there are no court reporters in the circuit courts; the record of what goes on in circuit courts being preserved, rather, only on audio tape. Over the years, that has proven to be much less than 100% effective, and many a preliminary hearing, for instance, has had to be held over again for lack of a proper recording. The new systems are up and running in several counties, and we are receiving very positive responses from those clerks and judges.

The next thing I want to mention is not so much a court program as it is a program that oversees the courts. Several years ago, the state constitution was amended to replace the Judicial Supervisory Commission with a Commission on Judicial Conduct and Ethics. It is this commission that investigates and pursues any allegations of judicial wrongdoing. Several months ago, I signed an order completely revising the commission's rules of procedure to give it more authority during the investigative phase of its proceedings. We are firmly committed to the truism that, to have the public's confidence, we must earn it, and we know that we must police ourselves to gain and retain that trust.

The legislature, the judiciary and the experts in the Wyoming Retirement System have made great strides in the past couple of years in restructuring the Judicial Retirement System. For those of you who may not know, our original statutory Judicial Retirement System was composed of two parts: circuit court judges participated in the state retirement system, while district court judges and Supreme Court justices simply received a portion of their former salary upon retirement. The latter part of that system was unfunded, meaning that whenever a district judge or Supreme court Justice retired the Supreme Court had to come to you for General Fund budgeting of that retirement position.

Several years ago, you created a funded judicial retirement system, the purpose of which was to balance actuarial soundness with the realities of judicial retirement. Generally speaking, judges begin their tenure on the bench later in life than most state employees begin to work for the state, meaning that they have fewer years in which to accrue a retirement fund. In addition, lawyers who become judges often do so just at the peak of their earning capacity, rather than at the beginning of their legal careers, meaning they are giving up more to become judges. Those issues were meant to be addressed in the new system, but there have been some difficulties.

During this session there will be two bills introduced concerning the judicial retirement system. These bills were developed through the cooperative efforts of the joint judiciary interim committee and the Board of Judicial Policy and Administration. The first one, House Bill 20, addresses the pay retired judges receive when they fill in for currently serving judges. Their service is an effective way to maximize judicial resources while minimizing the need for new judges. In the past, retired judges have only been paid the difference between their earned retirement benefits and the current salary of the judge being replaced. Not surprisingly, it hardly encouraged retired judges to come back to the bench if half of what they would be paid had already been earned for prior service. House Bill 20 will allow retired judges to be compensated at the level of the judge they replace.

The second bill, Senate File 11, addresses an unintentional problem created by our current system. The average age of a judge appointed in Wyoming is 49, and the average retirement age is 64. Unfortunately, as originally designed, the new judicial retirement program reduced retirement benefits drastically during the first years of service, and did so non-uniformly. The proposed legislation would create a system that gradually reduces retirement benefits from age 60, resulting in fair retirement benefits for those who serve less than 20 years, which includes the majority of judges.

Until just recently, we had not intended to submit a supplemental budget request this session. Late developments forced us to reconsider, however, and we are asking for appropriations in three areas:

First, we are seeking $55,000 to cover the unanticipated retirement benefit for Judge Brackley. Judge Brackley was one of the few remaining members of the old retirement system, so his retirement benefits are not funded under the current system, and must be separately budgeted.

Second, we are seeking $100,000 to cover the cost of updating the weighted caseload study that I mentioned earlier. Both the district courts and the circuit courts will cooperate in the development of caseload information to replace that which is now nearly a decade old.

Third, we are seeking $940,000 to cover the cost of compact library shelving in the remodeled Supreme Court Building. If I have learned nothing else from meeting so many, many times with the architects and the staff of the construction management division, I have learned that it is much more complicated to remodel an existing building than it is to build a new one. The difficulty is two-fold: planning ahead for reasonable future needs, while making everything fit within an existing structure.

As these plans developed, it became apparent that the law library had to be "compressed" - going from three floors to one - and the only way to do that was compact shelving. Succinctly stated, the building could not be efficiently renovated if the library was allowed to use up so much of the available space. This central feature of the project as finally drawn - the library compressed into compact shelving - requires separate funding because it was not part of the original funding scheme; or, perhaps better stated, the original funding scheme did not contemplate the cost that this would entail. The most reasonable and realistic solution was to have the court come to you directly for the necessary funds. Of all the things that I am here to tell you today, I believe this request to be the most fundamental. Without this funding, the present plans literally will be lost, and a year's worth and expense will be for naught. That is because, if the library cannot be made to fit into its assigned space, all the rest of the design will fail.

While I am on the subject of the remodeling, I want to make an unsolicited and uncompensated endorsement of the construction management division. After a somewhat rocky start, we all agreed upon a design somewhere between the Taj Mahal, which is what Rich Cathcart and Sylvie Rupp thought we were demanding, and the double-wide trailer we thought they were offering. The result will be a building that will be both functional and beautiful, and of which this state will be proud for generations to come. Rich and his staff have put a tremendous amount of time and effort into our project, and we want to thank them publicly.

I will leave you with some quick observations as to what I foresee in the near future for Wyoming's judiciary:

First, local boom and bust cycles impact the courts, just as they do every social institution and agency. No doubt, all of the courts in southwest Wyoming will have to be re-evaluated next year because of the mineral impact in those counties. The same may be true of Gillette, and Sheridan is also under a lot of pressure. Our goal is equal access to justice everywhere in the state.

Second, we can hardly now keep apace of the statewide demand for the service of our information technology staff. We have fewer than half-a-dozen people servicing over 300 computer stations and 60 servers. And it is a seller's market for computer experts. Last month, our long-time chief information officer, Jim Bivona, resigned to take a more remunerative position. We have yet to fill his position, as well as some of the positions you authorized last session. Add to that the potential development of electronic filing, and the ever-increasing demands of individual courts for updated electronic capabilities, and you will see why our technological goal for the time being is just to keep our heads above water. We may ask you to fund a life jacket now and then.

Third, and this will be my final point, is the growing demand that Wyoming take its experiences with drug courts and D.W.U.I. courts and expand it into some version of a family court. None of these concepts are truly "courts" in the sense of being a separate entity with a separate judge. What they really are, are court-based counseling and treatment programs. Their common denominator is an increased participation by the judge in the defendant's or juvenile's rehabilitation program. They are often called problem-solving courts. I expect there will be much interaction among the three branches of government as we study the practicalities of expanding such programs in Wyoming.

I know I am supposed to conclude with something stirring and uplifting; something akin to the Boise State Coach's locker room talk at halftime. I know it should include the word "Godspeed." So I searched all the books of famous quotations, and I searched all the materials I have saved on public speaking. What I finally found, from an unknown source was this: "Never miss a good chance to shut up and sit down."

Thank you, and "Godspeed."

President Schiffer thanked Chief Justice Voigt for attending the Joint Session and for his message and asked Senator Townsend and Representatives Walsh and Thompson escort the Chief Justice from the Chamber.

Senator Coe and Representatives Simpson and Martin escorted the First Lady, their daughter and the Governor from the chamber.

Amend Joint Rule 2-2 and 2-3 as follows:

PROCEDURES

2-2 (a) Such conference committees shall meet at a convenient hour to be agreed upon by their respective chairmen and shall confer upon the differences between the two houses. As soon as possible, the respective houses shall move for the adoption of the Joint Conference Committee report. Adoption of the report must be by vote of a majority of the elected members of each house unless a greater majority is required to pass a measure such as is the case with constitutional resolutions.

(b) No Conference Committee shall meet to consider any bill referred to it unless notice of the date, time and place of the meeting and the bill to be considered has been announced in open session on the floor of the House and Senate no later than adjournment on the day the meeting is to be held. This section does not apply to:

(i) Continued consideration of a bill by a Conference Committee after the Committee has begun consideration at a meeting for which notice was provided in compliance with this section so long as the date, time and place of the continuation of the meeting is announced by the chairman;

(ii) Conference Committee meetings held on the day scheduled by the officers of the House and Senate to be the last day of the session.

REPORT

(a) Report of a conference committee shall be made with two original copies. A majority of the conferees from each house are to sign both copies in the proper places with the chairman from each house signing the top line of their sections. The chairman from the house of the bill's origin shall deliver the two (2) signed copies to his Chief Clerk for processing and approval as to form. The house of origin shall consider the report first. [Ref: Mason's § 771]

(b) An objection that a first conference committee has not confined itself to the scope of its authority to propose amendments pursuant to Joint Rule 2-1(b), or that a conference committee failed to provide notice of a meeting as required by Joint Rule 2-2(b), shall be made from the floor prior to the vote on the report, and if not made at that time is not in order at a later time.

Amend Joint Rule 14-1 as follows:

14. BUDGET BILLS

14-1(b)

(1) During committee of the whole, second reading or third reading of a mirror budget bill, each section of the bill or portion of a section, including any amendments to that section or portion of a section, shall be considered only once during that reading even though that reading may be extended beyond one (1) day. For the purpose of this subsection, a section of the bill means a separately numbered section dealing with an agency's budget or a complete, separate numbered section, such as a "Section 200". A portion of a section means a separately listed line item within that section. The sequence in which the sections of the budget bills are considered shall be the same for both houses.

(2) Following introduction in the first house, the mirror budget bill shall be referred to the committee of the whole.

(3) Notwithstanding Senate Rule 13-1 and House Rule 12-1, third reading of a mirror budget bill in the first house shall be conducted on the second legislative working day following the day second reading is completed.

14-1(m) Amendments to Mirror Budget Bills.

(1) It shall be out of order to propose an amendment to a mirror budget bill during committee of the whole consideration in the first house.

(2) Except as provided in Joint Rule 14-1(m)(3), no amendment shall be considered on second or third reading of a mirror budget bill in the first house unless the amendment has been submitted to the legislative staff for preparation not later than 5:00 p.m. on the legislative working day preceding the day of the reading.

(3) Only the following amendments shall be submitted to the legislative staff for preparation on the day third reading of a mirror budget bill is to begin in the first house:

(a) Amendments to correct errors in previously adopted amendments; and

(b) Amendments sponsored by the chairman of the standing appropriations committee or his designee.

No expenditure of funds under this footnote shall occur unless the following conditions are met:

(i) A determination is made by the commission following value engineering review, as to capacity levels necessary to connect existing infrastructure to the property on which school buildings and facilities are or will be situated;

(ii) A determination is made by the commission differentiating infrastructure capacity determined necessary under paragraph (a)(i) of this footnote from any excess infrastructure capacity; and

(iii) A determination is made by the office of the attorney general that a legal and contractual requirement exists to:

(A) Repay costs expended for the determined excess infrastructure capacity by the future users of the excess capacity; and

(B) Preserve the necessary infrastructure capacity when school buildings and facilities are actually constructed.

(b) Amounts expended under this footnote for excess infrastructure capacity shall be repaid to the commission on a basis and at times specified by law and by contract as the excess capacity becomes utilized. Amounts repaid shall be deposited by the commission into the school capital construction account.

(c) The select committee on school facilities shall review the process developed by the commission under subsection (a) of this footnote, develop recommendations on the establishment of a permanent process for addressing infrastructure needs associated with school facilities under the administrative governance of the school facilities commission and develop recommendations on the establishment of a permanent process for repayment of state funded excess capacity in the development of infrastructure. The select committee shall include in this review a process which requires commission consideration of options available in developing the most efficient and cost effective solutions to district facility construction and renovation projects including property acquisition, property condemnation and other site-related issues. Recommendations developed under this subsection shall include enabling legislation which mandates:

(i) Repayment obligations for excess infrastructure capacity payments; and

(ii) Comprehensive community planning for future school facilities.

"[NCAR Supercomputer]

Section 333.

(a) The Wyoming business council, in consultation with the University of Wyoming, is authorized to enter into a contract with the National Center for Atmospheric Research (NCAR), through its parent, the University Center for Atmospheric Research (UCAR) under which NCAR will construct a five hundred (500) teraflop to one (1) petaflop supercomputer facility in Wyoming as part of NCAR's national research activities. To enhance the University of Wyoming's research capability in general and the strength of the university's school of energy resources in particular, the contract shall provide that the university and NCAR shall jointly enter into an agreement with the National Science Foundation under which the university and NCAR partnership shall realize a total allocation equivalent to twenty percent (20%) of the capacity of the supercomputer. The operating relationship between NCAR, the Wyoming business council and the university shall be governed by a memorandum of understanding.

(b) The preferred location of the facility is in the Cheyenne, Wyoming area, on land committed to this project by Cheyenne LEADS.

(c) Subject to subsection (e) of this section, there is appropriated to the Wyoming business council to implement this section the amounts specified in this subsection beginning with the effective date of this act. The following amounts are appropriated:

(i) Five million dollars ($5,000,000.00) from the general fund:

(ii) One million dollars ($1,000,000.00) from the general fund to fund the memorandum of understanding through fiscal year 2008. The university shall include a request for one million dollars ($1,000,000.00) annually in its 2009-2010 biennial budget request to continue to fund the memorandum of understanding, which appropriation shall be separate from the university's block grant.

(d) Of the general fund appropriation to the university in section 3, section 067 of this act for capital facilities match, six million three hundred fifty thousand dollars ($6,350,000.00) shall be transferred to the Wyoming business council for purposes of implementing this section. Additionally, the university shall transfer to the Wyoming business council for purposes of implementing this section, three million six hundred fifty thousand dollars ($3,650,000.00) from funds appropriated to the university for the school of energy resources by 2006 Wyoming session laws chapter 69, section 2.

(e) The appropriations under paragraph (c)(i) of this section and under subsection (d) of this section shall not be expended until:

(i) NCAR secures authorization and funding from the National Science Foundation to locate the supercomputer in Wyoming;

(ii) A binding contractual agreement with a utility company is entered into by NCAR under which the utility agrees to provide all necessary electrical infrastructure for the operation of the supercomputer;

(iii) Necessary real property in Wyoming suitable to NCAR and the university is secured for location of the supercomputer;

(iv) NCAR, the university and the Wyoming business council have entered into a final contract delineating access to the capacity of the supercomputer;

(v) NCAR, the university and the Wyoming business council have entered into a final contract regarding the location and construction of a building to house the supercomputer;

(vi) As permitted by Wyoming law, sufficient industrial development revenue bonds are secured for the location of the supercomputer in Wyoming. As permitted by Wyoming law, the Wyoming state treasurer shall investigate the purchase of these bonds using state permanent funds.

(f) Notwithstanding W.S. 9-4-207(a), 9-2-1008 and 9-2-1012(e), any funds from the appropriations under this section, including any transferred funds, that are unobligated and unencumbered on June 30, 2008, shall not lapse and shall remain available until June 30, 2010.

(g) All contracts concerning this project shall be reviewed and approved by the governor and the attorney general."

" [ADDITIONAL LOCAL GOVERNMENT REVENUE DISTRIBUTION]

Section 333.

(a) There is appropriated from the general fund twenty million dollars
($20,000,000.00) to the office of state lands and investments to be allocated as follows:

(i) Each city or town with a population of thirty-five (35) or less shall first receive five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) and each city or town with a population over thirty-five (35) shall first receive ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00);

(ii) From any remaining funds provided under this subsection, each city or town that meets all of the following criteria is eligible to receive a payment as computed in paragraph (iii) of this subsection. To qualify for this additional payment, a city or town must:

(A) Have a majority of its incorporated population residing within a county that imposes of the taxes authorized under W.S. 39-15-204(a)(i), (iii) and (vi) a tax at the rate of at least one percent (1.0%) and of the taxes authorized under W.S. 39-16-204(a)(i), (ii) and (v), imposes a tax at the rate of at least one percent (1.0%), at the time of the distribution;

(B) Impose at least seven (7) of the available mills authorized by article 15, section 6 of the Wyoming constitution at the time of the distribution; and

(C) Have a per capita potential city or town ad valorem tax revenue plus per capita potential city or town sales and use tax revenue that is less than the sum of the per capita potential statewide, incorporated ad valorem tax revenue plus the per capita potential statewide, incorporated sales and use tax revenue.

(iii) Each city's or town's computed payment shall be the sum of the following two (2) products. The first product shall be the city's or town's population multiplied by the difference between the per capita potential statewide, incorporated ad valorem tax revenue and the city's or town's per capita potential city or town ad valorem tax revenue. The second product shall be the city's or town's population multiplied by the difference between the per capita potential statewide, incorporated sales and use tax revenue and the city's or town's per capita potential city or town sales and use tax revenue;

(iv) To the extent insufficient funds are available to provide full payments to all cities and towns under paragraph (iii) of this subsection, each payment shall be proportionately reduced by the ratio of the total payments calculated for all cities and towns under paragraph (iii) of this subsection to the available funds under paragraph (ii) of this subsection;

(v) In the event the computed payment for a city or town under paragraph (iii) of this subsection results in a negative number, no payment shall be made;

(vi) If the total funds directed to all cities and towns under this subsection exceed the payments calculated under this subsection, any excess funds shall revert to the budget reserve account.

(b) As used in this section:

(i) "Department" means the department of revenue;

(ii) "Per capita potential city or town ad valorem tax revenue" means the total assessed value within each city or town as determined by the department for calendar year 2004 multiplied by eight (8) mills and divided by the city or town population;

(iii) "Per capita potential city or town sales and use tax revenue" means the sales and use taxes collected in each county from the taxes imposed under W.S. 39-15-104(a) and (b) and under W.S. 39-16-104(a) and (b) as determined by the department for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 2004 and ending June 30, 2005 divided by two (2) and multiplied by the proportion the population of the city or town bears to the population of the county, divided by each city or town's population;

(iv) "Per capita potential statewide, incorporated ad valorem tax revenue" means the total assessed value within all cities and towns as determined by the department for calendar year 2004 multiplied by eight (8) mills, divided by the population residing within the corporate limits of all cities and towns within the state;

(v) "Per capita potential statewide, incorporated sales and use tax revenue" means the total statewide sales and use taxes collected from the taxes imposed under W.S. 39-15-104(a) and (b) and under W.S. 39-16-104(a) and (b) as determined by the department for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 2004 and ending June 30, 2005 divided by two (2) and multiplied by the proportion that population residing inside the corporate limits of all cities and towns bears to the total population of the state, divided by the population residing within the corporate limits of all cities and towns within the state; and

(vi) "Population" means the population as determined by the most recent decennial census as periodically updated by the bureau of the census.

(c) Payments under this section shall be made on August 31, 2007."

- (xiii) Current levels and sources of revenue sharing;
- (xiv) Regional or national models for revenue sharing between the state and local governments;
- (xv) Other research issues and information determined essential by the select committee to its study of local government financing.

(c) Based upon study analysis and evaluation of items specified under subsection (b) of this section, the select committee shall in sufficient time for consideration by the legislature in the 2009 general session, develop recommendations on the following:

- (i) Appropriate levels for revenue sharing between state and local governments;
- (ii) Transparent distribution formulas that provide adequate support and appropriate funding levels for local government services mandated by the state;
- (iii) Adequate funding for state grant and loan and other assistance programs to local governments;
- (iv) New funding mechanisms addressing unique situations or conditions faced by local governments in providing necessary services;
- (v) Local government taxing authority;
- (vi) Additional recommendations the select committee determines necessary and appropriate based upon findings under subsection (b) of this section.

(d) The select committee shall complete its study under this section and prepare necessary legislation to implement its recommendations developed under subsection (c) of this section in sufficient time for submission to the legislature during the 2009 general session.

(e) The legislative service office shall provide staff services to the select committee and is authorized one (1) additional at-will employee contract (AWEC) position to appropriately staff the select committee study effort. In addition, the select committee through the legislative service office and upon approval of the management council, may contract for professional services as necessary to carry out the purposes of this section. "[LAW ENFORCEMENT RETIREMENT - HIGHWAY PATROL DISPATCHERS]

Section 333.

(a) There is appropriated one million seven hundred fifty-seven thousand dollars ($1,757,000.00) from the general fund to the state retirement account for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 2007 and ending June 30, 2008, for the purchase of Wyoming highway patrol dispatcher service credits specified as follows:

(i) Any dispatcher continuously employed by the Wyoming highway patrol on or before July 1, 2002, who continues to be employed in that position and is currently enrolled as a law enforcement officer for purposes of W.S. 9-3-432, shall receive law enforcement service credit under W.S. 9-3-432 for all prior service from the date of employment through June 30, 2007;

(ii) Any dispatcher continuously employed by the Wyoming highway patrol before July 1, 2002, who continues to be employed in that position and is not currently enrolled as a law enforcement officer for purposes of W.S. 9-3-432, shall on or before June 30, 2007, elect to either enroll as an officer under W.S. 9-3-432 on or before June 30, 2007, or remain under the retirement program pursuant to W.S. 9-3-401 through 9-3-430. If an election is made pursuant to this paragraph to enroll as an officer, the electing dispatcher shall receive law enforcement service credit under W.S. 9-3-432 for all prior service from the date of employment through June 30, 2007. Any highway patrol dispatcher electing not to enroll as an officer shall not receive any law enforcement service credit under W.S. 9-3-432 as made available under this paragraph.

(b) The Wyoming retirement board shall notify Wyoming highway patrol dispatchers of the provisions of this section as soon as possible to enable dispatchers to make an informed election as to retirement participation by June 30, 2007."

this footnote under procedures developed pursuant to the business ready community program, W.S. 9-12-601 through 9-12-603, and rules promulgated pursuant thereto. Notwithstanding those rules or the provisions of W.S. 9-12-601 through 9-12-603, maximum grant amounts shall not be applicable and funds specified under this footnote shall be used only for the purposes specified in this footnote for grants to cities, towns or counties for projects which:

(i) Improve the development of data generation and information technology storage capabilities that do not exist in the state or are in insufficient supply statewide or in localities of the state;

(ii) Encourage and provide for the expansion of existing information technology enterprises in the state, including those developed through the University of Wyoming Business Technology Center; and

(iii) Provide a reduction of the costs of electrical power or bandwidth, or both, to businesses meeting the provisions of paragraphs (i) and (ii) of this footnote. In exchange for providing these reductions in costs, the political subdivision receiving the grant and providing the reduction in costs shall have contracted with the business to receive direct benefits and indirect economic development benefits including:

(A) A specific amount of capital investment by the business;

(B) A specific minimum payroll created by the business;

(C) The provision of information technology services to the state or the political subdivision at a price discounted from the fair market value of the services; and

(D) An agreement to repay any funds received to reduce costs if the business relocates from the political subdivision prior to the expiration of five (5) years from first receiving funds under this footnote.

(b) Funds identified under this footnote shall be accounted for separately from other business ready community funds. Notwithstanding any other provision of law, these funds shall not be transferred or expended for any purpose other than as specified in this footnote. Any unencumbered, unobligated funds remaining on June 30, 2008, shall revert to the budget reserve account.

(c) The business council shall report to the joint minerals business and economic development interim committee not later than July 31, 2008, regarding the expenditure of funds under this footnote. The report shall include a listing of all political subdivisions receiving funds, the proposed use of the funds and a summary of any contract pursuant to which the funds are ultimately expended."

Section 333.

(a) The select committee on tribal relations shall conduct a study of the current and potential funding and provision of government services to tribal entities and citizens of Wyoming who are also members of the Eastern Shoshone Indian Tribe or the Northern Arapaho Indian Tribe. The study shall identify all areas where the state is contracting with or providing services or funding to the tribal entities currently.

(b) The select committee shall issue a report to the legislature regarding its findings by June 30, 2008.

(c) There is appropriated from the general fund ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00) to the legislative service office for purposes of this section.

[TRIBAL WATER SUMMIT]

Section 334.

(a) The water development commission is authorized to conduct a summit with the Eastern Shoshone and Northern Arapaho Indian business councils to discuss water storage and development and hydroelectric power generation issues on the reservation.

(b) There is appropriated ten thousand dollars ($10,000.00) from water development account I to the water development commission to conduct the summit.

(c) There is appropriated thirteen thousand two hundred fifty dollars

($13,250.00) from water development account I to the legislative service office to fund per diem and travel expenses authorized under W.S. 28-5-101 for state legislators attending the summit.

Section 335.

2006 Wyoming Session Laws, Chapter 69, Section 2 is amended to read:

Section 2. There is appropriated to the University of Wyoming from the general fund ~~twelve million seventy one thousand nine hundred ninety seven dollars ($12,071,997.00)~~ ten million seventy-one thousand nine hundred ninety-seven dollars ($10,071,997.00) to establish the school of energy resources created under this act. Expenditures from this appropriation during the 2007-2008 biennium shall as near as practicable be consistent with the first two (2) years of the total budget needed to implement the school's operations over a three (3) year period, as contained in the university's October 1, 2005, report to the joint minerals, business and economic development interim committee as required under 2005 Wyoming session laws, chapter 191, section 337. This appropriation shall be included within the university's block grant but shall be accounted for separately with financial reports submitted as provided in W.S. 21-17-116(f) as created in section 1 of this act. "22-1-102. Definitions.

(a) The definitions contained in this chapter apply to words and phrases used in this Election Code and govern the construction of those words and phrases unless they are specifically modified by the context in which they appear. As used in this Election Code:

(xlvii) "Multi-county district attorney" means the office of district attorney which represents more than one (1) county pursuant to W.S. 9-1-801. Except as specified otherwise, for purposes of applying this Election Code to a multi-county district attorney:

(A) "Political subdivision" or "county," shall mean all counties represented by the multi-county district attorney;

(B) All filings required by this Election Code shall be with the secretary of state.

22-5-206. Where nomination applications to be filed.

(a) Nomination applications for United States senators and representatives in congress, state offices, members of the legislature, circuit court judges, multi-county district attorneys and state district court judges shall be filed in the office of the secretary of state.

(b) Other applications, including district attorneys other than multi-county district attorneys, shall be filed in the office of the county clerk of the county in which the person filing for nomination resides.

22-5-401. Vacancies in nomination for major parties; procedure for filing generally.

(b) The certificate shall be prepared and filed by:

(ii) The county central committee of the political party of the former nominee for a partisan office to be voted for by the electors of a county or a subdivision thereof, except as provided in ~~paragraph~~ paragraphs (iv) and (v) of this subsection;

(v) For nominees for a multi-county district attorney office, the provisions of paragraph (iv) of this subsection shall apply.

22-16-116. Statewide abstract; discrepancies with county abstracts.

From the unofficial tabulations delivered directly to his office, the secretary of state shall tabulate a statewide abstract by counties of votes for president and vice-president, state officers, justice of the supreme court, United States senator, representative in congress, district court judges, members of the state legislature, multi-county district attorneys and the votes for and against ballot propositions voted on by electors of a district larger than a county. The unofficial tabulation shall then be reconciled to the official abstracts of the county canvassing boards and the secretary of state shall prepare the state abstract from the official county abstracts.

22-16-121. Certificates of nomination and election following state or county canvass.

(b) The governor shall issue a certificate of election to a candidate duly elected to an office to be filled by electors of the state, district court judges, multi-county district attorneys and members of the state legislature. The county clerk shall issue a certificate of election to each candidate duly elected to a county or precinct office in the county and to members elected to boards of trustees of hospital, school or community college districts and city or town councils.

22-17-101. Right to contest elections; exception; grounds.

(b) A qualified elector in any county represented by a multi-county district attorney may contest the right of a person declared elected to that office upon the grounds provided in subsection (a) of this section.

22-17-102. Commencement by verified petition; contents.

(a) Election contests for all primary election offices and all general election offices other than state legislators, United States president and vice-president and presidential elector, may be commenced by the contestant filing with the clerk of the district court of the county, or in the case of a multi-county district attorney any county served by that office, within fourteen (14) days after the results of the election have been certified by the canvassing board, a verified petition setting forth specifically:

22-17-104. Judgment for costs.

If the proceedings in an election contest are dismissed for insufficiency, or want of prosecution, or if the election is confirmed by the court, judgment shall be rendered for costs against the party contesting the election and in favor of the party whose election was contested. If the election is annulled and set aside for grounds stated in W.S. 22-17-101(a)(ii), (iii) or (v), judgment for costs shall be rendered against the party whose election was contested and in favor of the party contesting the election. If the election is annulled and set aside for the grounds stated in W.S. 22-17-101(a)(i) or (iv), judgment and costs shall be rendered against the county, or in the case of a multi-county district attorney created pursuant to W.S. 9-1-801(a)(i) through (iii) the joint powers board created pursuant to W.S. 9-1-801(a)(ii).". (b) The number of employees hired by the Wyoming livestock board shall be limited to those authorized by legislative appropriation. For the period of July 1, 2007 through June 30, 2008, the maximum number of employees shall be eighteen (18) full-time employees, sixty (60) full-time at-will contract employees and thirty-eight (38) part-time at-will contract employees.

(c) Beginning July 1, 2007, and subject to the prior approval of the department of administration and information's budget office, the Wyoming livestock board is authorized to provide cost-of-living adjustments, salaries, mileage, retirement benefits and other expenses for the brand inspection program so long as the new budget can be fully supported by actual anticipated revenues together with the appropriation provided in subsection (a) of this section.

(d) The Wyoming livestock board shall require and collect daily time sheets from all brand inspectors accurately accounting for the amount of time brand inspectors spend on all duties, including public benefit activities. These activities and percentages shall be reviewed and summarized annually by the department of administration and information budget office."

(b) The board shall adopt an annual fiscal year budget for the brand registration and inspection program. The budget shall include any deficit amount from the prior year and may include an operating reserve not to exceed one (1) year for that portion of the program to be funded by user fees. Based on the budget adopted under this subsection, the board shall set the user fees for all activities under the program at no less than the minimum fees provided for in this chapter. Each fee may be adjusted not more than one (1) time per fiscal year and by not more than twenty percent (20%) in any one (1) fiscal year. Beginning November 1, 2008, the board shall report annually by November 1 to the joint agriculture, public lands and water resources interim committee with respect to the budget adopted and fees set under this subsection.". (a) The department of health shall use the funds appropriated under subsection 3(b) of this act to enter into a contract with the Wyoming survey and analysis center at the University of Wyoming for an evaluation of two (2) pilot projects in the cities of Cheyenne and Casper, Wyoming, that shall be implemented collaboratively by the department of health, the department of family services and the department of corrections to provide a treatment program for mothers addicted to methamphetamine. The contract between the department of health and the Wyoming survey and analysis center shall require, at minimum, the Wyoming survey and analysis center to:

(i) Assist the department of health in the development of requests for proposals;

(ii) Provide on-site technical assistance to develop evaluation protocols appropriate to the program components and the program goals for the targeted treatment population;

(iii) Assist with the development of reporting protocols and forms;

(iv) Conduct an evaluation of the pilot programs specified in this subsection;

(v) Provide technical assistance and guidance in data collection, data interpretation and data driven decision making;

(vi) Develop and submit annual reports in accordance with subsection (b) of this section.

(b) The contract under subsection (a) of this section shall provide that the Wyoming survey and analysis center shall submit reports to the department of health as follows:

(i) An interim report shall be submitted no later than June 30, 2008. The report shall:

(A) Describe implementation efforts and associated outcomes;

(B) Describe successes and challenges;

(C) Describe initial outcomes of clients as compared to a control population.

(ii) A final report shall be submitted no later than June 30, 2009. The report shall provide a description of outcomes and core achievements.

(c) The department of health shall, upon receipt of the reports under subsection (b) of this section, submit the reports and the department's recommendations to the joint appropriations interim committee, the joint labor, health and social services interim committee and the select committee on mental health and substance abuse, if the select committee continues its study of substance abuse issues.

Section 3.

(a) There is appropriated fifty thousand dollars ($50,000.00) from the general fund to the attorney general for the period beginning with the effective date of this act and ending June 30, 2008 for the purposes of section 1 of this act. To the extent funds from this appropriation are available, the attorney general shall reimburse agencies for expenses incurred in providing information required under section 1 of this act. Any agency seeking reimbursement for actual expenses incurred under section 1 of this act shall submit documentation of the expenses prior to April 1, 2008 in a format required by the attorney general. Any funds from the appropriation under this subsection that are unobligated or unencumbered on June 30, 2008 shall revert to the general fund.

(b) There is appropriated from the general fund seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000.00), or as much thereof as necessary, to the department of health, for the period beginning with the effective date of this section and ending June 30, 2009 for the purposes of section 2 of this act. Notwithstanding W.S. 9-2-1008, 9-2-1012(e) and 9-4-207(a), the funds appropriated under this subsection shall not lapse or revert at the end of the biennium ending June 30, 2008, but shall remain in effect until June 30, 2009.". "(k) The commission is authorized to enter into memoranda of understanding with any federal agency or other state's wildlife agency to carry out any provision of this section and Wyoming's wolf management plan, including the use of aerial hunting.

(m) The commission shall promulgate rules and regulations requiring lethal control of wolves harassing, injuring, maiming or killing livestock and for wolves occupying geographic areas where chronic wolf predation occurs. The rules and regulations shall provide that non-lethal control actions will be used if lethal control could cause relisting of wolves under the endangered species act or if requested by the livestock owner or agent.

(n) The commission shall promulgate rules and regulations providing for issuance of annual permits to landowners or livestock owners for removing wolves which are harassing, injuring, maiming or killing livestock or other domesticated animals and for wolves occupying geographic areas where chronic wolf predation occurs. The permits shall be issued as long as there are seven (7) breeding pairs within the state and outside of Yellowstone National Park, Grand Teton National Park and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Memorial Parkway. The rules shall provide for suspending or cancelling permits if further lethal control could cause relisting of wolves under the endangered species act.

LEVEL I FEASIBILITY STUDY - MITIGATION NORTH PLATTE DRAINAGE SYSTEM.

(a) There is appropriated one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000.00) from the budget reserve account to the Wyoming water development office to be expended to conduct feasibility studies specified in this section. Notwithstanding W.S. 9-4-207(a), funds appropriated under this section that are not encumbered or obligated prior to June 30, 2008, shall not revert to the general fund, but shall be used by the office to complete the studies authorized under this section. Level I feasibility funds appropriated under this section shall be used as follows:

(i) To develop a five (5) year plan to mitigate surface/drain water and groundwater replacement requirements required of the state of Wyoming as defined in the modified North Platte River Decree in an area bounded by Whalen Diversion Dam on the west, the Fort Laramie Canal on the South, the Interstate Canal on the North and the Wyoming-Nebraska state line on the east;

(ii) To explore and facilitate the creation of an irrigation district as an alternative for purchasing or otherwise acquiring replacement water as described in paragraph (a)(i) of this section;

(iii) To explore the potential and determine the feasibility of changing points of diversion of the North Platte River and its tributaries to mitigate the state of Wyoming's water replacement obligations as described in modified North Platte decree and paragraph(a)(i) of this section;

(iv) To locate and determine the feasibility of development of non-hydrological sources to mitigate the state of Wyoming's water replacement obligations described by the modified North Platte River decree and by paragraph (a)(i) of this section.

(b) The office shall report its findings to the select water committee prior to November 1, 2007.

(c) Any balance of funds remaining after completion of the level I feasibility study may be used for the acquisition of replacement water as described in paragraph(a)(i) of this section.

(d) As used in this section, "modified North Platte River decree" means the North Platte River decree approved by the United States Supreme Court in Nebraska v. Wyoming, 534 U.S. 40 (2001).". SAMUELSON, CHAIRMAN

Prayer by Reverend Bob Jarrard, First Presbyterian Church.

Majority Floor Leader Simpson moved that bills currently pending before this body in the 59th Wyoming State Legislature, 2007 General Session, be indefinitely postponed.

Minority Floor Leader Martin seconded the motion of the Majority Floor Leader.

Speaker Cohee stated "You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye,' opposed, 'No.' By your vote, the motion has passed the House."

Majority Floor Leader Simpson moved that the Senate be informed that the House of Representatives of the 59th Wyoming State Legislature, General Session is ready to adjourn.

Speaker Cohee: "You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye,' opposed, 'No.' Motion carried. I am directing that House Chief Clerk, Patty Benskin, inform the Senate that the House of Representatives, General Session of the 59th Wyoming State Legislature, is ready to adjourn."

Majority Floor Leader Simpson moved that a committee of two be appointed to inform the Governor that the House is ready to adjourn; and to escort his Excellency, the Governor, to the House.

Speaker Cohee stated: "You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye,' opposed, 'No.' The motion carried. Representative Buchanan and Representative Diercks, please inform the Governor that the House of Representatives is ready to adjourn; please escort His Excellency, the Governor, Dave Freudenthal, to the House Chamber. The House of Representatives will stand at ease until the sound of the gavel."

Speaker Cohee stated "The House will come to order. All rise please."

The Sergeant-at-Arms, Darrell Moore announced His Excellency, the Governor of Wyoming, Dave Freudenthal.

Speaker Cohee welcomed Governor Freudenthal to the House of Representatives.

GOVERNOR DAVE FREUDENTHAL'S 2007 CLOSING REMARKS
59TH GENERAL SESSION

Mr. Speaker, members of the House of Representatives, I thank you for the courtesy afforded me to come and speak to you as you depart the city.

Suffice to say that my joy matches yours upon this occasion. I've heard it said that we're much like family who've been together too long and that I will enjoy seeing you three weeks from now much more than I would enjoy seeing you here in the morning, so I'm delighted that the session has wound down and view it as one that was generally productive.

In the press I've been quoted as referring to this as a workmanlike session and from the press's point of view they decided to twist that as though it were an insult, but for those of us who grew up making our living and doing things with our hands, a workmanlike session is indeed a compliment. I believe it is appropriate that this session is one in which items that had been on the state's agenda for many years were finally addressed, wrapped up and moved forward in one form or another, whether it be the child predator bills, childcare bills or the movement of tourism into a constitutional part of our economic development strategies. These and similar issues have been discussed in this building, in both chambers, as well as by the governor for many years, and this is the year in which many of those have been done - perhaps the most ancient of those having been the open container bill which I'm delighted to look forward to the next session where I won't have to talk about it and you won't have to hear me talk about it. In fact this has been a session in which much of the public's work has been done in a very workmanlike and respectable fashion and one of which I hope you are proud.

I have two concerns that I will leave with you about the session and about going forward and will be talking to you and the public over the summer about them.

One is that we did not address what I believe to be a set of continuing structural questions about funding of items that reoccur each year whether we profile them or not. Among those are how we're going to fund transportation - be it highways or airports, how we're going to fund local governments - be they cities, counties or special districts, how we're going to deal ultimately with the question of community colleges - be it the governance, the mission or the funding - and the fourth being the question of the underlying commitment of this state to continuing its economic development programs.

We have over the past five years now - five sessions that I've been here - we have tended to deal with these on an ad hoc basis. We've made a number of attempts - whether it be from the executive branch or the legislative branch - to come up with some kind of a theory under which we would proceed to finance these items that we know are going to be part of each budget but that we do not have a terribly sound structure for.

I note that the Legislature has adopted in the budget bill an interim committee to deal with the local government funding. I read through all of the items and the data that you're going to gather and would simply say that all of that data exists. Most of us know what that data says, and the real question is, are we prepared to act on it? And the other side of that is, in that action, are we going to end up trusting local governments?

The reason these issues will be more important over the summer and in the next session lies in the other half of what happened while we were all gathered here today, and I say we because this is something that both the House, the Senate and the Governor share responsibility for. That is I just met with the state budget director, whom all of you know, and I will spare you the 45-minute version of this speech and simply tell you that he advises me that in the next budget that I will present to you, based on the actions taken in this legislative session, there will be 246 million dollars in the next biennial budget to fund the actions that we have taken in this supplemental budget.

As you leave here today, the budget that I will present to you will be that much larger. It's not that we're broke. The money's there. It's not that we're in crisis. But, we are in a circumstance where we're reaching that point where the ad hoc treatment of substantial budget items is probably not going to work. We're getting to the point where we need to recognize those as a foundation of the budget, and not an add-on, simply because the amount of operating and ongoing expense is going to leave us with less funding available.

I'm not saying that the programs that have been adopted are bad, nor am I saying that you are at fault or the Senate's at fault. We are all at fault. I have the capacity to veto the bills that you've passed - and you note that I don't exercise that with a great deal of vigor. So I'm not here to suggest somehow a lack of culpability on one branch or the other or one house or the other but simply to try to set the context in which we will meet when we arrive here about a year from now.

For as we wrestle with the next budget, we will find that some of our options are somewhat more limited than they have been in the past. We will find it is necessary as a threshold matter as opposed to an afterthought matter to decide how we're going to handle transportation funding, local governments, community colleges, economic development and a number of items that we each arrive here knowing we're going to fund in some fashion, but we don't put it foremost in our minds in those deliberations.

I've enjoyed the opportunity to work with all of you during these, what's been referred to as the 40 days and 80 nights. I'm particularly thankful that the rooster did not ever end up on the first floor. But, the Senate did try to award that to us. The valiant chief of staff threw his body in front of the door and protected our office, and I'm thankful that that particular part of the Capitol lore of this session remained on the second floor and did not become part of the executive branch responsibilities.

Mr. Speaker, members of the House, I have very much enjoyed the time that we have spent together. I know that from time to time, all of the tempers get short. We all begin to think that no one understands an issue except us. But at end of the day, and we are at the end of the day, we can look back and take comfort that much of what we have done has been in the interests of the citizens, and yet much remains to be done next session.

I look forward to working with you over the summer. I look forward to seeing you in your home county and in your home district, and I appreciate the hospitality that you have always shown to both Nancy and I as we travel. Thank you very much. God bless you. Please drive carefully. It's important that we take care of ourselves and that you be here again next year.

Mr. Speaker, members of the House, thank you very much.

Speaker Cohee thanked Governor Freudenthal for his closing remarks to the House and asked Representative Buchanan and Representative Diercks to please escort His Excellency, the Governor, from the House Chamber.

Majority Floor Leader Simpson moved the following:

1. That the House of Representatives of the 59th Wyoming State Legislature, General Session adjourn until a date and time which are determined jointly by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and by the President of the Senate for the purpose of calling the House and Senate back into session.
2. That if no such time is established before December 31, 2007, the House of Representatives, 59th Wyoming State Legislature, General Session adjourn sine die effective at 10:00 o'clock noon on that date and the Legislative Budget Session convene on the 11th day of February, 2008 at the hour of ten o'clock a.m.

3. That the House of Representatives specifically concurs in any identical motion adopted by the Senate.

4. That if the Senate fails to concur in the action of the House of Representatives under paragraphs 1 through 3 of this motion, by adopting an identical motion applicable to the Senate, the House of Representatives of the 59th Wyoming State Legislature, General Session, shall stand adjourned sine die.

Speaker Cohee stated: "You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye,' opposed, 'No,' By your vote, the motion has passed the House.

We are now at that order of business, Reading, and Approval of the Journal.

Representative Teeters reported from the Journal Committee that the Journal of March 1, 2007, has been read and recommends that it be approved. The report was adopted.

Speaker Cohee stated, "There being no objection, the report is adopted."

"Subject to the conditions set forth in Majority Floor Leader Simpson's motion, the House of Representatives of the 59th Wyoming State Legislature, General Session, is adjourned and shall again convene on the 11th day of February, 2008, at the hour of ten o'clock a.m."

Benediction was given by Representative Brechtel

The House is adjourned.

Patricia L. Benskin
House Chief Clerk
