FIRST DAY
GENERAL SESSION OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES
SIXTY FIRST STATE LEGISLATURE
JANUARY 11, 2011

House Chamber

At 12:00 p.m., the House Sergeant-at-Arms introduced the following honored guests and their escorts.

The Honorable Pat Arp, Deputy Secretary of State, escorted by Representatives Bonner and Byrd.

The Honorable Max Maxfield, Secretary of State escorted by Representatives McOmie and Craft.

Secretary of State, Max Maxfield called the House to order and Sergeant of Arms Darrell Moore announced the Honorable Michael Golden, Justice of the Wyoming Supreme Court escorted by Representatives Patton and Connolly.

The Central High School ROTC posted the colors, followed by the Pledge of Allegiance by the body.

The prayer was given by Reverend David Anderson, of North Hills Baptist Church, Lingle, Wyoming.

Deputy Secretary of State Pat Arp called the roll of the elected House Members.

OPENING ADDRESS BY SECRETARY OF STATE
MAX MAXFIELD

The opportunity to open Wyoming's Legislative sessions is one of the high points in the privileges I enjoy as your Secretary of State.

I can feel the excitement as our Legislature sets out to work to continue to make Wyoming the greatest state to live in and do business in.

I applaud Governor Mead for his comments during his inauguration, acknowledging the elected officials represent ALL Wyomingites.

I am the not the Republican Secretary of State. I represent all Wyomingites and my office is available to all Wyomingites.

Regardless of numbers, Wyoming has a two party system; we should honor that.

But, when we are discussing what's best for Wyoming, party should not matter. Let's use this period of time, NOT to fracture and become Republicans vs. Democrats or factions within our parties, but rather let's use this time to unite around our common goals.

There is much we all want for Wyoming and there is much that the public expects from all of us. I suggest that the elected officials and this body unite around our common goals.

There will be differences; differences among us and differences between us. But when we disagree, let's remember CIVILITY. Let's disagree agreeably. For many of you in this body today, serving the legislature is a new experience. You will find this experience among the most unique and meaningful chapters of your lives. You will make lifelong friends on both sides of the aisle and learn more about Wyoming.

Auditor Cloud spoke at your caucuses about a time that the Democrats and Republicans were so divided they would not even have their pictures taken together.

I think the portraits tell another story. Sometimes we think the legislative or the elective offices would come to a screeching halt if we were not here. Look at the number of folks who held our seats before us, and the room in the frames for the many that will come after us.

Each of us is important today, but let's remember the extent of, and the limits of, that importance.

You are surrounded by experience. Take advantage of that. Look to, and listen to, the more senior members in this body.

I want you to know, new legislators and experienced alike, that I, and my staff, stand ready to support and assist you. I am fortunate that I have some of the most experienced staff in state government. Combined they have many years of history and insight.

Godspeed... for a positive and productive session where, on the final day, we can say the state of Wyoming is a better place because we were here.

God bless you and God Bless America.

ELECTION OF TEMPORARY SPEAKER

Representative Petersen nominated Representative Semlek for Temporary Speaker. The motion carried on a voice vote, Representatives Quarberg and Davison escorted Temporary Speaker Semlek to the chair.

Representative Pedersen nominated Patricia Benskin as Temporary Chief Clerk. The motion carried by voice vote.

CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE APPOINTMENT

Representative Semlek appointed Representative Stubson to serve as chairman of a credentials committee consisting of Representatives Brechtel, Moniz, Barbuto and Throne. The committee will convene in the office of the Majority Floor Leader. This committee shall report its findings as to the credentials of the membership of the House pursuant to Article 3, Section 10, of the Wyoming Constitution.

CREDENTIALS COMMITTEE REPORT

Representative Stubson: The Credentials Committee has received from the Secretary of State a certified list of the members elected to the House of Representatives of the Sixty-first Legislature of the State of Wyoming, according to the Certificates of the State Canvassing Board as filed in the office of the Secretary of State. We have reviewed that list and find it to be accurate. I move adoption of this report. Justice Golden was asked to come to the rostrum to administer the oaths of office to House members.

STATE OF WYOMING
OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

I, Max Maxfield, Secretary of the State of Wyoming, do hereby certify that the attached is a full, true and correct list of the members of the Sixty first Legislature of the State of Wyoming, duly elected at the General Election held on the second day of November, 2010, according to the Certificates of the State Canvassing Board as filed in this office.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Wyoming. Done at Cheyenne, the Capital, this seventeenth day of December A.D., 2010.

ADDRESS BY THE SPEAKER

Mr. Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Speaker Pro Tem, Mr. Majority Whip, Mr. Minority Leader, Madame Minority Whip, fellow legislators of the 61st Wyoming Legislature, distinguished guests, ladies and gentlemen, citizens of the state of Wyoming.

It is an honor and privilege to stand before you today as your Speaker. You have vested your trust and confidence in me and to that honor I pledge my very best.

It is indeed wonderful to be in the presence of my family, friends and colleagues. I feel truly blessed and deeply honored. Thank you, each of you, for the parts you played in this day and for the love, friendship and support you've offered to me. And to my colleagues in the house, it's been my privilege to serve alongside this distinguished group of individuals, each of whom cares deeply for the state of Wyoming and her people. Finally, to the people of Goshen county; thank you for your trust in me and giving me the privilege to represent you in this great institution.

As we look toward a new year and a new session, I am boldly confident that now is a great time to be in Wyoming. We are the fortunate ones. Wyoming has a balanced budget, a respectable amount of money in savings, a relatively low unemployment rate, a favorable business climate, excellent educational opportunities, and beautiful geography. One need only glance outside our borders to know we are blessed.

Fortunately, leaders in Wyoming over the past decades have applied a conservative hand, which over time has brought an element of insulation from the boom and bust cycles and a brighter economic future in this state. Now, as the economies of other states and our nation continue to falter, Wyoming emerges head and shoulders above all. As I travel around the country each year I meet scores of people who ask, "So how is Wyoming's budget?" When I tell them, they universally are impressed and lament that they wish their state and federal government managed money like we do. I tell them we are constitutionally required to balance our budget. And how we were proactive in budget cuts before it was absolutely necessary. And I describe our ability to accomplish this in one word: LEADERSHIP.

Leadership is as essential in good times as it is in bad. It is as important now as it was when the constitutional convention convened in Cheyenne 121 years ago. Look around this capitol at the pictures of leaders who have walked these halls and stood where we stand. Think about the tough times they endured, the conveniences they didn't have, and the fortitude they applied during the framing of Wyoming. Our state's rich history demonstrates those leaders did not back away from the issues before them. Instead, they poured on the coal, heated the metal and continued to hammer out the shape of our great state.

Someday, 2011 will be in the history books, and our photos will be contained in another of the frames that line these halls. What will be remembered of us? What will we have done to contribute to the shape of Wyoming? My friends, this is our time.

As your newly elected speaker, I pledge to you that we will lead. We will not shy away from the issues. We will embrace the tasks before us, make the tough decisions, endure rigorous debate and advance our society to the benefit of our prosperity. We must. This is our commission from those who elected us, and our mandate from those who came before.

Now, as is characteristic of a general session, many issues are lined up for consideration by this body and several are on the forefront:

The Budget

As we stand here today, we are 6 months in to the biennial budget we passed a year ago. I want to remind the body that it was designed for just that; to sustain ourselves for two years. It wasn't long ago, about a year and a half, when we were seriously concerned about our fiscal situation. For those new to the body, we were approaching the end of the session with declining commodity prices and were anxiously, not eagerly, awaiting our latest revenue forecasts. We took bold steps to hedge against a serious decline, to include siphoning off statutory flows to the PMTF, placing the revenue stream in a holding account and making 10% across the board cuts. Today, commodity prices have stabilized, but three facts bear mentioning; first our positive financial position today is largely due to those budget cuts. Second, we actually had more money at our disposal than we do today. And, finally, while we do have some liquid savings, any other surpluses you hear about are simply projections. And, at this point, are projections that are nearly two years out, all of this is simply to say remember that we have a two-year budget that has already been passed, we are only six months into it and supplemental budget requests should, therefore be carefully scrutinized. There's no amount of money government can't spend. Let us be disciplined in this regard.

The Wolf

When it comes to the issue of wolf management, I believe Wyoming must stay the course and not capitulate by expansion of the trophy game area or wolf numbers in general. I believe recent developments in our litigation efforts provide wholly defensible reasons for Wyoming to stay the course with our lawsuit against the federal government. A comparison of the issues in the respective federal district courts gives us reason to believe we are well-poised for any appellate action in the 10th Circuit Court of Appeals and that we can avoid fallout from any decision made in the 9th circuit. We are in a position of strength at this time, have acted in good faith, and have come too far to give up now.

Wind/Energy Development

As developers continue to tap into our plentiful supply of wind, now is the time for the legislature to develop fair, predictable and consistent tax policy recognizing the value of Wyoming's natural resources and the significant impacts of these developments on local communities and their infrastructure.

We must also be very careful when going about the business of eminent domain. I encourage support for bills that make the export of electricity feasible and that also provide protection and fair compensation for landowners.

I also support establishing wind as a property right that is inseverable from the surface estate.

In addition, there is a need to take a realistic look at the growth in the southeastern part of the state which will likely result from the significant increase in oil exploration. While this is good news for Wyoming's coffers, we have to realize the impacts of these developments on local infrastructure. We would be wise to anticipate this impact and plan accordingly.

Speaking of local infrastructure, we will debate supplemental appropriations for local governments contained in the governor's budget. However, we need to carefully scrutinize proposals for earmarked funding. I am not sure that taking one half of the one percent of the statutory flow to the PMTF or appropriating monies from the "SPRA" is the best way to approach. I believe we should have a deep policy discussion on severance tax flows in general as they relate to local governments. Of course this means that ultimately the general fund and budget reserve account would take the hit which would reduce funding for other areas. Hence the need for serious fiscal policy discussions on this topic.

Education

Now, turning to education, much has been said about improvement, but not all of it has been recent. Since 2009, we have attempted to highlight the need for some changes in education. We saw the call for reform and improvement in the recent election. Universally, we all see the need for improvement but for two years we have done virtually nothing on accountability and improvement. It is my intention to ensure we earnestly begin to address these issues.

To that end, one of the bills we will consider is the Educational Accountability Act, but could be more aptly named the Education Improvement Initiative. In my remarks at this very podium in 2008, I asked the following questions, and they bear repeating as we still have yet to answer them.

Why did 36% of Hathaway recipients lose their scholarship once they got to college?

Why do 31% of students entering the state's university and community colleges need remedial math courses? 36% needed remedial English.

Why does Wyoming continue to maintain an unacceptably low graduation rate of 75%?

Why do some districts use money allocated by the funding model for smaller classroom sizes for other areas when their performance clearly needs improvement?

Wyoming has more potential than any state in America, to produce the best, highest achieving students in the nation.

The courts have mandated the legislature allocate the resources we currently direct toward education and we have dutifully followed that mandate. We spend over a billion dollars per year for K-12. For comparison, our state budget for 2 years is about $3 billion. In fact, we had the resources to do it. However, if performance doesn't match the expenditure, it makes no sense to continue to over-fund the model by $100 million in this year's recalibration legislation.

Let's be clear. This accountability applies across the board. And it starts right here, right now with us, as legislators. Beyond that, school boards, superintendents, principals, teachers and parents share this responsibility. This is not about singling out any one group, as some might claim. Instead, we are shoring up the system as a whole so that money being spent is justified by results. Only then will we see a return on our investment.

A portion of the education legislation coming during the session will look at collaborative process by which design teams work to improve the system. Those districts currently spending money without using best practices and resource-based positions will be scrutinized. We will also look for quick, accurate testing which provides a clear measurement of student growth.

The issue of teacher tenure will also be reviewed and if anyone doubts our support and commitment to teachers, one only need to look at the money allocated for increased teacher salaries over the past decade, making teacher pay in Wyoming among the highest in the country.

At the end of the day, there's little more important to our economy and our future than a well-educated workforce which creates jobs and provides services essential to our quality of life here in Wyoming. We must succeed.

These issues must be addressed. It is not an easy task for a myriad of reasons, however, we must succeed. Our children's' future depends on it. As we move through this legislation, I encourage everyone involved to offer positive solutions-based input rather than oppositional rhetoric. The legislation before you attempts to produce actual, quantifiable solutions and above all, better learning experiences for all of Wyoming's students. That is the only acceptable outcome and we will not shy away from reaching it.

Social Issues

Although many social topics will be debated this session, a couple of them merit special mention in this address. First, is the rate of divorce in Wyoming. Wyoming has the third highest divorce rate in the nation. As a result, Wyoming has too many children living at or below poverty level. State government has come up with many programs to help these families and children after they fall prey to divorce. But what if we could keep more children in homes with married parents?

After extensive research of similar laws in other states, I will bring forward a bill which would require premarital counseling before a marriage license would be issued in Wyoming. Those who do not wish to attend counseling would be required to undergo a waiting period before getting married. Similarly, for existing marriages, we will look at legislation which would allow the court to order marital counseling to see if a reconciliation may be reached. Those who are ordered but do not attend a divorce attend counseling would have a waiting period before a divorce would be granted. For those cases in which extreme or dangerous circumstances exist, at the court's discretion, the counseling requirement will be waived. Yes, there are irreconcilable relationships, but many could be salvaged if it weren't so easy to jump in and out of marriage. The state bears the sizable economic burden of these failed relationships, so it stands to reason that we reinforce the importance of thoughtful decisions upon entering or exiting a marriage. For those who believe that is not the role of government, I would point out two things: first, that in cases where this law would apply, the people involved have already voluntarily submitted themselves to government involvement through the use of the court system and second, we pay an enormous debt to take care of single parents and their children after the fact. It is time to look for innovative solutions on the front end to address this problem.

The other topic I briefly wanted to touch on is domestic violence. I support legislation this session that will strengthen our domestic violence laws with regard to enhanced penalties. No longer should abusers have the ability to avoid harsh sentences simply because 5 or 10 years has passed between their convictions. One conviction should be more than enough notice that subsequent acts will not be treated lightly. There is no excuse for it and it is time to change this law.

As Wyoming joins the fight against encroachment of the federal health care changes, the legislature will look at several issues relating to the same.

We will debate legislation that utilizes a grant program to establish more community-based health care facilities with the goal of attracting more health care providers to the state.

As for the health care pilot project, you will see efforts to expand this program. I only ask that you carefully examine whether it is prudent to do so at this time. This legislation passed only a year ago as a pilot project and had elements designed to test feasibility of preventative care through a health savings account type of program. I believe we must allow the initial design time to be tested before expanding the program further and I look forward to a detailed discussion on that front.

Finally, it is imperative that we continue our resistance to the over-reaching power of the federal government. A tough, but sensible stance can go a long way toward strengthening our tenth amendment rights. You will see legislation to establish a litigation fund to support these efforts through legal action when deemed appropriate and necessary as well as resolutions asserting our sovereignty and I would encourage your support of these measures.

Wyoming truly is the greatest state in the United States of America. This last year, I climbed Laramie Peak and took in the awe inspiring panorama of the great plains rolling up to meet the Rocky Mountains. And just last month, I returned, via snowmobile, to the majestic beauty of winter in the Big Horns, along the way always finding those friendly hellos and that warm hospitality which is so common in Wyoming it almost goes unnoticed.

So let's remind ourselves often, we in Wyoming truly are the fortunate ones. You are here in this room today because you love and care for Wyoming and her people. I welcome each of you to engage with me in the process as we fuel the fire, heat the metal and continue to shape the future of Wyoming.

ELECTION OF MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER

Representative Brown nominated Representative Tom Lubnau as Majority Floor Leader for the 61st Legislature. Representative Teeters seconded the nomination of Representative Lubnau and moved that his election be made unanimous dispensing with the roll call.

The motion carried. Mr. Speaker appointed Representatives Kasperik and Wallis to escort Representative Lubnau to the rostrum. Justice Golden administered the oath of office.

REMARKS BY MAJORITY FLOOR LEADER

Mr. Speaker, Mr. Minority Leader, Mr. Speaker Pro Tem, Mr. Majority Whip, Madame Minority Whip, Mr. Minority Caucus Leaders, Brothers and Sisters of the 61st Wyoming Legislature, family members, friends and guests.

Thank you for the honor and privilege of standing before you as your Majority Floor Leader. With great humility and gratitude, let me recognize those who sacrificed much for me to have the opportunity to be here.

To the armed forces of this country, serving at great risk, to make our freedom a reality possible. Thank you from each one of us. On a professional note, thanks to my law firm colleagues who make it possible for my business to continue while I'm here. And clearly, and I know each of you has loved ones who do the same for you - thanks to my family who sacrifices every day for me to be here. My wonderful wife Rita, my son Thomas, and my sister Kate.

For six months last year, each and every member of this House campaigned for office. We knocked on doors, we rode in parades, we handed out literature, we appeared in public events and served hot dogs at barbeques. We provided every citizen an opportunity to meet, greet and help guide the operations of Wyoming's government.

Most of all, we listened. We listened to the cares, the concerns and the dreams of the people of the State of Wyoming. And as a result, this body is truly a mirror of the thoughts, views and aspirations of the people of Wyoming.

Looking into that mirror, an underlying theme to the wishes of the people of the great State of Wyoming has come crystal clear.

Lay claim to our future. Lay claim to Wyoming people's unique future. Lay claim to Wyoming people's better future. The first area where we can lay claim to our stronger future is jobs and the economy.

Wyoming supplies 10.6 quadrillion btu's of energy to the US economy per year. That's more than Canada and Mexico. It is more than Saudi Arabia, Nigeria, Iraq and Venezuela combined. We must continue to support our extractive industries, while looking for value added opportunities.

We must also look for ways - vote for ways - to diversify and strengthen our economy. This session, we will be hearing bills that take advantage of our business friendly climate, our energy economy and our cold weather to expand our technology sector. Those bills merit our serious consideration.

The second area in which we can lay claim to Wyoming people's better future is education. The message of the people of Wyoming have sent with us to Cheyenne is business as usual in education is unacceptable.

When American children rank 25th in the world on math tests, the people of Wyoming are frustrated. When 15% of our Hathaway merit students require remedial education, our people are frustrated.

When underwhelming percentages of our children graduate from high school, our people are frustrated.

We know we have the core of the finest educational system in the world in Wyoming. We have the finest teachers and we have spent over a billion dollars on facilities over the last couple of years. We have the quality personnel in place, we have the infrastructure in place, and we have the motivation.

We need to listen to our educational professionals to remove the excuses for our mediocre performance, and dedicate our efforts to an education system that provides our children the best opportunity to the brightest future.

But, a note to the families in Wyoming:

Schools are not primarily responsible for the education of our children. Parents are.

If you want educational results, turn off the TV, set aside their Xbox, put down your newspaper, and sit down with your child in a text-free/FB free moment and talk about their homework.

The third area in which we have the opportunity to lay claim to the future is to remove all of the government impediments to freedom.

Those impediments come in over-regulation, taxation and unresponsive government. Wyoming is a state whose citizens take pride in individual responsibility. Wyoming is not this way it is by accident.

Our open ranges, our wildlife, our low taxes, our low crime environment and our successful economy - and budget in the BLACK - are a result of carefully considered policy decisions of our political predecessors.

We need to make sure we only place into statute those rules and laws that are necessary. We must continually evaluate and eliminate those regulations and programs that do not meet our goals. We must maintain our favorable tax climate. And, as were many wise legislators before us - as we act, let us be proactive, rather than just be reactive.

Finally, we have seen a new tide of federalism, which is a reaction to an unresponsive and irresponsible federal government.

The people of Wyoming are growing weary of a federal government that over-regulates, over-spends, under-listens and under-performs.

And this session, we will see legislation asking the State of Wyoming to exert its state's rights, so that when people deal with a government entity, it is a responsible and responsive government, not one shielded behind layer after layer of bureaucratic red tape.

I urge serious consideration of these state's rights measures. We have been called together at this time in history - with our unique Wyoming mandate, for a reason.

Our country is wandering in the wilderness of confusion, we are not. Our resolve is being tested; we are standing firm. We have all the tools at our disposal - the resources, the fiscally conservative policy, and the know-how. If we are careful, and most importantly, if we are wise - if our vision is based on our core principles - then we can lead, not only this state, but this country into a bright and prosperous future.

Thank you for the opportunity to serve you. God bless you and God bless the state of Wyoming.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEM

Representative Harvey nominated Representative Keith Gingery as Speaker Pro Tem for the 61st Legislature. Representative Miller seconded the nomination and moved that his election be made unanimous dispensing with the roll call.

The motion carried. The Speaker appointed Representatives Roscoe and Petroff to escort Representative Gingery to the rostrum. Justice Golden administered the oath of office.

REMARKS BY SPEAKER PRO TEM

Mr. Speaker, Justice Golden, Mr. Secretary of State, Madam Deputy Secretary of State, Members of the Majority and Minority Leadership. Members of the 61st.

It is great to see so many returning faces and wonderful to see so many new faces. To the new legislators, there are two main questions I would urge you to ask yourselves.

What does it mean to be a legislator? And how do I know if I am being successful as a legislator.

As to the first question, being a legislator is about relationships. It is that relationship between you and your constituents. It is a relationship between you and your fellow legislators. It is understanding that the person you may be strongly debating against on one bill, that the very next bill, they will be your ally. It is a relationship between you and the people of the State of Wyoming, beyond your own constituency in your district. It is understanding that sometimes you need to look to the needs of the whole state and not just your parochial interests. You will work to build these relationships. To build trust.

It is also about empathy. The ability to place yourself into the shoes of others and understand their needs, their struggles, their aspirations and their successes.

As to the second question, how do I know if I am being successful as a legislator? I would urge you to create your own yardstick. Determine what to measure your success against. Each of us are different, and so the criteria by which we measure is different. For my yardstick it is to measure if I have improved the lives of my friends and neighbors. Will this bill assist with a need, or a struggle, an aspiration. And in many situations, the means by which I measure that same criteria is to actually vote no on a bill. There are many bills that may improve our lives, but the cost financially or through the loss of our liberty, may outweigh the benefit. I would urge you create your own yardstick to measure your effectiveness.

I did have one matter of business I wanted to address. Last year, Justice Voigt was Chief Justice at that time, appeared before us for his State of the Judiciary speech. Justice Voigt said "the civil jury trial system is broken." He went further and stated "What good is a right to trial by jury if no one can afford a jury trial and it takes three years to get in front of jury? What good are rules of procedure and discovery if they turn a simple divorce case into a financial and psychological nightmare? Why are mediation and arbitration so popular? Why would anyone prefer to get his justice from some tribunal held in the back room of a Holiday Inn rather than from the courts? Because we are too slow and we are too expensive."

I point out this issue only because I do not wish for us, as the Legislative branch, to lose sight of the struggles of one our sister branches of government. Many of the laws we are passing, make no sense, if there is not a viable tribunal to enforce the rule of law. On the positive side, Chief Justice Kite, upon taking office as the new Chief Justice has clearly heeded this call from Justice Voigt and has taken up the torch. She is working diligently toward tackling this issue by working internally within the courts and by partnering with the legislative and executive branches to obtain our assistance. It will take a few years to fix this issue, but I am confident of solutions being formulated.

On a further note in regards to the Judicial branch. The Judiciary has been communicating quite effectively with the Legislative branch through the use of concurrence opinions in recent cases coming out of the Supreme Court. From the Trade Secrets Act dealing with intellectual property to indecent liberties and the sexual abuse of minors, the court has effectively communicated with the Legislative branch urging changes to the law, rather than legislating from the bench. I find this open, public and transparent communication enlightening and effective. Which leads me to my last point.

Recently a case came out of the Wyoming Supreme Court regarding a traffic law. The law uses language that is ambiguous and is widely open to interpretation by the courts. The judges across the state have interpreted this particular statute differently. The Supreme Court was correct to point out in a footnote that the Legislature should fix the language of the statute. And there is a bill this session to deal with that issue. But, the point is that we need to understand that the words do mean something. As the former Chairman of Judiciary, members of my committee remember well, that we would work the bill and then we would work the bill again. And then after we had worked the bill again, we would work it a third time. We strove to make sure that any bill coming to the floor from our committee, did not need further work. We had ensured that the proper wording was being used and that the law was clear and concise, and not open to multiple interpretations. I urge all of us to work the bills. And once you work the bill, work it again.

Lastly, advice from my 5 year old daughter. When you do not get everything in your bill. And maybe someone has amended portions out or changed it in some manner that upsets you. As Alexandra would say "You get what you get and you don't throw a fit."

Thank you, now let's get to work.

REMARKS BY THE MINORITY WHIP

Representative Throne: Thank you Mr. Speaker. To Mr. Secretary of State and Madame Deputy Secretary of State. Thank you for being here and for your dedicated service to Wyoming. Mr. Speaker, Mr. Majority Floor Leader, Mr. Speaker Pro-Tempore, Mr. Minority Caucus Chair, members of the House of Representatives of the 61st legislature, honored guests, friends and family of the House:

I am pleased to have this opportunity to speak to you today on behalf of the Minority, pinch hitting for our courageous and able Minority Floor Leader, Representative Pat Goggles. I want to extend a special welcome to our large and energetic class of new members. I also want to thank my family, Kevin, Michael, Tarver and Patrick for being here and for their sacrifices that allow me to do this work I love.

As a Cheyenne legislator, I often come to this glorious chamber when it is completely empty and except for our ever-present and faithful LSO staff, the second floor of the Capitol is quiet. It is a much different scene that it is today. During most of the year the House reminds me of an empty theater, after the curtain has come down, the lights have dimmed and the cast has gone home. Then, from a few weeks before the session until this Opening Ceremony, there is a gradually increasing buzz of activity. Our session staff comes on board to set the stage, this Chamber, for what will unfold over the next several weeks. Last of all we arrive, the Members of the 61st all leading characters in the action to come.

Of course, the script of the 61st is not yet written. Will it be a drama? Perhaps, even an epic? Past experience tells me, there will thankfully be some comedy. Whatever transpires, I am confident we will not mimic the worst of reality television.

The plot of this general session is anyone's guess. At this point, it appears a couple of issues are likely to dominate our debate - healthcare and education.

Healthcare is a troublesome and emotional issue. When considering policy options during this session, we should constantly question whether our action will make healthcare more affordable and accessible to Wyoming citizens. Thousands of our fellow citizens are uninsured, many are one medical emergency from bankruptcy or loss of a home and our hospitals routinely incur millions in uncompensated care. Ever-present healthcare cost increases pose a long-term risk to our rosy fiscal picture. If the policy choices in the coming days will not address our pressing healthcare needs, perhaps they should not be in law.

Education is personal for me and important to all of us. As many of you know, I am passionate about this topic - sometimes too passionate - because I am a mother with three children in our K-12 system. Every year of our children's education is precious and crucial to their future. This reality makes me impatient and cautious at the same time. On the impatient side-the current statewide assessment, known as PAWS, costs more than it is worth both in dollars and lost classroom time. There is no need to wait to fix it or to do more than the bare minimum required by federal law. No Child Left Behind has been a disaster for our schools and it is contrary to everything we believe in Wyoming to wait for Washington fix the mess. On the cautious side, there are many new ideas in draft and filed bills. All merit discussion. But before we rush to do something to "improve" education, let us borrow a guiding principle from our friends in the medical community: "First, do no harm." Many of the education reforms of the last decade have been done with the best intentions. Many, like No Child Left Behind, have done more harm than good.

Whatever issues make it into the script of the 61st, we know with certainty there will be little, if any partisan bickering. I have grown tired of the constant speculation since the election that this legislature will be dramatically different due to the overwhelming membership of one party and that the rest of us will be rendered irrelevant. We have no fear we will be treated unfairly by any of our colleagues in the majority, especially the fine gentlemen assuming leadership today. In public and private comments, all of us have committed to use our collective talents to work together, as we historically have, to strive to do what makes sense for the State of Wyoming. Today we have all officially become members of the 61st, individual legislators each duly elected to serve our constituents. We have taken the same oath of office to uphold the Wyoming and United States' constitutions. We are all united in our common purpose to promote the best interests of the people of Wyoming.

Whether we hail from the Big Horns in the north, the mountains of the west, the Black Hills of the northeast, somewhere along the Union Pacific line, energy counties or non-energy counties, the center of the state or the plains of the east, we share common Wyoming values. We share a love of our wide open spaces and a desire to keep our air clean and our water pure. We all understand that in Wyoming neighbor is a verb, as well as a noun. We are all grateful for the natural resources which provide our state with abundant wealth. However, we are always mindful of our need to invest for a future when minerals may no longer provide our revenue. We all agree our people will always be our greatest natural resource. We are all opposed to Washington solutions that do not work in Wyoming. We are all skeptical of over-reliance on government solutions and careful before we spend one tax dollar. Yet, we know we must have regulations to safeguard our precious environment and programs to provide a safety net for the most vulnerable among us. Above all, we share respect for each other and respect for all the institutions of our democracy, including this one.

STATE OF THE STATE
GOVERNOR MATT MEAD

JANUARY 12, 2011

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, members of the 61st Wyoming Legislature, fellow elected officials, Chief Justice and members of the Judiciary, and to you, the citizens of Wyoming, including those in our schools and our troops abroad who may be tuning in today by means of various media.

Good Morning,

Today for the first time we have live internet video feed. Connectivity is important for our state, including the opportunity for our citizens to see our legislative process at work.

The opening prayer, I thought, was an appropriate reflection upon which to begin these proceedings. It was a fitting and lovely prayer.

Our thoughts and prayers go out today to all the victims of the tragic shootings in Tucson, Arizona last weekend. There is no place for such violence in our democracy. It was a despicable act. I ask for a moment of silence for the victims and their families.

Sworn in last week as our state's 32nd Governor, I have the privilege this week of delivering my first State of the State address.

This is a commencement - the start of a process. More important are the actions that will follow it, for I plan to move forward with the platform I campaigned on last year.

At the heart of that platform are the following priorities: Jobs and the economy, connectivity, infrastructure, assisting cities, towns and counties, streamlining government, education and dealing with federal issues on matters vitally important to our state. I'll talk about each of these areas today, because they will be the focus of my efforts.

Before I begin my remarks, there are a few preliminary matters I'd like to cover. First of all, I will take some time and the privilege, I guess, to tell that today is a special day. Today, 11 years ago, my son Pete was born. Today is his birthday.

So son, happy birthday. We are very proud of you, Pete.

And Mary, we are very proud of you. You were just great this last year.

I want to tell you that Pete is a smart young boy. I would not be surprised - he seems to have a tendency towards the legal field. As an example of this, a couple days ago, he was telling me, "Hey Dad, you know what happens when I get in trouble with my teacher?" And I said, "what's that?" He said, "I take the sixth amendment." I said "Pete, you mean you take the fifth amendment?" He said "That too." I'm not sure he'll be a prosecutor. That sounds more like a criminal defense attorney to me.

My wife Carol, it is so nice to have you here. Thank you for all the support you've given me over the last year.

Carol is a great reviewer of speeches, and before I give a speech, I always want her eyes to look at it. So I was pleased this morning, we've had a lot of late nights and not a lot of sleep the last couple of weeks, and so I pleased this morning as I got her up and she took her first look at my comments today that she said, "Hey, you know, I just got a few brief suggestions," which was rare, because usually it's a few whole lot of suggestions and she said, "first of all, because this is a process where you're getting involved in where there's compromise and deals struck, perhaps, because you've not got a lot of sleep lately and because I read your speech, you should say, listen, have them agree if they don't fall asleep during your speech, you won't fall asleep either." But before I would agree to do that, you should also know that her really serious comment was "I think you should start the first line starting with "In conclusion.'" So those are her views.

I want to thank - starting out, I want to thank Governor Freudenthal and his staff for working with me and my staff to make such a smooth transition. It really worked extremely well. I think it's appropriate to thank Governor Freudenthal and Judge Freudenthal for their eight years of excellent service to Wyoming.

Governor Freudenthal called me on the phone this morning, and I wasn't sure if it was to give me last-minute advice or last-minute grief, but I did get something from him and he was very kind in his comments.

I also want to thank the legislature, my fellow elected officials: Max Maxfield, Cynthia Cloud, Joe Meyer and Cindy Hill, and the people in their offices, and all who have extended courtesy and cooperation this past week. They provided great welcome to me.

I also want to congratulate again the 24 new legislators who won election and have taken up their place for the first time in these wonderful chambers. new members bring many good ideas and fresh constituent views, and I'm pleased to be starting out with you.

I also have some people that I'd like to recognize. Eastern Shoshone Business Council member Willie Noseep, Northern Arapaho Business Councilman Jim Shakespeare and Lydell Whiteplume are here today. I worked with the Tribal Business Councils often when I was U.S. Attorney, and now I greet you in a different capacity, as Wyoming's governor, Welcome.

Major General Ed Wright, the Adjutant General of the Wyoming National Guard is in the gallery today. General Wright has had a long, distinguished military career. He has served as Adjutant General since 2003. General

Wright's entire tenure as Adjutant General was served in wartime. It included more than 20 Wyoming National Guard deployments, which involved more than 4500 soldiers and airmen.

Additionally, during his term, Camp Guernsey has become a state-of-the-art facility, training roughly 900,000 military from around the state, from around the country and from around the world.

He will be retiring in March, and we recognize him today for his distinguished service to our state and to our country. Thank you, General Wright.

Also in the gallery today is Lt. Colonel Bruce Row, 187th Airlift Wing Commander. Lt. Rowe led 200 personnel on the most recent Wyoming Air National Guard deployment in Afghanistan. Those airmen returned home in December. Colonel Rowe was deployed six times since September 11, 2001. Welcome, Colonel Rowe.

Major Dane Rogers, C Company, Fifth Battalion, 159th General Air Support Aviation Regiment, is also in the gallery. He is the deployed unit commander for "Charlie Med," our medivac helicopter unit, the most deployed unit in the Wyoming Air National Guard.

Major Rodgers and the Army National Guard soldiers under his command will leave for a one-year mission to Afghanistan tomorrow. This will be his fourth deployment. Please join me on safe journeys and welcome home in one year. Thank you, Sir.

I want to recognize and thank all of our members for their service. It means so much to our state and our country.

I specifically want to mention our appreciation to the military personnel serving far away from their homes. Words do not do justice to the sacrifice you're making. The sacrifice of the brave men and women of the military and their families allows us to be safe, and we are grateful. They support us, and we send our thanks today and every day.

Please join me in applauding the fine men and women who are serving or who have served in our nation's Armed Forces.

I want to recognize the achievements of our fine teachers and students from around the state. One teacher from each of the state's 48 school districts receives a Teacher of the Year award, and from that group a panel of parents, teachers and legislators selects the statewide Teacher of the Year.

We have with us the teacher selected last fall to receive this year's award. Please welcome Laurie Graves. Laurie teaches third grade at Big Horn Elementary School, and she is the 2011 Wyoming Teacher of the Year.

Laurie, you represent all the fine teachers we have in Wyoming, and I thank you for being here and for your excellence in the classroom.

We have a couple of our outstanding students with us. James Wilson is nine years old. He is an award-winning pianist from the UW Lab School in Laramie. James won his division of the Asian-American Music Society's 2010 International Competition and performed at the Kennedy Center in Washington, D.C. in December, and I will tell you that if you haven't done it, you should get on and watch that clip, because banging the 88's doesn't describe what this young man can do. It's amazing. So thank you very much.

Taylor Ballick is with us today. He is Wyoming's spelling bee champion for 2010. Taylor is from Clear Creek Middle School in Buffalo. Taylor represented Wyoming in the National Spelling Bee last spring. My staff advised me to use the word that he won the competition on. I could not spell it, let alone say it. So just say it was very difficult, and we congratulate you.

You both represent all of the many accomplished students attending school in Wyoming. We are proud of you both and expect great things from you in the future.

We have our state's emerging leaders. Mark and Susan Kupke are here from Lusk. Kerry Mahanovich is here from Pinedale. These folks are representatives of those honored in 2010 for the 20 people under 40 program. They are business leaders and they're community leaders. These are enterprising individuals, and they are blazing trails into the future. So we also welcome you both.

When you look at people of distinction in Wyoming, and those mentioned today represent a few of many, many such people, we recognize the state of the state is very good. Wyoming's future is in capable hands.

Beyond the people quotient, taking a look at the big picture, I will make a few general observations here. While some states face significant budget shortfalls, our state does not. The latest CREG information projects approximately 275 million available to the general fund/budget reserve account due to higher energy prices, sales tax and improving employment. Some states have lost population for one reason or another. We have not. We have seen a population growth just slightly over 14 percent over the last decade.

The nation as a whole continues to face high unemployment. We do not. Wyoming started 2010 with an unemployment rate over 7 percent, but the latest reports for November indicate an unemployment rate that has dropped to 6.6 percent. Wyoming's rate is well under the national average, which has hovered in the mid 9 percent range or higher for some time.

And we have abundant resources. We, of course, have great leaders. We have energy, wildlife, open spaces, agriculture, recreation, all of them world-class assets. We are the envy of many states, yet there remains much to be done in order to secure a better future, because when the nation remains under an economic cloud, the cloud moves our way. With more than six out of every 100 workers out of jobs in Wyoming, we need to create more opportunities, because I can tell you for those working who cannot find work, the unemployment rate might as well be 100 percent.

With our revenues tied largely to energy, we need to diversify our economic basis and promote economic growth in general. With our communities still feeling the effects of the economic downturn, we need to provide an additional source of revenue to our cities, towns and counties.

It is good that we do not face repeat of last year's fiscal austerity with 10 percent budget cuts and revenue shortfalls that affected everyone in the chain in the state on down.

It is good that we have an unexpected amount of money for a supplemental budget, but the last few years have provided a wake-up call. We need responsible growth, growth which is right for the times and our needs, growth that does not compromise your values.

Now for some specifics. This is a conservative state government, and we recognize that. A relatively small shift in commodity prices can have a dramatic effect on revenues. We should remain conservative, even after the good news of this week's CREG revenue adjustments, which provided us with an additional projected 22.7 million in revenues this biennium.

Because this is a general session, only limited supplemental budget recommendations are before you. Governor Freudenthal proffered his supplemental budget recommendations in December. I concur with many but not all of them. I will discuss some of the budget proposals today, but I also appear before the Joint Appropriations Committee tomorrow for further discussion of the supplemental budget. Let me start by saying I support the additional 52 million in funding for highways and 52 million in funding for local governments, most of which would go to capital construction. That extra money this year will make reasonable progress towards addressing our infrastructure and local needs. I'll address this in detail later on.

Although less than requested in Governor Freudenthal's recommendations, I do recommend 6.1 million to bring those state employees earning less than 90 percent of market pay to that market pay level. I consider this investment in our state workforce appropriate and necessary.

We appreciate the work of state employees and want to give due recognition for it. Down the road, we should continue to reevaluate our economic picture and continue efforts to reach market pay for state employees based on regular and updated accurate data.

I support 3.1 million in supplemental funding for performance awards only if there is a viable system for recognizing excellent performance by state employees. We should not reward average. We should reward excellence. We should reward success, and in order for that to happen, an evaluation process has to be meaningful. I mean to make it so.

I am asking agency heads to sign a commitment letter when they accept their positions. The commitment letter, among other things, includes a commitment to create an evaluation process for a realistic assessment of each state employee's performance. I expect agency heads, using a meaningful evaluation process, to be able to give their exceptional employees performance awards, invent those meeting expectations, provide assistance to struggling employees and address non-performers.

I also ask state agencies to ask for a commitment to approach the budgeting process with fiscal discipline. We should exercise restraint when it comes to dealing with public money and also keep a close eye on the size and cost of state government. This commitment letter I'm asking for is a first.

Now, I remain skeptical that more dollars spent on buildings translates to a better education. Dollars spent on buildings are not dollars spent on teaching. Bricks do not an education make.

Having said that, I understand that we are required by law to have a funding model, but I want a plan in place that convinces me that these dollars are being spent for the maximum benefit of Wyoming, its children, teachers and citizens.

Governor Freudenthal recommended 61.9 million for construction of school facilities. This, I remind you, is on top of the 1.2 billion appropriated between 2003 and 2010. It is on top of the 156 million approved last session.

I will not support Governor Freudenthal's recommendation until I see an improved preference law is in place and enforced. I want to see a strong preference law and other contracting issues resolved before we pour more dollars into the supplemental budget to the School Facilities Commission.

Some of you have assured me, and I take you at your word, that this can be done and that this can be accomplished this session. I will look for that bill before approving supplemental monies this session to build schools.

The bottom line in my budget recommendation is that I have but 22.1 million in general fund expenditures and 61.9 million in school capital construction spending program from the supplemental budget. Coupled with this week's CREG revenue forecast, the legislature has roughly 52 million in the general fund and 332 million in the school capital construction program available to you. Don't spend it all in one place. Perhaps better yet, don't spend too much of it at all.

To create jobs and to grow and diversify our economy, we should build on Wyoming's natural advantages: Our energy, ag, tourism and great workforce.

We should not just extract and export our energy, we should look for value-added projects that use some of our energy here. For example, our superb wind resources partner well with natural gas-fired turbines which fill out the energy stream during lulls in the wind. We should develop both wind and gas-fired turbine projects where possible. I support the current efforts of those working on these types of projects.

And why not manufacture wind turbine components here as well? Let's build the items needed to develop our wind resources right here in Wyoming. I can assure you this is doable. Such manufacturers are looking at Wyoming now, and I'm a supporter. This is an example of how we can build on Wyoming's natural advantages and diversify our economy and create jobs.

Now, I know there is going to be a healthy debate about wind issues, property rights, taxation, eminent domain. I hope legislation that balances all the interests and keeps Wyoming's competitive wind companies in place here in Wyoming will reach my desk this session.

We need to continue to capitalize on all our natural advantages, not only with our wind, but our climate.

We have a good weather climate for some industries, in particular, for mega data centers. I support funding the money to recruit mega data centers. In Wyoming, we have what they need, and if you're in a state you don't have what they need, you can't get it.

We have these natural advantages: We have a favorable weather climate with a low number of cooling days. We can produce abundant, relatively inexpensive electricity. We have relative safety from natural catastrophes such as hurricanes, and we have available land. We also have an established track record with the NCAR supercomputer being built in Cheyenne. That's why I support the allocation of 14 1/2 million in general funds for the recruitment of multiple mega data centers. Such centers bring support businesses and other enterprise along with them. It is my belief they are a business magnet.

I support the bill passed last year that exempted qualifying computer equipment from sales and use tax. I thought last year's bill provided an attractive and appropriate incentive for business, and I would call for reasonable additions this year, like for computer software, to improve upon it. Please take a look at that legislation.

We must also continue to support all of our extractive industries. With respect to coal, oil and gas industries, I support research and development of carbon capture and sequestration technology.

I am skeptical about man made global warming without more and better science, but I am not skeptical about growing demand by our energy customers for cleaner coal and gas. I am not skeptical about our oil industry's need for carbon injection technology for enhanced oil recovery.

Improved technologies provide a benefit to companies and help them remain profitable. Wyoming is on the cutting edge of many technologies. We have laws in place and projects underway. Technology will be improved with projects like the UW-GE coal gasification facility, the development of the DKRW project in Carbon County and advance and continued research at the School of Energy Resources. Technology will help keep our energy industry competitive.

I will look favorable on legislation sent my way to foster science and commercial applications, remembering that advances in energy technology will only continue to occur if energy companies remain profitable.

I support continuing the manufacturing sales tax exemption. The current law has the exemption expire at the end of this year. I would remind you that 40 other states have this exemption and Wyoming must remain competitive.

Nearly 200 Wyoming businesses already use this exemption, and as we speak as we are here today, manufacturers targeted by the Wyoming Business Council and my office anticipate this exemption. This includes manufacturers of wind tower components about which I spoke earlier. Without this extension, we risk the real possibility these businesses will locate in other sates.

I hope you'll take up the issue of extending the manufacturing sales tax exemption, decide to extend it and put a bill on my desk.

I'm also keenly interested in legislation that will strengthen our ag and travel industries, which are vital to our state's economy, and I know you'll be considering such bills this session. For example, I support increases for rangeland assessment and for tourism promotion.

We need to make, as we go forward, our state regulatory environment predictable and reasonable so businesses can plan and commit resources to our state. Backlogs and delays at the Land Quality Division within the Department of Environmental Quality are an immediate concern. The undue backlogs and delays need to be made a thing of the past, sooner rather than later. The issue is addressed in my budget recommendations, which I'll lay out tomorrow.

The fact that our state is fiscally sound and otherwise a desirable place means we can welcome with open arms businesses that are looking for a welcoming place. One of the ways we do that is with technology.

Improving connectivity provides all sorts of possibilities that allows us to deal with each other directly and daily, interactively and not just from the hours of 8:00 to 5:00. It increases business productivity and access to markets.

I support using technology to maximum advantage: To improve state government, to improve the business climate for tech as well as other businesses, to enrich our personal and work lives, to improve the quality of patient health care through the use of electronic health records, to support better communication between physician and patient and prevent expensive duplication of testing.

I support measures that will give our state the competitive edge from a technology standpoint. For example, we already have begun work with a private telecom provider to expand the high-speed fiber optic footprint across Wyoming. This expansion could increase bandwidth capacity more than tenfold to an additional 11 Wyoming communities.

We're also working on lighting up dormant or dark fiber circuits that run across the southern portion of Wyoming into Salt Lake City and beyond.

From an economic development perspective, this growth in connectivity will allow us the bandwidth necessary for mega data centers, while also benefiting manufacturing and smaller businesses throughout many of our Wyoming communities.

Our interstate highways and railroad network connect us all to other states and all parts of the country, and they should help make us the business hub. The highways especially are important for business, personal and tourist travel. I support additional supplemental appropriations this year for highways.

Highway construction needs a reliable source of added funding. The recommended 52 million in supplemental funding this year makes reasonable progress, in my mind, on highway construction. Those dollars should be used to do what is needed most in 2011.

I also support funding for water development projects. Water is a precious resource in the arid west. We need to use all our allocated amounts from the various compacts and court decrees. Water projects spur economic development across the board for energy, ag, tourism and energy.

Our cities, towns and counties need additional revenue. We saw this most starkly last year. I do support a legislative fix that would provide this revenue.

Specifically, I support diverting one half of 1 percent of the statutory severance tax on minerals and splitting it into thirds, one-third to local governments, one-third to highways and one-third to the state's rainy day fund. This is money that will not only be used to invest in infrastructure, not only to invest in our localities, but also invest in savings. It's a good investment all the way around. As many of you know, the projected distribution will be about 52.15 million to each of the three recipient categories.

I would like to see a greater percentage of the local government share go to fund projects; that is, 75 percent should be put towards capital construction and 25 percent for operations.

I would like to see this investment, this one-half of 1 percent of the severance tax divided it into thirds, be made permanent or long term with a sunset provision of seven years down the road to 2018.

Now, I recognize there's serious disagreement about this proposal, and maybe that's understating it. I'm assuming your laughter is to mean nothing. And it's all right. There should be disagreement because it's a great deal of money. But we all agree that money should be wisely invested. Some want to place all the money in the rainy day fund. There is no question that our rainy day fund can serve us well during those times when the price of our natural resources decline.

But I have faith in Wyoming. And while we have had wise investments from the treasurer's office for many years, we also have to be aware that during these shaky times, where major financial companies, where auto manufacturers, where not just companies, but entire countries are failing, even the best investment decisions carry risk not seen for many decades.

We have seen the results of these tumultuous times for outside investing. As we know, we are back in the black, but in the past year and a half, we have seen unrealized losses from state investments as of June 30, 2009, of over $647 million. The realized losses were $201 million. This illustrates the volatility of the markets during this time.

Now we cannot take the risk of investing in the markets, and with my proposal, we will continue investing in the markets with that one-half percent via the rainy day fund, but we will also broaden our investment to Wyoming.

Now, you all, we all, care greatly about our local communities, and this body has a good track record of supporting local communities. But do we continue along these lines during these shaky times investing all of that money in companies that may be in other states, in other countries, or do we believe in Wyoming? Do we believe in Wyoming enough, our people, our towns, our counties, our small businesses and our future to put Wyoming first?

My proposal invests in local government, in infrastructure, in our highways, in our bridges and continue to invest in our rainy day account as well. It addresses my goals of economic development in that our local governments can do all the beautification projects they want, but if they don't have adequate water, sewer, bridges, roads, landfills, recruitment and retention of business is near impossible.

One-third of this money will go to the Department of Transportation to address the needs of our roads and bridges.

Now, we can disagree how much is needed. We can also disagree on other funding options, but hopefully we can agree that without safe, adequate roads, economic development and the enjoyment of our state will be diminished.

Hopefully, we can also agree that for the executive branch to defer maintenance on roads is not fiscally strong. It is operationally weak. If we do not invest today, we will require those that follow us to invest many more dollars in the future. I urge you to consider this method of funding our roads. As I said, one-third of that money will go back to local governments.

It's curious to me how many agree with me that the states are the backbone of the country, that the people closest to the problems are the best ones to solve the problem and yet when we talk about providing greater control to the locals in terms of money, we shy away.

In making your decision, remember, just as some of you view the federal government with a skeptical eye, so, too, does a city council member look at Wyoming's capitol.

Do we trust local governments in the way that we would ask Congress to trust us? We should, and this one-third is a way to show our faith in local governments. If not made permanent, a seven-year sunset provision, as I said, is a reasonable compromise that would give the legislature the opportunity to consider the matter again, but also show an ongoing commitment to local communities and allow for adequate planning and investing.

Now, if you don't agree with my proposal, find an alternative, because we want and need predictable funding for local governments and highways.

Now, last week I announced my support for legislation that would consolidate the Department of Workforce Services and the Department of Employment. I have reappointed Joan Evans as Director of Workforce Services. She is an excellent agency head. I have also appointed Joan to serve as the Director of the Department of Employment. I hope you will send me a bill that consolidates these agencies. We will create a one-stop shop related to employment matters, reducing dual administrative costs.

As you saw from yesterday, I have chosen Tom Forslund to head the Department of Health. He is a proven administrator with an established track record at building reserves and careful budgeting year after year as city manager of Casper.

I would ask you to look at the department that Tom Forslund is inheriting. It is a big, unwieldy agency. It gobbles up more and more of the budget pie each year.

We should take a serious look at reorganizing the Department of Health, but I want Mr. Forslund involved in the process. So in the meantime, I would ask for the authority for me to appoint the head of the health financing unit and have that person report directly to me.

I am responsible for state agencies. Legislation is currently being drafted that would provide me greater latitude in appointing people within agencies. My responsibility to make sure people within agencies are fiscally responsible provide outstanding service and follow a vision for the state goes hand in hand with my ability to appoint. So I ask for your support in this effort.

In Wyoming, we need to talk about education, and it is my belief the vast majority of teachers and administrators are doing an excellent job, but we recognize we're spending on a Cadillac plan, not getting Cadillac results. We all know we need to do better. We should not accept average, and we should be bold in our approach. And from where I sit, education is too important to remove any debate from the table. There are no sacred cows. From money spent on building schools to block grants provided to districts, let's look at everything.

It's also fair to look at changing teacher contracts, but a simple statutory change to alter teacher contracts without more is not a cure-all. Great teachers should be rewarded. Poor teachers should be removed. But as you consider teacher contracts, it should not be done in a vacuum. We should recognize they face challenges, and not just from eleven-year-old boys playing hooky, they face other challenges as well. We do not want teachers fired for the wrong reason or for no reason. What criteria should be used? We want greater accountability, and accountability can only come from removing teachers for the right reason; that is, they're not doing a good job teaching.

To determine the quality of teaching requires an objective standard. Failing the huge objective standard we presume the infallibility of administrators. We need a testing program that is administered in a way that will measure students and teachers alike in a manner that clearly identifies both successes and problems.

The issue of charter schools is one I'm interested in moving forward. It is my belief that charter schools could provide some new ideas to be used at traditional schools. For this model to work, the charter schools cannot cherry pick the best students.

Now, we all talk about local control, but I expect school districts to use block grant money, state money, in a way that puts our students in the best position to succeed. We cannot provide endless funds to school districts without results.

So on these issues, I look forward to working with you. I look forward to hearing your ideas. I look forward to working with Superintendent Hill on education and I would just say I know it's complex, and I know it's difficult, but we cannot ignore education. It is too important for our future.

As I said in my inaugural address, the federal health care bill may be the best Congress could do, it is not the best we can do. Therefore, I support legislation that would establish a litigation fund related to the federal health care law.

As you no doubt know, I have taken steps to join the Florida lawsuit against the Affordable Care Act. I understand, as some of you told me, the criticism in doing so; some because they like the act; some because they're worried about the expense associated with the lawsuit.

I do not like the act. In my view, it is bad policy and too costly. This law will significantly increase our Medicaid rolls. Mississippi, for example, forecasts the overall cost to implement the Affordable Care Act in that state will be $1.7 billion over ten years, including 443 million in year 10 alone.

Now, while the federal government has committed to the bulk of the cost associated with Medicaid expansion, the last I checked, the federal government has significant financial problems of its own. On top of that, the federal promise does not cover all the additional expenses.

Concerning the cost of the lawsuit, the current prediction is that it will cost us $1,000,000.00 and the attorney general has been told it may not cost a lot more than that at all, but I would tell you, frankly, even for a much, much larger amount, I am willing to fully test the legality of the law, because it has implications beyond health care.

While this is a Tenth Amendment issue, the law should be tested with the same force and vigor as if it was a First and Second Amendment to our Constitution that was being eroded.

I believe that the rights of the states remain important, not just for legal principle, but because I believe the states can do a better job. Comparison of Wyoming's checkbook to Congress's checkbook is evidence that we can and that we have. I hope I will have your support in standing firm for Wyoming.

Now, it's not enough to say no. We should continue to seek state solutions even as we fight the federal law.

I support legislative proposals that advance state health care solutions, including expansion of the Healthy Frontiers pilot project begun last spring. That project has passed the initial test and is currently enrolling participants in both Cheyenne and Casper. Not a lot, but the process has been started. The expansion will give us the data and the experience that we need to develop more effective and less costly health care options.

Now, there are other areas that will require Wyoming to be proactive. We are small in number, but large in our contribution to this country and our voice should be heard.

Challenges to our ability to manage our wildlife, to produce our energy, to regulate our water and air quality should not go untested. We demand a balanced approach that protects our beautiful state, yet allows for mineral development.

It is the citizens of Wyoming, from those interested in conservation to those interested in development, those Wyoming people, us, it is we who should have the debate and making the decisions for Wyoming. To turn the issue of balance over to D.C., the more we do that, the more the debate will be taken from our mouths, from these halls, from this building, and moved to Washington where only three of our citizens, our congressional delegation, will be joined in the debate while the rest of us are relegated to listeners.

As I said in my inaugural address, the best solutions for Wyoming come from Wyoming. I would ask for your support to keep Wyoming's voice strong.

The death rate of misuse of narcotic prescription drugs exceeds all other illegal drug and drunk-driving deaths combined. We need to better monitor narcotic prescription drugs at point of contact to prevent abuse and lower the death rate. This is one issue. There are many other issues that are of interest to me and to all of you during this session.

Other pressing matters include other health issues, ag issues, law enforcement issues and our aging population. I will look closely at any legislation you put on my desk.

There is much to consider, but I will tell you that I'm conservative and by nature, and on both sides of the aisle, we have conservative and practical people, and in this general session, I ask for an approach that begins the process of efficient, streamlined government.

I will tell you that from my point of view, I'm interested in those laws that will help those who cannot find work. I'm interested in laws that do not make small business owners shutter wondering what rules and regulations will come out. We should pay attention to what matters most.

This body has and will continue to set an example of vigorous, but always civilized debate, and all of us are proud of the example that you set. Let's provide a framework where individuals through hard work, innovation and dedication can enjoy the freedoms of Wyoming.

Thank you for the opportunity to address you in this chamber, on your home court, so to speak. It's been an honor, and it's been a pleasure. You are always welcome, all of you, in my office, and I would be privileged to have you visit me. The boxes are unpacked, the welcome mat is out and the welcoming Matt is in. The door will be open. May we have a vision, may we have the courage and the faith to make wise decisions. May God bless all, our great state and our great country. Thank you very much.

President Anderson thanked Governor Mead for his message and introduced Chief Justice Marilyn Kite.

STATE OF THE JUDICIARY
MARILYN S. KITE, CHIEF JUSTICE
JANUARY 12, 2011

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Governor and Mrs. Mead, members of the 61st Legislature, elected officials, members of the Judiciary, family, friends and citizens of our great state. It is an honor and privilege to speak to you on behalf of the dedicated men and women of the Wyoming Judiciary. Thank you President Anderson and Speaker Buchanan for the invitation.

As you know, this is my first opportunity to speak to you as Chief Justice and I am humbled and honored to do so. It is also the first time many of you have sat in this chamber as members of the legislature. And it is our new Governor's first chance to share his vision of Wyoming's future with all of us.

My memories of this chamber date back to Governor Hathaway's time when I was lucky enough to serve as an Assistant Attorney General for the newly created Department of Environmental Quality. In that capacity, I had the amazing opportunity to assist the likes of Malcolm Wallop, Warren Morton, John Turner, Tom Stroock, Dave Nicholas and Alan Simpson and many others as they worked to craft a balance between development of this state's resources and protection of its many natural wonders. I was impressed then, as I am today, with the dedication and willingness to serve exhibited by this legislature - one of the few truly citizen legislatures left in this country. We all appreciate the personal sacrifice each of you must make to serve our democracy.

What we are doing here today, bringing together the three separate and independent branches of government, constitutes an important tradition, symbolizing a unity of purpose, and provides us with a brief moment in which we can speak to each other and to the citizens of Wyoming as well as listen to each other and appreciate the importance of our respective efforts on behalf of the state. All of the members of Wyoming's Judiciary wish you energy, wisdom and endurance as you take on the challenges facing our state and its people at this point in our history.

We also wish you, Governor Mead, great success in your tenure. You follow the trail of many wise and dedicated individuals who sacrificed their personal lives for a period of time to devote limitless time and energy to leading the way for our state. You have the great fortune to have unmatched role models within our own family for how to lead with integrity, humility, wisdom and humor and we know they are smiling down on this chamber today. Congratulations.

I know you have a busy agenda and are anxious to get started. I will not delay you long, but do want to report on the changes in the Judiciary over the past year and highlight a few issues facing our branch of government. I suppose one of the most obvious changes is that after four years of accomplished leadership, Justice Barton Voigt has passed that mantle on to me. Justice Voigt's efforts over the past four years are far too many to mention, not the least of which were overseeing the design and construction of the remodel of the Supreme Court Building and leading the court system into the 21st century with electronic filing and docket management. On behalf of all of us serving in the Judiciary, I want to thank you Justice Voigt, for your devotion to the job, your diligence, and your ever-present sense of humor. We all owe you a great debt. And through it all, he kept completely current on his case assignments and sometimes seemed to have his opinion drafted before the rest of us got back to our offices. You might notice a particularly happy, relaxed expression on his face, which we all recognize as that of a former Chief Justice!

I also want to thank my other colleagues on the Supreme Court, Justices Golden, Hill and Burke for their friendship, their professional support and the confidence and trust they have shown by electing me as Justice Voigt's successor.

In 2010, we said farewell to some old friends and welcomed some new. We were saddened by the passing of former District Court Judge Jim Wolfe of Sheridan, and retired Supreme Court Justices Al Taylor and Richard Thomas, each having made a significant impact on the law of this state as well as its citizens. District Judge Nancy Guthrie, of Jackson, retired after 15 years of service in Lander and Jackson. Our judicial selection process resulted in Jackson Circuit Judge Tim Day being appointed to replace Judge Guthrie. Experienced Jackson attorney, James Radda, from the Teton County Attorney's office, was appointed to replace Judge Day. In Gillette, Circuit Court Judge Bill Edwards retired having served 19 years in that busy circuit and Wendy Bartlett, an energetic, well-respected Gillette attorney, from the Campbell County Attorney's office, was appointed to replace him. Most recently, District Judge Scott Skavdahl of Casper announced his resignation after 7 years of service to pursue a career in the federal judiciary. Catherine Wilking, a respected Casper attorney with experience in civil and criminal law as well as juvenile issues, was appointed to fill that vacancy. Judge Wilking's formal installation will occur in a few weeks. As always, the Wyoming Judicial Nominating Commission performed efficiently, fairly and free of political influence. As we watch with dismay, the politicalization of judicial selection in other states, we are again thankful for the wisdom shown by the legislature and our citizens in the adoption of the constitutional amendment establishing our system of judicial selection some 40 years ago.

The Supreme Court and the Access to Justice Commission have been busy implementing legislation this body adopted last year to provide funding through an increase in court filing fees to coordinate and support legal services for over 70,000 of our citizens who are financially eligible. We have had several statewide public meetings, have created a non-profit corporation, the Wyoming Center for Legal Aid, appointed an initial board of directors for the Center, drafted proposed bylaws and rules, and reported our progress to the legislature as required by statute. The upcoming year will see much progress in this effort and we are committed to fulfilling this body's intent to provide for justice for all of our citizens, not just those that can afford it.

I want to take a minute or two to share with you some thoughts about the work of the Wyoming Judiciary. As noted by Alexander Hamilton in Federalist Paper 78, the Judiciary is the weakest of the three branches of government. We do not hold the power of the purse, and we cannot raise armies. We do, however, hold in our hands the lives and fortunes of thousands of citizens every year and we have the constitutional responsibility to protect the fundamental fabric of our society - the rule of law. We provide that level playing field envisioned by our founders - justice for all.

In performing our work, we are facing some major challenges and we are working hard to meet them. While statistics certainly don't tell the whole story, a quick look at our case filings show that the Wyoming courts are vibrant, busy and getting their job done. The circuit courts processed over 180,000 cases last year, that includes all of law enforcement's citations, and the district judges who are here today to stand and be recognized for their hard work.

I am also pleased to report that those cases that do reach the Supreme Court are being handled promptly and we continue to rank near the top nationally in the number of opinions authored annually.

Despite this good news, we, like the other two branches of government, face extraordinary challenges. I want to talk to you today about two of those challenges in particular. Number 1 is to become more efficient internally as we perform our jobs. And number 2 is how to reduce the cost and delay to the private citizens in civil litigation.

How do we manage an ever-increasing workload with static or even declining revenues? We are all well aware that other states have not been so fortunate as we have financially, and many have seen draconian cuts in funding to the point of even closing some courts thus denying citizens access to justice. We are committed to assuring that we spend state resources responsibly and efficiently in order to assure the citizens of Wyoming never face that prospect.

Even though our budget represents only 2% of the entire state government budget, in response to the decreasing revenues of the last several years and in cooperation with the executive branch, we have worked to reduce any expenditures that were not absolutely necessary. However, we do not have optional programs that can be eliminated. Our primary cost is for the personnel necessary to handle the caseload, the size of which is beyond our control.

In recognition of that fact, we are examining our structure to see if we can become more efficient. The most obvious opportunity for enhanced efficiency is to better utilize the circuit courts. As you know, their jurisdiction is currently limited to misdemeanors and civil cases involving less than $7,000.00. That limit was set 15 years ago and needs to be significantly increased. That will allow us to take better advantage of circuit courts as well as to reduce the ever increasing burden on our district courts. In consultation with the Board of Judicial Policy and Administration as well as the Circuit Court Judges, we have proposed, and the Joint Judiciary Committee has supported, an increase in the 15 year old jurisdictional limit to $50,000.00. Senate File 15, which is a committee bill, will accomplish that change and we urge your support of that legislation. While this change may have some impact on the clerks of both the circuit and the district courts, we believe those impacts are manageable and should not be a reason for a less efficient judicial system.

In addition to Senate File 15, we are working to improve our productivity through technology. Electronic filing and docket management is in place and functioning well in the Supreme Court. We are about half way through the effort to get all district courts on the same docket management system and to provide electronic filing in those courts as well. As soon as that is complete, we will do the same in the circuit courts. We have already installed public computer terminals in some circuit courts so the public can electronically search non-confidential court dockets and plan to have the rest in place this year. You have generously and wisely provided us the funding necessary to accomplish our case management needs at the district court level, even in the face of budget reduction pressure, recognizing that in the long run, this effort will reduce operating costs. Next session we will ask for additional funding to complete this effort in the circuit courts.

We would like to claim credit for all of this progress, but honestly, we were late to this party. It is thanks to the leadership, and dare I say prodding, from you, that we have made such significant progress. Often, institutions of government are resistant to change and that is the case with the judiciary. I learned recently that a cowboy who wants to participate in a roping event at Frontier Days can now enter the competition, pay the entry fee, draw the steer or calf, rope it, have the time immediately recorded, and the prize money calculated and paid the same day...all electronically... well maybe not the roping part! Now I don't know about you, but no cowboy I know likes change very much. The good old days were plenty good enough for them. So if cowboys can join the electronic age.....judges can too, don't you agree?

Now, the next technological leap that will have the most impact on our day to day productivity will be when law enforcement is able to issue electronic citations and ultimately the fines can be paid electronically. The Highway Patrol has begun to implement e-citations and they are responsible for a large share of the work of the circuit courts. We have done the necessary work to allow the court's data system to accept their e-citations. We understand they will be ready to roll next summer and we look forward to that day. Once an officer can enter a citation electronically, the work load of our circuit court clerks should be substantially reduced. In some circuits, one full time person is necessary just to enter this data by hand.

Although you do not have a specific request before you, we want to call to your attention the need to provide funding to counties and cities so local law enforcement can acquire that e-citation capability as soon as possible. We understand a recommendation for that funding was contained in the report from Governor Freudenthal's Task Force on Impaired Driving and we hope that the executive branch will bring such a proposal to you soon. The resulting increase in speed and efficiency in processing citations will significantly enhance law enforcement's ability to deal with repeat offenders.

We are also working with law enforcement to facilitate payment of fines electronically and, in fact, just this week Laramie County has implemented its program and is receiving fines on line. When we can do this statewide, we will dramatically improve the fine collection rate. With outstanding unpaid fines in the range of $10,000.000, the fiscal benefit of that advancement is obvious. So we hope you keep this issue on your radar, so to speak.

Finally, on the technology front, most of our judicial districts have video conferencing capability and we are all learning how to use that tool effectively. Many judges are using it for arraignments, depositions and other proceedings thus reducing the cost and risk of transporting prisoners to and from jail, minimizing lost judge time and the expense of their travel and allowing cases to move forward more quickly. Last month we held a statewide Access to Justice Commission meeting with participants from six cities all over the state. Everyone heard and saw each other clearly and we had participation from many that simply could not have attended in person. Also last month, we held a Board of Judicial Policy and Administration meeting by video conference and saved $3,500 in hard travel expenses, about the same in value of lost work time, and no lives were put in danger on our winter roads.

How do we address the growing discontent with the cost and delay involved in civil litigation? Keeping in mind that our primary job is to provide fair and efficient justice to our citizens, we have initiated an effort to examine our rules and procedures to see how we can do that better. We started by conducting a survey of all Wyoming lawyers and judges and, not surprisingly, it showed that an overwhelming majority of both believe that civil litigation costs too much and takes too long. The cause of this failure of the system is likely a combination of district court workloads in some areas, and outdated, cumbersome rules. The growing demand on our district court judges, particularly in the domestic relations and juvenile dockets, can prevent them from resolving some cases expeditiously. And that, by the way, provides another important reason to support Senate File 15 - which I discussed earlier - to allow the circuit court judges to assume some of that load.

The rules of civil procedure that we follow today were adopted 72 years ago and have been modified very little since. The intent of those rules is clearly stated in Rule 1, "To secure the just, speedy and inexpensive determination of every action." It is safe to say that we have failed too often to realize that intent. The Board of Judicial Policy and Administration and the Supreme Court have initiated several different projects to begin to address these problems. Judge Norman Young, from the 9th Judicial District and current president of the District Court Judges Conference, is heading up an effort to examine the rules to determine if changes can be made to allow cases, especially smaller ones, to move more quickly and without unnecessary expense. Judge Keith Kautz, from the 8th District, is heading up a group of judges, under Judge Curt Haws' leadership, are drafting rules for simplified procedures in circuit courts aimed at reducing cost and delay. I anticipate we will consider rules changes and possibly propose statutory changes over the next year.

As this summary of the challenges, changes and opportunities facing the third branch of government shows, our plate is full. The men and women of the Wyoming Judiciary are fully committed to continual improvement in the way we do business while at the same time, doing justice in the cases at hand. We invite you to visit your local courts to see first hand the quality of your judges and we urge you to continue to provide us the necessary resources to get our job done as you have in the past.

Finally, with the tragic events in Arizona last weekend, we all, as public servants increasingly feel the weight of our responsibilities. We cannot prevent all acts of anger and violence directed at those who serve. But we can, and must, work to maintain an environment in which institutions, are respected. Our democracy depends upon that respect.

I thought it appropriate to close by quoting a former governor and senator whose service to Wyoming enjoyed and whose legacy has produced our new Governor. In 1965, then Governor Clifford P. Hansen addressed the 38th Wyoming Legislature and said, "Let me observe that we are elected officials, and as such, we are but temporary custodians of trust, favor, leadership and responsibility. We know the difference between right and wrong; we know that our sole duty is to give dedication and loyalty to the full public interest. History will deal with us. May the truth be that we gave our best."

Thank you.

President Anderson thanked Chief Justice Kite for attending the Joint Session and for her message and asked Senator Bebout and Representatives Shepperson and Roscoe to escort the First Lady and the Governor from the chamber.

Senator Perkins and Representatives Krone and Quarberg were asked to escort Chief Justice Kite from the chamber.

Senate Majority Floor Leader Ross moved that the Joint Session be dissolved. Senate Minority Floor Leader John Hastert seconded the motion. Motion carried.

REPORT OF THE SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON ELECTION CONTEST

Your Special Committee appointed to hear the election contest for House District 45 respectfully reports back to the House as follows: Based upon the findings set out in Attachment "A", it is the recommendation of the Special Committee that the election contest for House District 45 be rejected and that Matthias Greene be determined qualified to serve as the Representative for House District 45.

AYES: Campbell, Jaggi, Kroeker, Lubnau, Petersen, Stubson.

NAYS: Barbuto, Byrd, Illoway. Representative Illoway, Chairman.

Attachment A

Issue:

It appeared to the special committee that the dispositive issue in this contest was:

Did Representative Matthias Greene ("Greene") have residency in House District 45 for one year prior to the date of the election on November 2, 2010, in accordance with the Wyoming Constitution, and Wyoming Statute §22-5-102?

Findings of Fact:

1. Mark Voorhees, Rachel Lynn, Seth Carson, Craig Rothwell and Debra Formento, all residents of Wyoming House District 45, filed a notice to contest election on the 4th day of December, 2010, pursuant to Wyoming Statutes §22-17-101, W.S. §22-17-102 and §22-17--110.
2. Discovery was conducted pursuant to Joint Rule 15 of the Rules of the Wyoming Legislature.
3. On January 11, 2011, the Speaker of the House empanelled a special committee to take testimony and hear the arguments of the parties with respect to the election contest.
4. Former Representative Seth Carson ("Carson") spoke on behalf of the contestants.
5. The facts in this matter are basically undisputed. A timeline is attached to this report as Exhibit 1.
6. Greene resided at 611 Mitchell, Unit #2, Laramie, Wyoming from August 2008 until May 25, 2009 in House District 13.
7. In March and April of 2009, Greene searched for a loft apartment in downtown Laramie. He expressed a desire to live in downtown Laramie because he likes the urban atmosphere, and he was within walking distance of the local restaurants and bars.

8. In April of 2009, Greene was notified that he was going to be deployed with the National Guard to Afghanistan to command a med-evac unit. At that time, he stopped his search for a downtown loft.
9. Greene acquired a mini-storage unit in House District 45 in May of 2009. He chose the location of the mini-storage based on the part of town it was located in and because of its convenience and its ownership by a veteran who gave military discounts. Greene testified he always intended to move back to House District 45, but did not select the location of the mini-storage with any intention at that time of running for election in House District 45, although the mini-storage was located in House District 45.
10. On May 25, 2009, Greene placed all his worldly possessions, including his bed, his dresser, most of his civilian clothing, weight set and his kitchen utensils in mini-storage unit owned by Snowy Range Storage, Inc., located at 1491 Industry Drive, Laramie, Wyoming, and within the boundary of House District 45.
11. Greene's lease expired on the apartment at 611 Mitchell, Unit #2, Laramie, Wyoming on May 25, 2009. At that time, all his contact with House District 13 ended. He had no property in House District 13, no intent to return to House District 13, and no mailing address in House District 13.
12. On May 27th, 2009, Greene was sent to Canada to train for two and one-half weeks.
13. After the two and one-half weeks of training, Greene returned to Cheyenne for one night, where he spent the evening in the Comfort Inn in Cheyenne.
14. After his one night stay in Cheyenne, Greene was sent to Camp Guernsey for an additional 10 days of training for his deployment.
15. For the month of July 2009, Greene was trained in high-altitude helicopter flying in Colorado.
16. On August 2, 2009, Greene's unit gathered in Cheyenne for deployment.
17. On August 5, 2009, Greene's unit was dispatched to Ft. Sill, Oklahoma for additional training.
18. On September 17, 2009, Greene was deployed to Afghanistan.
19. On September 18, 2009, Greene arrived in Afghanistan, and his primary residence was Forward Operating Base Solerno.
20. In November 2009, after reading a newspaper article in the Laramie Boomerang about Carson, Greene began to consider running for the position of House District 45.
21. Greene began contact with the Wyoming Secretary of State's office in December of 2009, from Forward Operating Base Solerno, to confirm his residency was in House District 45. Several phone calls and e-mails were exchanged regarding residency.
22. On February 19, 2010, Mr. Greene received electronic correspondence from the Wyoming Secretary of State's office, stating that according to the Wyoming Statewide Voter Registration System, Mr. Greene was still a registered voter of House District 13 and that being the case, the Wyoming Secretary of State's office would not approve an application of nomination for Wyoming House District 45.
23. On April 5, 2010, Mr. Greene completed the necessary forms to change his voter registration address from 611 Mitchell, Laramie, Wyoming, to 1207 Boswell Drive, Laramie, Wyoming.
24. On April 5, 2010, Greene changed his address in the statewide voter registration system to 1207 Boswell Drive, the home of Matthew Brian Leibovitz and Teresa Elizabeth Thompson. This change of address to House District 45 was for the purpose of voting in a special election - the first election held in the district since Greene's deployment.

25. On May 27, 2010, Greene filed for office, and provided the address of 1207 Boswell as his address in House District 45.
26. On June 17, 2010, Greene returned from his deployment to Cheyenne, Wyoming.
27. On June 24, 2010, Greene spent the night at the home of his friend Matt Leibovitz, at 1207 N. Boswell in Laramie, Wyoming.
28. On June 25 and 26, 2010, Greene spent the night in Ft. Collins, Colorado, visiting a friend.
29. On July 1, 2010, Greene signed a lease for a loft apartment at 115 E. Grand Ave, Laramie, Wyoming.
30. On June 27, 2010, Greene returned to the Leibovitz house, and stayed there until he moved into his loft apartment in downtown Laramie on July 2, 2010, at the address of 115 E. Grand Ave., Laramie, Wyoming within the boundaries of House District 45.
31. On November 2, 2010, Greene was the top vote getter in the general election for House District 45.

OPINION

The requirement of residency is a constitutional prerequisite for serving in the legislature of the State of Wyoming. The Wyoming Constitution provides that no person shall serve in the legislature who is not a citizen "of this state and who has not, for at least twelve months next preceding his election resided within the county or district in which he was elected." Wyoming Constitution Art. 3 Sec. 2.

Section 22-5-102 of our statutes codifies the constitutional requirement by noting that "For the purpose of meeting the residency requirements of the Wyoming constitution, a person shall not be a candidate for the state legislature from a legislative district unless he has been a resident of that legislative district for at least one (1) year next preceding the election." Wyo. Stat. Ann. § 22-5-102(a).

The Special Committee's obligation is to determine whether Representative Matthias Greene meets these constitutional requirements. While the consideration of these issues takes place in the context of a political body, the members of the Committee have embarked on this endeavor with a clear recognition of their oath to support, obey and defend the Constitution of the State of Wyoming.

It is noteworthy that the Wyoming Constitution makes special provision for the residency of those serving the United States in our military. Specifically, the Constitution notes that "No elector shall be deemed to have lost his residence in the state, by reason of his absence . . . in the military or naval service of the United States." Wyoming Constitution Art. 6 Sec. 7.

The facts underlying this contest are not significantly in dispute. In May, 2009 Matthias Greene was living at 611 Mitchell, Laramie, Wyoming, a residence located in House District 13. Representative Greene's lease on Mitchell property terminated in late May 2009. Some time before the lease termination Representative Greene had decided to move to downtown Laramie which is located in House District 45. Prior to entering an agreement for a new apartment, Representative Greene learned of his imminent deployment to Afghanistan as part of the Wyoming National Guard. As a result, Representative Greene stored his goods in a storage unit located in House District 45, ceased his search for an apartment in downtown Laramie and began training for his ultimate deployment to Afghanistan.

As of the end of May, 2009, Representative Greene removed all his belongings from House District 13. He ceased receiving mail in the district. From that point on he had no right or entitlement to occupy any structure within the district.

The reasons behind Representative Greene's decision to cease his apartment search are significant. Representative Greene had received orders to deploy to Afghanistan. The Wyoming Constitution mandates that Representative Greene did not lose his residency in the State of Wyoming. Instead, his military service ensured that his residency was protected. As a result, we know that Representative Greene was a resident of either House District 13 or House District 45.

When examining this question the role of intent is significant. It is undisputed that Representative Greene intended to live in House District 45 and intended to return to House District 45 after his deployment. It is also undisputed that he formed that intent prior to his deployment. Objector contends that intent is not dispositive. The Committee agrees. Intent alone is not sufficient to build a basis for residency. However, intent must play a role in a review of the totality of the circumstances when determining the residency of a member.

Objector contends that Representative Greene remained a resident of House District 13 from May, 2009 until he returned to the country in June, 2010. Such an assertion defies both the law and common sense. After May 2009 Representative Greene had no connection whatsoever to House District 13. He testified that he did not intend to ever return to House District 13. The lease on 611 Mitchell had expired. Representative Greene removed all of his personal property from House District 13. He had no right to access or occupy any structure whatsoever within House District 13. To suggest that he remained a resident of House District 13 despite the lack of any remaining nexus to the District is to open possibilities of residency that eviscerate the principles embodied in our Constitution.

Applying these same principles to Representative Greene's contacts with House District 45 reveals a very different picture. Representative Greene's intent to live in House District 45 was accompanied by material and substantial acts. Representative Greene actively engaged in a search for housing prior to his deployment. He moved his personal belongings to the district. He took out a lease on a storage unit in the district. While the contacts with House District 45 are anticipatory, they are overwhelming in light of the lack of contacts with House District 13.

The very first election in Albany County following his departure from House District 13 occurred in May of 2010. Representative Greene voted absentee from Afghanistan in that election and voted as resident of House District 45. When Representative Greene returned from his deployment in June, 2010 he immediately returned to House District 45 and leased an apartment. When reviewing all the circumstances of this election contest, we see a continuity of conduct that weighs overwhelmingly in favor of a finding that Representative Greene was a resident of House District 45 beginning in late May or early June of 2009. This was more than one (1) year prior to the election of November, 2010. Representative Greene is qualified constitutionally to serve in the legislature of the State of Wyoming.

The fact of Representative Greene's popular election deserves some note. While no majority can undermine application of the Constitution, it is of significance that the people of House District 45 chose Mathias Greene as their representative and did so in light of broad publication of the facts outlined above. When there are two applicable interpretations of a provision within the Wyoming Constitution and one application undermines the will of the people while one supports the will of the people, that which recognizes the power of the voters should be sustained.

The contestant has relied heavily upon the opinion of the Attorney General dated November 1, 2010. The Committee finds that opinion to be unpersuasive. The Attorney General relied primarily on the definition of "Residence" as that term is defined in Wyo. Stat. § 22-1-102(a)(xxx). That definition refers to a place of actual habitation. However, that term is not used to define a person's eligibility for election. Instead, the legislature chose a different word "resident" to describe the eligibility requirement. It is inappropriate to take the definition of a word not utilized within a statute to rewrite the statute and insert requirements not required by statute. In addition, even if we were to rely upon the definition of "Residence" instead of the terms actually utilized in the statute, it speaks clearly of an "intention of returning". There was absolutely no evidence that Representative Greene intended to return to House District 13. As a result, the very definition that the Attorney General employs undermines the contestant's claims.

Joint Rule 15-1 (b)(3) provides: "The burden of proof is on the contestant to prove at least one of the grounds specified under W.S. 22-17-1010(a) by a preponderance of the evidence." The uncontradicted testimony of Representative Greene was that he intended to live in House District 45. The contestants offered no additional proof countering the intent of Greene to live in the district. As a result, the contestant failed to meet his burden of proof, and the complaint must be rejected.

It is clear that absent the issuance of military orders, Representative Matthias Greene would have been physically present within House District 45. The Wyoming Constitution recognizes the special circumstances of this case where a person in service of their nation, leaves their home to serve. It is clear that in those circumstances an interested citizen should not be punished for their service, but should be treated as a continuing resident of this state. The majority of the special committee find that Matthias Greene intended to and in fact was a resident of House District 45 for more than one year prior to the election.

As a consequence the committee FINDS that the Contest of Election filed by Mark Vorhes, Rachel Lynn, Seth Carson, Craig Rothwell and Debra Formento should be REJECTED.

DISSENTING OPINION

The only question here is whether the facts demonstrate that Mr. Greene met the residency requirements for serving in the state legislature as outlined in Wyo. Const., art 3, § 2 and Wyo. Stat. Ann. § 22-5-102(a). A candidate is not qualified to run, "unless he has been a resident of that legislative district for at least (1) year next preceding his election." Wyo. Stat. Ann. § 22-5-102(a). The legislature has defined residence in Wyo. Stat. § 22-1-102(a)(xxx). Under this provision of the statute, residence, for purposes of this case, is defined as:

"Residence" is the place of a person's actual habitation. The construction of this term shall be governed by the following rules:

- (A) Residence is the place where a person has a current habitation and to which, whenever he is absent, he has the intention of returning;
- (B) A person shall not gain or lose residence merely by reason of his presence or absence while:...
- (IV) Stationed at or residing on a military reservation or installation ...

The sections omitted from the quotation above, include absences related to such things as educational study or other public service purposes. Thus, the same definition of residence governs all absences from home and military service is not in a separate category.

The Attorney General issued an informal opinion of the definition of "residence" for purposes of serving in the legislature on November 1, 2010. The basic conclusion of the Attorney General is that the residency statute is unambiguous and in order to establish residency, a potential candidate must have an "actual habitation" to meet the residency requirement. The Attorney General Opinion, which is attached to this Report for the convenience of the body as Exhibit 2, concludes "actual habitation" as applied to the definition of "residence" "means "a person's dwelling or home which he actually occupied."

The opinion, then walks through the steps to apply the statute to facts similar to those in this contested case. Having determined that "the touchstone" of the definition is "actual habitation," the next step is to apply the provisions governing absence from a residence: "Then, if, for whatever the reason, a person is absent from that place for any period of time then the question becomes, ..., whether person possessed the subjective intent to return to his place of residence--i.e., a person's place of actual habitation." The Opinion then cites the example of a student who leaves for college, but has a home in Laramie County. The home in Laramie County remains the residence "as long as the person has the intent to return to that home. " The Opinion, then reaches the key conclusion relevant to this decision:

Since the statute defines "residence" as "actual habitation," if a person temporarily leaves the state with the intent to return but to a different location within the state, his "residence," for purposes of qualification as a member of the Legislature, must be the place he last actually physically resided. If not, then "residence" would not mean "actual habitation" and the statute's plain and unambiguous meaning would be negated.

AG Opinion at 5.

Thus, under the AG Opinion, Mr. Greene, at the time his active military service resumed on or about May 27, 2009, needed to be a resident with an "actual habitation" in House District 45 and the intent to return to that residence. At the time he left for training in Canada, he had no "current habitation" in House District 45. The Attorney General Opinion does not allow Mr. Greene to declare a residency in House District 45.

Mr. Greene's interpretation of the statute is not supported by the plain language of the statute and as a result, should not be adopted by this body as our interpretation of the law. In essence, we are sitting as a court interpreting the statute and should be bound by the same strict interpretation of plain language as a court. This House should no more ignore the intent of the legislature, as represented in the words of the statute, than a court would. In fact, Mr. Greene provided no legal analysis in support of his statutory construction.

Some members of the committee questioned the analysis of the AG Opinion. It is not necessary to wholly agree with the AG's analysis, although it follows traditional rules of statutory construction. Essentially, as we understood it, Mr. Greene's interpretation of the statute at Section 102(a)(xxx)(A) ignores the "current habitation" language and suggests Mr. Greene can rely solely on his "intent" to return to House District 45. This interpretation also disregards the overriding language of the definition that residence depends on "actual habitation." Finally, it ignores the provision that when absent, a person "shall not gain or lose residence" by reason of service in the military. In essence then, the statute first requires establishment of residence at time of departure, and then, an establishment of intent to return.

A basic rule of statutory construction, familiar to all the attorneys in this House is that a statute will not be interpreted to render any language superfluous. Under Mr. Greene's approach, "current habitation" has no application. Mr. Greene's interpretation ignores this most basic method for construing our laws. It would be extremely ironic for this body to ignore statutory rules of construction designed to show deference to the will of the legislature and ensure the courts do not exceed their authority and rewrite the laws rather than interpret them. This House, like a court, has no authority to in effect, rewrite the statute through this case.

The difficulty here is that Mr. Greene appears to have had no "current habitation" when he left Laramie for his military training. It is undisputed, however, his last address at the time of his departure for training was in House District 13. Either this address was his "current habitation" for purposes of the statute, as suggested by the AG's opinion, or he had no "current habitation." Either way we cannot revise the statute to fit the facts of Mr. Greene's unique circumstances. Mr. Greene made the choice to relinquish his residence, not find a new one, and place his possessions in storage—rather than in a residence. While it may seem harsh to suggest Mr. Greene had to maintain a home in Laramie during his deployment to meet the residency requirement for running for office, it is the result demanded by the statute.

Mr. Greene's interpretation would allow any potential candidate to leave the state for whatever purpose—education, military, temporary federal appointment—and return to any legislative district and argue an intent to return to establish residency. For example, assume someone moved to Washington, DC for a couple of years to work for one of our Congressional leaders and to save money, did not maintain a Wyoming physical residence, but always planned to return home one day to run for office. Under the interpretation proposed by Mr. Greene, such an individual could come back and run anywhere in the county they left and perhaps, anywhere in the state. This result is bad for public policy and would lead to chaos in our elections. We cannot, as a body, authorize an interpretation that has the potential to cause all sorts of mischief in our electoral process.

DEBATE AND FINAL ACTION ON ELECTION CONTEST

Representative Illoway moved adoption of the report of the Select Committee on Election Contest to reject the Election Contest relating to House District 45 and thereby determine that Matthias Greene is qualified to serve as the Representative for House District 45.

Pursuant to Joint Rule 15, Speaker Buchanan opened the motion for debate. Note: An electronic recording of the debate on the motion is on file in the Legislative Service Office.

Following debate, Speaker Buchanan announced the motion is to reject the Election Contest relating to the election of Matthias Greene in House District 45. He explained that an aye vote is a vote to reject the Election Contest and to determine that Matthias Greene is qualified to serve as the Representative for House District 45. A no vote is a vote to sustain the Election Contest and to determine that Matthias Greene is not qualified to serve as the Representative for House District 45. Pursuant to Joint Rule 15, the vote required is a majority of the members present.

Speaker Buchanan announced that a majority had voted to reject the Election Contest relating to the election of Matthias Greene in House District 45. It is therefore the determination of the House of Representatives that Matthias Greene is qualified to serve as the Representative for House District 45. Speaker Buchanan stated that pursuant to Joint Rule 15 the action of the House will be reported to the Governor and the Secretary of State.

Speaker Buchanan requested the following explanation of his vote be entered in the Journal:

"Pursuant to HR 13-6, I would like to explain my vote on the Election Contest. First, a bona fide analysis of the contest should not involve one's military service, although it is certainly an admirable trait and I honor that service. However, as a veteran myself, I feel consideration of this factor has no place in my decision, aside from military status allowing maintenance of residence while absent.

Second, a bona fide analysis of the contest should not involve one's political party. Although I am not a member of the contestant's party, I feel that the integrity of our constitution, our laws and our legislature rises above status, affiliation and personal feelings.

Third, a bona fide analysis of the contest should not involve the personalities involved. I have no doubt that the man sworn in to this body is more than worthy of the task and I recognize that there have been warranted criticisms of his predecessor.

Fourth, although I certainly respect the votes of all cast in that election, the will of the people cannot stand alone without the force of law behind it unless we wish to re-define our republic and our democracy.

My vote and my decision was based solely on the facts as presented by the committee and the law, as I understand it, applied to those facts.

My analysis is such that I believe an actual residence or habitation had to be established in House District 45, and then in absence, the individual has the intention of returning. I have no doubt in my mind that there was intent to return, but I could not come to find in my own mind that there was ever a residence established, per statute, in House District 45. The individual certainly maintained his Wyoming residency while deployed, but was not in my analysis a resident under the Election Code in House District 45.

This was my analysis, and I voted my honest and sincere belief, with out regard to irrelevant matters and without judging an opinion or vote contrary to mine."

The program shall also be limited to programs complying with program requirements and criteria established by rule and regulation of the department. The department may provide technical assistance to districts in supplemental assistance application under this section and in program development and implementation, focusing on program curriculum, instruction, assessment and accountability.

(b) Each year, any school district may apply to the department of education for supplemental assistance under this section on or before April 15. Application shall be on a form and in a manner prescribed by the department and at minimum, shall include:

(i) A description of program content including enrichment learning strategies to be employed;

(ii) Evidence that proposed enrichment learning strategies included in the instructional program are research-based;

(iii) Documentation of the use of any national sources for discovering, establishing and implementing research-based instructional practices;

(iv) A plan for evaluating participating student progress and analyzing the effectiveness of the enrichment instruction program.

(c) On or before May 15 of each year, application review by the department shall be completed and selected districts shall be notified of any estimated assistance allocation to be made available to the district for the applicable school session. Supplemental assistance allocations shall be determined from among all applications filed with the department based upon the extent to which the applicant district program complies with the following criteria:

(i) Research-based, quality instructional opportunities provided for students to meet or exceed state and local academic program standards through academic enrichment supporting student learning and development, which reinforce and complement regular academic programs;

(ii) Linkage of program components to academic standards;

(iii) Learning opportunities and activities available under the program are clearly distinguishable and different from district programs offered during the regular school day or during the regular school year;

(iv) Evaluation instruments and processes to be implemented and established for determining program effectiveness.

(d) Financial assistance to each district selected under subsection (c) of this section shall be made by the department from amounts appropriated by the legislature to the foundation program account for purposes of the program established by this section and shall be in addition to and not considered in determining the school foundation program amount under W.S. 21-13-309. District expenditure of amounts distributed under this section shall be solely for district enrichment instruction in accordance with program documentation submitted by the district under subsection (b) of this section. Assistance shall be available to recipient districts during the school session for which application is made, and shall be distributed periodically by the department on a payment schedule established by the department and the recipient district as necessary to reimburse the district for incurred program costs, provided the total amount reimbursed to that district does not exceed the total amount established by the department as that district's portion of the total legislative appropriation for the applicable school session.

(e) Each recipient district shall report to the department of education on expenditures of amounts distributed under this section together with additional information required by the department on enrichment strategies employed by the district, the impact of the program on student performance and an evaluation of the effectiveness of the enrichment strategies employed by the recipient district, as follows:

(i) On or before October 1 following the summer session for each recipient district that received funding under this section for a summer program beyond the required school year under W.S. 21-13-307(a)(ii); or

(ii) On or before May 1 of the school year for which supplemental assistance is received for each recipient district that received funding under this section for a program occurring on days other than regular school days as specified in W.S. 21-13-334(c); and

(iii) If the recipient district received prior student enrichment assistance from the department, the report shall include an analysis and evaluation of program impact on student performance and enrichment strategies over the combined period of time the district operated the program using state funds specific to this program.

(f) The department shall annually compile the information reported by districts under this subsection and submit the compilation to the joint education interim committee together with information reported pursuant to W.S. 21-13-309(u).".

GOVERNOR MATTHEW MEAD'S 2011 CLOSING REMARKS
61ST GENERAL SESSION

In separate speeches to the Wyoming Senate and House of Representatives, Governor Matt Mead thanked lawmakers for leaving their homes and families to come to Cheyenne and work on behalf of the state.

Governor Mead said that with the Legislature they made a lot of progress in addressing core areas. Those included jobs and economic growth, technology, infrastructure, supporting communities, streamlining state government, education and seeking Wyoming solutions.

"I am pleased that you all tackled so many of those issues and did it so very well. I am pleased as we look at the bills that come down that I have signed that the State of Wyoming should rightfully be proud of its Legislature."

The highlights Governor Mead pointed to were the passage of bills enhancing the contractor preference law, the manufacturer's sales tax exemption, incentives for data centers and money to improve infrastructure. The Legislature appropriated $45 million for highway projects and $45 million for local governments.

"This is a way to further spur economic development and in part that is because 75% of that $45 million will go to capital projects. Such projects help lay the groundwork to attract new businesses and employers. We need to have the infrastructure in place that will bring in new businesses and help our companies grow."

Governor Mead also thanked the Legislature for the hard work on improving education. He said that the bills passed this year show Wyoming wants to have the best schools in the country and will not settle for poor performances.

Speaker Buchanan thanked Governor Mead on behalf of the members of the House of Representatives and asked Representative Semlek and Representative Quarberg to escort the Governor from the House Chamber.

Majority Floor Leader Lubnau moved that the bills currently pending before this body in the 61st Wyoming State Legislature, 2011 General Session, be indefinitely postponed. Minority Floor Leader Goggles seconded the motion.

Speaker Buchanan directed that House Chief Clerk, Patty Benskin, inform the Senate that the House of Representatives, General Session of the 61st Wyoming State Legislature, is ready to adjourn.

Majority Floor Leader Lubnau moved the following:

"1. That the House of Representatives, 61st Wyoming State Legislature, General Session, adjourn until a date and time which are determined jointly by the Speaker of the House of Representatives and by the President of the Senate for the purpose of calling the House and Senate back into session.

2. That if no such time is established before December 31, 2011, the House of Representatives, 61st Wyoming State Legislature, General Session, is adjourned sine die effective at 12:00 o'clock noon on that date and the Legislative Budget Session, 61st Wyoming State Legislature, shall convene on the 13th day of February, 2012, at the hour of ten o'clock a.m.

3. That the House of Representatives specifically concurs in any identical motion adopted by the Senate.

4. That if the Senate fails to concur in the action of the House of Representatives under paragraphs 1 through 3 of this motion, by adopting an identical motion applicable to the Senate, the House of Representatives, 61st Wyoming State Legislature, General Session is adjourned sine die."

Speaker Buchanan stated: "You have heard the motion; all those in favor say 'Aye,' opposed, 'No,' By your vote, the motion has passed the House.

We are now at that order of business, Reading, and Approval of the Journal.

Representative Kasperik reported from the Journal Committee that the Journal of March 3, 2011, has been read and recommends that it be approved. Representative Freeman seconded the motion. The report was adopted.

Speaker Buchanan stated, "There being no objection, the report is adopted."

Speaker Buchanan: "Subject to the conditions set forth in Majority Floor Leader Lubnau's motion, the House of Representatives of the 61st Wyoming State Legislature, General Session, is adjourned and shall again convene on the 13th day of February, 2012, at the hour of ten o'clock a.m."
