WYDOT Work on the Wind River Indian Reservation

Highway Projects “near” the WRIR

- 23 USC 140 (d) added in 1991 amendment – “States may implement a preference for employment of Indians on projects carried out under this title near Indian reservations. The Secretary shall cooperate with Indian tribal governments and the States to implement this subsection.”
- FHWA 1993 Guidance – “eligible projects for Indian preference consideration are those projects which are on IRRs, (i.e., roads within or providing access to an Indian reservation or other Indian lands as defined under the term “Indian reservation roads” in Section 101 of Title 23, U.S.C., and regulations issued pursuant thereto), or are not on IRRs, but are near the boundaries of reservations and other Indian lands.”
- “near” is defined as: “within a reasonable commuting distance from the reservation.”
- WYDOT and TERO work together to determine when Employment Preference will be included in the contract:
  - has qualified workers
  - the project is within reasonable commuting distance

WYDOT Work on the Wind River Indian Reservation

TERO Strategic Redirection

- o Considering use of an Employee Placement Fee “near” the WRIR for Native workers placed by TERO:
  - Compensation fee based on hours worked per employee
  - Utilize contractor certified payrolls
  - Fee to cover TERO costs to render services, such as:
    - Recruiting qualified construction workers
    - Providing career development training
    - Providing personal protective equipment
    - Maintaining the skills bank
    - Operating the office and so forth
  - Federal funds may be used to pay this fee
- o Similar to other federal programs such as the Federal Lands Access Program (FLAP), which funds projects that provide access to federal lands
- o Assist tribal-owned businesses to get certified as Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE) companies
