MEMORANDUM

To: Governor Gordon
From: Commissioner Albert Forkner, Division of Banking
Date: 4 February 2020
Re: Special Purpose Depository Institutions—Emergency Rules

In the 2019 session, the Wyoming Legislature enacted HB 74, which authorized the chartering of special purpose depository institutions (SPDIs). These new institutions are limited-purpose banks that receive deposits and conduct other incidental activities, including custodial services and asset management. It is likely that many SPDIs will focus heavily on digital assets.

The Division has spent months consulting with other government agencies, law firms, the financial services industry, potential SPDI applicants and other stakeholders regarding potential rules. These discussions covered fees, application requirements, incidental activities, resolution procedures and provisions of the legislation that required further clarification.

The attached rules incorporate much of this work and are intended to address the issues most relevant to the application and chartering process of an SPDI. The Division intends to promulgate regular rules in Spring 2020 which will incorporate the attached emergency rules and will also address in greater detail other areas such as the operation, supervision and examination of an SPDI.

Emergency rules are necessary in this context because of the need for rules to be in place governing application procedures and the need for guidance to be provided to potential SPDI applicants regarding fees, application requirements, in-state business requirements, capital, permissible activities and other issues that will likely affect applicants' business models.

The adoption of regular rules was not feasible because the Division was required to spend a great deal of time conducting research into how an SPDI could operate in an effective manner. Also, the SPDI is a new kind of financial institution, and the Division, in consultation with industry and other regulators, was required to develop standards from scratch on many facets of the SPDI. The Division also recently concluded adoption of detailed rules on digital asset custody.

These rules are new in the sense that they are being adopted in response to legislation enacted in 2019, but they are not 'new' in the legal sense under § 2(k), chapter 1 of the Secretary of State's Rules on Rules because of their emergency nature.

The Division expects one SPDI application to be filed imminently and a number of others in 2020.

Please do not hesitate to contact me at (307) 777-7797 or albert.forkner@wyo.gov if you have any questions or concerns.
